officials had recently declared that couragement, there was practically no inspection in Canada on slaughtering or meat packing. There should be such inspection. Senator Bernier did not think conditions in Canada were like those in the United States. However, government inspection would be a good investment, as it would assure foreign buyers of the good quality and proper preparation of Canadian means. If Americans were coming to Canada and going into the packing business, an inspection of methods was all the more desirable.

Sir Richard Cartwright said the attention of the government had been drawn to the astounding disclosures of American packing methods and the government was prepared to deal with the question of meat inspection. He thought it would be rather a case of enforcing existing laws and regulations than of exacting additions to them. He did not know how much power was left to the federal authorities or how much was assigned to the municipalities and provinces in the matter of inspection. However, he believed there was an opportunity for useful interference.

Who Said Clothing?

There are good and sufficient reasons why we can discount the trade generally on fine readyto-wear clothing-

- (I) Because we have our own tailoring organization and make what we sell.
- (2) Because we import our own woollens and insist on all-wool materials.

And just to show the way we do business we hold up these specials as being absolutely without equal anywhere in Canada:

-Men's Two-piece Suits, in grey tweed, sizes 35 to 44, just right for summer wear, made to sell at $8.50. On sale $3.95

-Men's Flannel and Tweed Two-piece Summer. Suits, in neat fine stripes, choice of grey, blue, green and black, actual value $5.00 $7.50. On sale Saturday at.

Every man can find use for at least one of these suits, especially for outing wear. Such values have never been known before in our experience and are certainly not duplicated
