More Payments at Demand Of Berry Heard of In Inquiry Today

One of $4,500 Told of; Questions as to Another of $7,200 Disallowed

Proceedings of Spirited Session of Royal Commission Followed With Interest by Larger Gathering Than Yesterday — Carvell Asks Court to Require Government to Have Its Employe, Berry, Present

The payment of $4,500 by the Mitsunishi Lumber Company to J. W. Berry, at the direction of W. H. Berry, for a political fund, was described at this morning's session of the Royal Commission to investigate the Dugal charges.

The witness, Walter Stevens, manager of the company, said that he was unable to get any information regarding the amount of bonus his company would have to pay, until he had agreed to make this payment. It was then arranged that none of the lands should be charged at more than $75 an acre.

J. P. Burchill, who continued the evidence which he commenced yesterday, explained his reason for making this payment. He stated that the lumber business was in a very unsettled condition and he thought it well to make the payment to the government. He understood that Mr. Berry was acting with the authority of the government.

W. B. Snowball told of being asked by Mr. Berry for a similar contribution before Berry agreed that his justification should not be more than $100 a mile. He refused at first but finally agreed to do so. The question whether he did pay $7,200 to Mr. Brantley for Mr. Berry was objected to on the ground that the payment was made after the classification had been completed and was therefore not within the scope of the inquiry.

The attendance was larger at this morning's session and the proceedings, which were enlivened by frequent clashes between counsel, were watched with much interest and at times it was necessary to call for order to quell the display of amusement or approval.

Among the spectators was Hon. George J. Clark, acting premier of the province. With four lawyers on each side there was little opportunity for a single legal point to escape. Counsel for the accused objected frequently and strongly to the introduction of evidence but their arguments were met with equal vigor by the counsel on the other side and most of the questions were allowed.

Carvell, during the morning, called on the court to require of the government the attendance of its employe, Berry. The court arose at 1 o'clock and resumed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

When the court opened at ten o'clock Mr. Carvell announced that he wished to file the law regarding the efforts to serve a subpoena upon W. H. Berry at his home in Oak Bay, at St. Stephen. The affidavit detailed the visit to Mr. Berry's house and the information by Mrs. Berry that her husband had left and taken two trunks and a suit case with him and she did not know where he went.

Mr. Carvell objected to the introduction of the affidavit but it was admitted. The witness said as follows:—

I, John E. Gibson, of the town of St. Stephen and county of Charlotte in the province of New Brunswick, do hereby depose and say that on the 11th and 12th days of June, A. D. 1914, respectively, I called at the residence of the said W. H. Berry, being the wife of the said W. H. Berry, and was told by the wife of the said W. H. Berry, that when he left home on Thursday, June 4, A. D. 1914, that she had not heard from him since his departure and that she did not know when he would return and about half the distance was traversed during the pouring rain yesterday.

That was informed by a customs officer, employed in the city of Calais, in the State of Maine, that the said William H. Berry had stopped at said customs office to have two trunks and a suit case examined shortly before the departure of the evening train leaving said Calais on Thursday, June 4, A. D. 1914.

I did on the thirteenth day of June, A. D. 1914, deliver a true copy of the annexed subpoena to the house of William H. Berry, named in such writ of subpoena, situated at Oak Bay, in the parish of St. David, in the county of Charlotte, into the hands of the said W. H. Berry, and an adult person, and that such house was the last or usual place of abode of the said William H. Berry.

Mr. Carvell said that he had used every effort to secure the attendance of Mr. Berry and had failed and now he called upon the court to require the government of which Mr. Berry is an official to compel Mr. Berry to return and give evidence. He had been informed that T. J. Carter appeared as special counsel for Mr. Berry and he would call on him.

Mr. Carvell vigorously denied that he represented Mr. Berry. Mr. Carvell—Thank you. I thought Mr. Berry was under a misapprehension when he said that Mr. Carter would represent him here and now I have the denial from Mr. Carter's own lips.

Mr. Carter—If Mr. Carvell wants to insult me I wish he would do so outside of the court and I would know how to deal with him.

Mr. Carvell—I am sorry he takes that attitude. If Mr. Carter wishes to

Many visitors at Saint Joseph's For Jubilee

Pontifical Mass This Morning and Unveiling of Lefebvre Monument This Afternoon — Archbishop Casey's Address

College Bridge, N. B. June 17.—Rain fell again today on the observance of the golden jubilee of St. Joseph's. Many more visitors arrived this morning and the pretty little church near the college was crowded at the celebration of the pontifical mass by his Grace Archbishop Casey of Vancouver, assisted by Rev. G. A. Dion as high priest, Rev. D. F. Lezer and Rev. F. A. McMurray as deacon and subdeacon of honor, Rev. M. T. Murphy and Rev. J. M. Gaudet as deacon and subdeacon of the mass, and Rev. H. C. Corner as master of ceremonies. An able sermon in French was delivered by Rev. E. Robichaud, while Rev. A. W. Meahan, D. D., preached an inspiring discourse in English. In the sanctuary were more than twenty priests.

Father Robichaud dwelt upon the half century of progress made by St. Joseph's and spoke of the many distinguished alumni sent out by the college. The university, he said, had been a strong influence in the Catholic education of the province. Father Meahan dwelt upon the early years at St. Joseph's and the noble example set by such pioneers in education as Bishop Sweeney, Father Lafrance and Father Lefebvre and said that the youth of the present day would do well to emulate their good works. He dwelt with emphasis upon the moral aspect of educational life and said that education was useful in all departments of our national life, in honor of Alma Mater, an enigma of the consummation of the splendid work already done, to the glory of her name and the good of those fortunate enough to know her.

ARCHBISHOP CASEY

Catholic Church and Education Subject of Address by His Grace of Vancouver

"He that honors his Mother is like a man that lays up treasure; Secret qui thesaurizat, et qui bonum facit matrem suam." The Holy Ghost, it was, who revealed to us this noble truth by the pen of the wisest of men. It is to honor our Alma Mater, St. Joseph's University, that we are assembled today, and here and now we appreciate more than ever how much we have received, how great our debt of gratitude. We see in this gathering of sons, where Princes of the Church are mingled with leaders of thought and action in all departments of our national life, in honor of Alma Mater, an enigma of the consummation of the splendid work already done, to the glory of her name and the good of those fortunate enough to know her.

Mr. Reed—What has that to do with it? Mr. Carvell—It would show how much reason he had to protect his interests. The question was disallowed.

Mr. Reed—How long have you had these lands? A.—Since 1892 or 1898.

Why It Was Paid Q.—Why did you pay this $15 a mile, this $20,000? A.—I thought it a business proposition.

Q.—How? A.—Our business was in an unsettled condition and I thought it well to be on the right side with those in authority.

Q.—Did you think that you were according to the wishes of Hon. J. K. Fleming? A.—I believed I was according to the wishes of the government and after consultation with other operators on the river we agreed to pay.

Q.—Did you believe your license would not be renewed if you did not pay the $15 a mile? A.—I had no reason to think so.

Q.—Did you understand that Mr. Berry came to you armed with authority when he demanded $15 a mile? Question objected to.

Q.—Did you have any reason to believe that Mr. Berry called on you? A.—I do not remember.

Q.—Did you have any impression before Mr. Berry called on you? A.—I do not remember.

Q.—What was your holding of crown lands? A.—288 1/2 miles.

Q.—We find 212 miles under the Royal Trust Co? A.—We took that over from the Maritime Co.

Q.—And twenty-five miles in the name of the Bank of Montreal? A.—Also taken over from the Maritime Co.

Q.—How much crown lands did you hold in July, 1913? A.—No.

BENNETT BURLIEGH IS DEAD

Noted English War Correspondent Passed Away In London Today

London, June 17.—The death of Bennett Burleigh, oldest and most widely known of war correspondents, occurred today. A Scotsman, born in Glasgow nearly seventy years ago, he early followed the drum, for he joined the ranks of the confederates in the civil war, and fought through the entire campaign, being twice captured and sentenced to death by northern troops. Later he turned to newspaper work and reported campaigns for a new century. In 1892 he began with the London Daily Telegraph, a connection which lasted till his death. He followed, for that paper, the Egyptian war, and the various Sudan campaigns, the French annexation of Madagascar, the Ashanti war, the Spanish expedition in Morocco, the first Greco-Turkish war, the Tripolitan war, the Transvaal, Somali war, the Russo-Japanese war, and the recent Balkan war.

For many years he was able to visit his home only on rare occasions, owing to his constant service in the field. At one time Bennett Burleigh went into politics and stood for a Scottish constituency. Outside of his newspaper writing, he was the author of several books which were widely read.

Manufacturers Who Help the Other Fellow

"The wise manufacturer realizes that whatever helps the retailer helps himself"—says a business writer. That sentence hits the advertising nail squarely on the head. When a manufacturer advertises his goods in a local newspaper he is not only helping every dealer who has his goods, but he is inviting others to "stock up." The turn over on the dealer's shelves means renewed orders for the manufacturer. Manufacturers interested in enlarging their market are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.
