

THE STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B. THURSDAY, MAY 13 1909

FIVE

The Latest Out The Newest In CHILDREN'S SHOES

It is no exaggeration when we say that our stock of children's shoes is the most complete in the province. There is hardly a shape or a style unless it be some perishable article that we cannot supply from the very cheap.

Best to the high priced. Boots in Button and Lace, Oxfords Gibson and Adams Ties, Ankle Straps, Pumps and Sandals. Try Us Next Time.

Waterbury & Rising
King Street Union Street

Special Prices on Hosiery
Ribbed Cotton Hose, Cashmere Finish 15c pr.
Plain Black Cotton Hose, 10c, 15c, 20c pr.
Tan Cotton Hose, Ribbed and Plain, all sizes.
Lace Front Hose, Black and Tan, 25c pr.
Wall Paper Wetmore, Garden St. Oilcloth

SERVICEABLE CLOTHING
Good long wearing Suits, the latest in style and fabrics. These suits fit perfectly and are made by expert tailors.
See Our $3.50 Pants
W. J. HIGGINS & Co. 182 Union Street.

Ignition Supplies.
Last year's test proves our Battery to be the best on the market. We also have a high grade Spark Plug.
St. John Auer Light Co., 19 Market Sq. Tel. 873.

Reliable AND Durable ROOFING
G. S. FISHER & CO.,
SOUTH SIDE KING SQUARE.

House and Barn at Auction
At Chubb's Corner, SATURDAY, MAY 15th, known as Watson Property, 2 miles out on Marsh Road, 1-4 of mile from school house. A good chance for a small investment or as a Summer House.
F. L. POTTS, Auctioneer.

EDDY'S Fibreware
Is the WARE that will WEAR Everywhere.
It will not shrink, swell, leak, water-soak or rust. and will not stain liquids. It is NEAT, CLEAN, SWEET.
SCHOFFIELD PAPER CO. LTD.,
Selling Agents, St. John, N. B.

FOREST FIRES BURN OVER A VAST AREA
KENNEBUNK, Me., May 12.—A forest fire burned over about 500 acres of land on the Wells turnpike between the western divisions of the Boston and Maine Railroad and the ocean this afternoon. The fire started near the farm of Arthur Libby and swept along furiously, fanned by the westerly gale. It looked so threatening at one time that the entire village department and all the available men were called out to fight it. The large estate of Chas. Parsons of New York at Crescent Surf was in a direct line of the flames and Robert W. Parsons, a son of the owner, hurried to the village on an automobile to give the alarm, but the blaze was gotten under control before it reached any buildings. The loss is estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000.

TIGHT DRESS CAUSES DEATH.
A FEMININE APOLOGY.
"I'd like to be a suffragette," she said with truth sublime.
"I ought to claim my rights, and yet I cannot find the time."
"I have no leisure to go out With speeches brave and strong, Because of tights, who climb about To hear the mother song."
"I'd like to be catfished and sought, With lofty thinkers ranked; But I have girls who must be taught And boys who must be spanked."
"And so admirably I let My friends to glory climb; I'd like to be a suffragette, But cannot find the time."
—Washington Star.

THEY'RE WEARING THESE in PARIS

Gold twig straw wreathed with tea roses, and finished with a handful of golden plumage.
Rose basket straw, with Louise Treize wreaths of roses and the new weeping feather.
This is a pedal straw of a becoming shape, with choux of satin ribbon and wings.
This beehive toque is made of jet and ermine, trimmed with a Map-histo mount.

PRINCE SUES FOR WIFE'S $200,000

De Beaux et de Chalais, of Paris, Demands Estate of Princess From Ross Winaus, of Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 12.—Prince De Beaux, et de Chalais, of Paris, France, who married a daughter of Ross Winaus, of Baltimore, today began suit against the father-in-law in an effort to get possession of $200,000 remaining of an estate left by his wife.

The Prince got $100,000 when the estate of his wife was settled, but he now claims that he should have control of all of it, asserting that he was misled at the time of the negotiations by Mr. Winaus and Ferdinand C. Latrobe, formerly Mayor, administrator of the estate. The attitude of the Prince following his wife's death is averred by Mr. Winaus in his answer to have been most amicable, and during his stay in Baltimore while settling up the affairs the Prince is said to have called to see his father-in-law at least once a day and to have addressed him most affectionately.

Mr. Winaus says he was notified by the Prince shortly after his daughter's death that she had left a will. Correspondence relative to the settlement of the estate in the manner finally affected was carried on, it is alleged, between Mr. Winaus and the Prince through Mandeville C. Jacobus, the Prince's counsel in Paris, and after the arrangements to settle the estate were decided on the Prince then came to Baltimore. The settlement seemed satisfactory to the Prince, it is set forth in the deposition and he went away, but shortly after became dissatisfied with the settlement. The following letter from the Prince to Mr. Winaus thanking him for the honor of being appointed guardian of the children is mentioned in the deposition of Mr. Winaus.

Mr. Winaus makes the point that the release which the Prince gave to him and to Mr. Latrobe, agreeing to take $100,000 absolutely and the income from the remaining $100,000 until the two children shall come of age, were made by the Prince of his own free will, without duress, and now late plenty of time to make objection to the contemplated arrangements before signing the papers.

The Prince will, it is understood, undertake to show that when the Prince disposed of the estate by will, as he was entitled to do, it was the duty of the trustees to administer the estate accordingly. He will maintain that he should have control of the entire estate and that the administrators erred in giving him but one-third of it.

DISCARDED GIRL SAYS SHE WAS AFFIANCED

Testifies That Samuel S. Laird, Jr., Registered Her as Wife.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Cora Sinclair, who is suing Samuel S. Laird, Jr., a member of a shoe manufacturing firm in Newark and son of Samuel S. Laird, of Philadelphia, for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise, was questioned in the Supreme Court today under an order obtained by counsel for Laird.

Before the examination had gone far to answer certain questions, and the examination was postponed until Wednesday, to allow Justice Davis to pass on the objectionable questions.

Miss Sinclair said that she met Laird in 1900. She said she had been a dressmaker previous to that time, but was out of work and couldn't pay her room rent. She was introduced to Laird in a house in West Forty-ninth street, she said, and soon afterward they went to Atlantic City together, Laird registering them as Mr. and Mrs. Laird.

She said that both at Atlantic City and other places Laird told her he intended to marry her, but that he would have to wait until his father died, because his father wanted him to marry a woman with lots of money.

"On one occasion," said Miss Sinclair, "we were out together and were talking about somebody else being married, and I told him I hoped it wouldn't be long before we were married. He turned around and said: 'Don't worry; it won't be long.'"

Miss Sinclair said that Laird wrote her a letter nearly every day when they were apart, and she had a stack of letters in court.

Laird was married to Lillian G. Hayes two years ago, and now lives with his wife at Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

ATTEMPTING MURDER, BEGGAR FALLS DEAD

Niagara Falls Mendicant Piled His Trade With Pistol and Razor.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 12.—A sudden natural death was suffered by William White from killing James Thomas here today.

White, armed with a revolver and a razor, went to a barn where Thomas was employed and demanded money and, meeting with refusal, drew the revolver and drove Thomas into a corner.

Just as White lifted the weapon and fired he was attacked with a hammer and the hammer and the bullet went wild. With blood pouring from his mouth, White staggered forward several steps and fell.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a bycric?

Pa—A hypocrite, my son, is a man who publicly thanks the Lord for his success and then gets mad every time anybody insinuates that he isn't mainly responsible for it himself.

GAS FACTORIES

In People Who Do Not Know How to Select Food and Drink Properly

On the coffee question a lady says: "I used to be so miserable after breakfast that I did not know how to get through the day. Life was a burden to me. When I tried to sleep I was miserable by having horrible dreams followed by hours of wakefulness. Gas would rise on my stomach and I would belch almost continually. Then every few weeks I would have a long series of sick headaches. I tried a list of medicines and physicians without benefit."

"Finally, I concluded to give up my coffee and tea altogether and use Postum. The first cup was a failure. It was watery and I offered to give the remainder of the package to anybody who would take it."

"I noticed later on in one of the advertisements that Postum should be boiled at least 15 minutes to make it good. I asked the cook how she made it and she said, 'Just the same as I did tea, being careful not to let it steep too long.'"

"I read the directions and concluded Postum had not had a fair trial, so we made a new lot and boiled it 15 to 20 minutes. That time it came to the table a different beverage and was so delicious that we have been using it ever since."

"My sick headaches left entirely as did my sleepless nights, and I am now a different woman."

"There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville" in 10 pgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. It is genuine, true, and full of human interest.

"NOT MY WIFE," SAYS FORMER PENN STUDENT

Sees Picture in N. A. and Writes Denying He Married Girl.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Through a picture printed in The North American of January 23 of this year, of a mother and her baby, there was uncovered yesterday a peculiar situation, involving a former University student, the young woman who believed herself to be his wife, and their child, now some months old.

The photograph was that of "Mrs. Armando Moreno" and "Laurentina Moreno." This particular edition of the newspaper, it seems, was sent to Armando Moreno, a student, who is, or was, in La Union, Chile.

A letter, dated at that place, April 13, and addressed to The North American, was received by this newspaper yesterday. It was signed by Moreno, and contained the following statement: "I have never been married. I am a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and spent four years in Philadelphia, and never while I was there had I any intention of marrying that young lady."

In starting contrast to this is the postcard dated at La Union, April 5, which is in possession of "Mrs." Moreno, or Miss Clarissa Annecy at her home, 225 Locust street. This probably came to this country on the same steamer that brought the complicating letter to The North American.

It is addressed to the baby, and reads: "Greetings to the little man, 225 Locust street. This probably came to this country on the same steamer that brought the complicating letter to The North American."

"Ten thousand kisses to my little daughter, who holds my heart in her baby hands. Greetings to the little mamma. My heart is ever hers. Adios."

"PAPA."

Surprising as these two missives seem, each in the light of the other, the story told by Mrs. Moreno, or Miss Annecy, yesterday, is even more astounding. Not only did she believe herself to be married, but she asserts, she has many letters, some addressed to her and others to the baby, from Armando Moreno. In these, she says, she is addressed as "my darling wife."

And her belief, it would seem, is based on a simple marriage ceremony, in which she and Moreno took each other by the hand in the presence of witnesses and kissed each other.

"He told me," she says, "that a marriage in this form was recognized in his country as binding; and I believed him. He said that because of his religion, high position in Chilean society and the wishes of his family he could not be married in any place other than the Cathedral at Los Angeles in his country. Our wedding, he said, was to be a preliminary affair to the big wedding we were to have when we reached Chile."

It is persistently reported in German financial circles that a fusion of the Hamburg-America Company and the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, which would mean one of the largest shipping combinations on record, is likely to ensue in the near future.

The combination of the two companies would possess 305 ships, with an aggregate tonnage of 1,904,035, divided as follows:

Ships, Tonnage.
Hamburg-America . . . 137 988,679
North German Lloyd . . . 168 915,356
Total . . . 265 1,904,035

In former years the Hamburg-America Company and the North German Lloyd competed against one another freely, but twenty-five years ago their own interests compelled them to conclude a working arrangement based on a division of spheres of interest in the different parts of the world.

In the autumn of 1905 the North German Lloyd was accused of violating this agreement by invading the Hamburg-America Company's preserve, whereupon the latter announced its intention of proceeding relentlessly against its German competitor.

The Emperor intervened in this dispute to bring about an amicable settlement, because strife between the two great German companies would have benefited neither, and would have crippled both very seriously.

The managing director of the Hamburg-America Company, Herr Rollin, and the managing director of the North German Lloyd, the late Dr. Wiegand, came to Berlin to outline the proposal. He fully realized that a fusion would mean the absorption of his own company and the partnership of Herr Rollin over practically the whole of the German mercantile marine.

The idea of the torpedo-boat is two-and-a-half centuries old.

FACE OF DEAD MAN IS SEEN ON WINDOW PANE

Squad of Reading Police Summoned to Keep Crowd Away.

READING, Pa., May 12.—A phenomenon which has attracted hundreds of persons during the last week in the northeastern section of the city is the appearance of the figure of a dead man on a window pane in his residence.

Oliver D. Angstadt, a tailor, died last October. A week ago today, it is alleged, his daughter saw the face of her father at a second-story window. Finally the story became known, and the curious ones began to gather at the Angstadt home. When the crush came great a squad of police was sent to the house.

Residents declare that they saw Mrs. Angstadt's likeness on the window pane very plainly. In a way of explanation, it is said that Mr. Angstadt was fond of watching the lightning and some declare that by a strange freak of nature his features were photographed on the window pane and the sun has developed the same.

JUST AN UNKNOWN HUSBAND OF A WELL KNOWN WOMAN

"Mr. Anna Katherine Green" is described in the Buffalo, N. Y. city directory as "Chas. Rohlf's furniture maker, 105 Norwood-av." Few know him as the husband of the famous woman writer of detective stories.

For Chas. Rohlf has no desire to be known as "Mr. Anna Katherine Green's husband," or of his brilliant wife, but it's the notoriety he fears.

Rohlf is a quiet, modest little man who for twenty years has found a lot of quiet, modest enjoyment in his little art furniture store in Buffalo. It is a modest little shop, Rohlf is the man. He works when he chooses, and on what he chooses. Each of the Rohlf is independently wealthy.

He is a craftsman of rare ability, his creed is art for art's sake. The work of his clever hands is decorated with the finest of the finest in Buffalo. His own residence is a beautiful example of his furniture making genius.

Mrs. Green's private library is his peace-of-resistance.

Rohlf has another hobby—sloution. He has unusual ability, and there's hardly a church entertainment in his neighborhood that he isn't down on the program as the head-liner.

Mrs. Rohlf, although she devotes most of her time to the creation of such masterpieces of fiction as "The Leavenworth Case," "The Woman in the Alcove," "The Millionaire Baby," and "The Mayor's Wife," is not so much the writer that she fails to realize her domestic duties. She divides the supervision of the household with her husband. She's always out with the hose when Rohlf is using the lawn mower.

HAZEN WON'T ALLOW LIQUOR IN CAMPS

TORONTO, May 12.—In reply to a letter sent by Rev. Dr. Chown to Attorney General of Saskatchewan, the latter says: "I beg to assure you that enforcement of regulations concerning the use of liquor within camp grounds will be attended to by our provincial officers in the same manner as with other liquor laws of the province."

Premier Hazen of New Brunswick also writes about the same matter. "I will gladly co-operate in any way I can with the military authorities so that all possible precautions may be taken to prevent the sale of liquor in camps."

It is said that pointons are only one-fifth as fattening as dry toast.

ENDINI SENTENCED TO TEN YEARS

Italian Was Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

Fatally Slashed McKay in Row Over a Woman—Eloquent Pleas Made by Lawyers for the Defense.

BENTON, N. B., May 12.—After thirty-five minutes' deliberation the jury in the case of the Crown v. John Endini, the latter charged with the murder of John McKay, returned a verdict of manslaughter. Subsequently the prisoner was sentenced by His Honor Mr. Justice McLeod to a term of ten years in Dorchester penitentiary.

Witness had boarded at the Austrian woman's house since October last. Other evidence given by the prisoner was the same as evidence of other witnesses. McKay and Peltley told the prisoner to get out of his own house, and tore off his vest and struck him in the face. They told him they were going to kill him. The prisoner picked a knife up and being blinded by blood struck at random. McKay had struck him first. They wished him to leave the house in order that they might do what they wished with the woman. This concluded the evidence.

Mr. Pickett delivered an eloquent address to the jury on behalf of the prisoner. His plea was that the prisoner acted in the defense of the honor of the Syrian woman. Mr. Hearn, who followed, pointed out that foreigners should be taught to respect our laws. It was only a question for the jury to decide whether the crime was of murder.

Mr. Hazen made a very eloquent address. Judge McLeod charged the jury, which retired to the jury room.

The jury returned at 7 o'clock after 35 minutes absence and announced that they found a verdict of manslaughter against the prisoner.

The judge thanked the jury and said he agreed with their verdict. Mr. Hearn, counsel for the prisoner, thanked the judge, the attorney-general and the jury for their fairness and courtesy and made an appeal for mercy on behalf of the prisoner.

Judge McLeod after delivering some good advice to the prisoner, sentenced him to ten years in Dorchester Penitentiary, which he hopes would be very much shortened by good behavior. A large number of spectators, including many ladies, were in the court during the afternoon. While Mr. Hearn was making his eloquent address to the jury the prisoner and several spectators shed tears.

SIMPLE WASH CURES ECZEMA

Why Salves Fall While a Simple Liquid Has Accomplished Thousands of Cures

It is now thoroughly established among the best medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ, and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all. In fact, thousands of people suffer with skin disease and are perfectly healthy otherwise, and therefore prove they have no diseased blood.

Smear salves cannot reach the germs because they do not penetrate the skin. The only way to reach the germs is by means of a PENETRATING LIQUID.

Such a liquid can be obtained by simply mixing ordinary oil of wintergreen with thymol, glycerine and other healing agents. This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, stops the itch instantly and the cures all appear to be permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best scientific authorities were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy. D. D. D. Prescription kills the germs in the itching skin. Its effect is seen within one minute after the first application. The cure is even quicker if D. D. D. Soap is used in connection with the treatment.

For free sample write to The D. D. D. Laboratories, Department S. E. 23 Jordan St., Toronto. For sale by all druggists.

BIG BANQUET FOR PUGSLEY

Plans for a monster banquet in honor of the Honorable William Pugsley are now underway and the committee which has the matter in hand is only now awaiting a wire from the Minister before proceeding with the arrangements.

Last night a largely attended meeting was held at the offices of Cowie and Edwards, Prince William street. D. F. Purdy occupied the chair. Brief speeches were delivered by a number of those present and the meeting enthusiastically decided to tender Dr. Pugsley a banquet upon his return from Ottawa as a token of the admiration and confidence with which he is held by his supporters and friends throughout the province. The banquet will be representative of the city, county and province, and will probably form one of the largest of its kind ever held in New Brunswick.

Later in the evening a wire was dispatched to the Minister, tendering him the honor and asking for a convenient date.

The banquet will probably be held in the Keith's assembly rooms. The following is the committee that was elected last night to look after the preliminary details: D. F. Purdy, M. B. Edwards, D. J. Brown, Mayor Burt, George Flood, A. M. Scully and Dr. McAlvey. Further committees will be appointed later.