POLYNESIANS PRESENT UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT

The Rawels in Interesting Songs, Stories and Pictures Descriptive of Native Life in New Zealand.

An interesting entertainment was that given by the Rev. Hine Rawel, his wife and daughter, in the Centenary church school room last evening before a large audience. It consisted of monologues, boat songs, love songs, war chants, and views portraying in a fascinating manner the native life of New Zealand. The gifted trio wore native costumes and performed their parts in a stage setting representing some of the phases of native life. The story of the remarkable development in New Zealand within the last 60 years is one of captivating interest as told and portrayed by the Rawels. "The Maori husband," said Madame Rawel, "was not worried by dress-makers' bills. The women wore costumes that lasted for generations. The dress she was wearing was 18 years old and even the steam laundries had failed to make an impression on it so far. Cooking was a simple process among the natives. As there were no wild animals to eat, the natives lived on the banks of lakes. When they caught a fish they only had to give their rod a twist and flip the fish into the boiling spring near the lakes, and cook it. Baking was accomplished by placing the article to be baked into one of the hot air mounds which were found nearly everywhere. After giving an account of the customs, arts, etc., of the Maori of sixty years ago, the speakers described the wonderful scenery and natural features of the islands, their remarks being illustrated by striking pictures

In conclusion brief reference was made to modern New Zealand, which was said to have everything that modern civilization possesses except millionaires and paupers. This evening the Rawels will give an entertainment in the Main street Baptist church, and Mrs. Rawel will tell what women have done with their votes in New Zealand.

KENT COUNTY GRITS FIND THREE VICTIMS TO CONTEST COUNTY

Special to The Standard. Rexton, Mar. 19.—The Liberals of Kent county held a convention here today for the purpose of selecting candidates for the provincial election. The convention nominated Hon. O. J. LeBlanc, of St. Mary's, ex-M.P.; Clifford Atkinson, Kouchibouguac, and J. J. Bordage, St. Louis.

The ticket chosen by the convention is considered one of the weakest the opposition have ever selected. As it was the greatest difficulty was found in making a choice, for few were willing to offer themselves as a sacrifice.

Despite the fact that he retired from the running for the federal house last fall, owing to advanced age, Hon. Mr. LeBlanc has agreed to come back and rejuvenated by the elixir of youth permitted himself to be placed on the ticket to play a minor place in politics.

In past years when selecting the ticket, it has been the practice to have the English representatives chosen from the central part of the county. However, the convention today selected the English nominees from the extreme north of the county.

The convention was attended by a slim number and Big Chief Copp, who was expected to address the faithful, failed to put in an appearance, being detained in Fredericton. In his absence, however, words of comfort were spoken by Hon. C. LaBilios, Mr. McQueen, and P. J. Veniot, Liberal organizer for the North Shore.

At the convention held last fall for the purpose of selecting candidates for the federal election, the members for the provincial opposition were to have been chosen, but the convention failed to make a choice. In consequence of this, yesterday's convention was marked by a considerable degree of uncertainty. None seemed to know what decision the convention would arrive at in the selection of candidates, and consequently the party arrived for the convention without the least sign of organization.

Distinguished English Actor

William Hawtrey in "Dear Old Billy."

A distinguished English comedian who is decidedly in a class by himself and who will be seen at the Opera House on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, is William Hawtrey. He comes to us with his London players and his typically English farce "Dear Old Billy." Mr. Hawtrey is an accomplished character actor of the kind they know so well how to turn out in England. He plays a kindly, genial, much misunderstood old man in this piece, a man who doesn't want to offend anybody and who gets into all kinds of trouble thereby. The play seems to have struck America's funny-bone as decidedly as it did England's, sufficiently so to detain Mr. Hawtrey and his associates through a long hot summer in Chicago to crowded houses. The company after playing in Halifax is booked for a lengthy engagement in Boston.

A Shamrock Tea.

There was a large attendance at the Shamrock tea given by the young ladies of the Carleton Methodist church school room last night. The room and tables were tastefully decorated with shamrocks, and there was a short musical programme carried out. The affair was most successful.

Do You Like The Ear Drop Hat?

Taking advantage of the present vogue of earrings, the extreme milliners have produced the ear drop hat. It is made of black chip with a pompon ostrich plume just above the left ear. Dangling down from this feather is a long set ornament, similar to an earring.

difficulties they must surmount are numerous and formidable. Of the 15 who go back, one gets another chance in some succeeding year. The rest remain or drop down in the scale. And of 14 out of every 16 who never get another chance the managers say 13 failed for one reason alone—they couldn't think.

Cases in Chambers.

Before Justice McKeown in chambers yesterday afternoon, M. G. Teed made application for a commission to examine witnesses in advance in the case of Jones and William V. Parter Manzer, of Victoria county. The application was granted. In the same court, one McElroye, was found guilty of larceny and fined $50. An application was made to quash the fine. Dr. Curry supported the application and Ralph St. John Preeze, of Sussex, argued against it. After the argument Justice McKeown reserved judgment.

MINOR LEAGUE PLAYERS BUCK FIERCE GAME

When the ambitious young bush leaguer says god bye to his parents and walks to the depot with populace fighting for the honor of carrying his bag he begins to feel the big league atmosphere filling his lungs.

Day by day the folks back home watch the papers, waiting for the lad to break into the big headlines. Alas, the pity of it! How slender is that chance.

In the last 10 years 3,200 bushers have been tried out at the spring training camps. Less than 200 have made good. Fifteen out of every 16 go trailing back to the minors, unhonored and unsung. It is a terrific game they go against, and although they get as fair a chance as the limited season permits, the
