President's Report

In presenting to our friends the sixty-eighth report of the Ladies' College, we do not presume to say that it is the most important ever presented, but we do affirm that some features of the report demand the irresistible attention of the patrons and officials of the institution.

Let me first refer to the salient matters relative to the year's work.

Health.

The health of the school was excellent up to and after the epidemic attack. Although the college was not officially closed, the exit of the students was so great that at least two weeks' work was lost. We were exceedingly saddened by the death of one of the Academy students, Margaret Gedy. Pneumonia followed an attack of flu and being of an exceedingly frail constitution she was unable to throw off the disease. An impressive memorial service was held for her in Beethoven Hall after the girls returned. The Principal and her teachers sent the bereaved friends suitable letters of sympathy.

Attendance.

Our Registration and Resident Students is 222. Day Students 240.

Total 462.

Registration in Departments.

Literary 238. Conservatory 212. Household Science 88. Arts & Crafts 101. Oratory 82.

Total 721.

As you will see we have 4 graduating in M. L. A. Course; 4 Graduating Household Science; 1 Graduating Piano; 1 Graduating Oratory; 1 Graduating Voice; 1 Graduating, Pipe Organ.

Staff.

While we regret that we are unable to pay the salaries to our teachers that they deserve, we are pleased to know that we can always boast of a faithful and competent faculty. We could not maintain our enviable reputation if it were not for the high class work done by the teachers. Let me sound this warning note that unless we make these salaries more commensurate with the high cost of living we cannot hope to secure or retain the highest qualified instructors. And the only way to help the situation is to increase the tuition. Some changes will be found in our new calendar. We regret the loss of Miss Ethel Grayson from the Literary Staff. Her high qualifications made her an unusually capable teacher in English.

Miss Gertrude Borden also will sever her connection and will be missed not only as a teacher but a much beloved member of the faculty.

Miss Ruby Wigle resigns as teacher of French and Latin. We understand that all three intend pursuing some favorite study for fuller equipment in life.

The moral and religious tone of the members of the faculty is a most vital feature. The personality of the teacher means more in a college than in a public school. Here the great majority of the work is done by individual teaching; consequently there is a process of incarnation going on.

When a pupil sits with a piece of music before her hour after hour it becomes transformed into real palpitating life and spirit. But the interpreter and medium is the teacher and finished pupil is herself or himself or herself alone. There is an incarnation of the very spirit of the teacher.

And this phase of higher education must always be reckoned on if we expect symmetrical culture. Just here the matter of discipline plays an important part. It is not so much a matter whether the requirements are too stringent or too loose, it is a vital matter though whether the pupil is willing to conform to all rules and requirements. If she is then there enters another vein of refinement into her nature. The group of graduates we present to you today is the incarnation of the life of the institution itself, the store of the knowledge acquired and the spirit of the cultured and devoted teachers of the staff.

Outlook.

There is a phase of college work we desire to call attention to, its the Outlook. There is an increasing demand for educated young women. During the past year we could have placed several dictations—two pipe organists and two first class piano teachers. Some of those teachers were secured from the States. Why do our girls not take more advanced education when the advantages are so available and the opportunities for service so great? I fear parents are much to blame. It seems very strange that such a small proportion of our pupils proceed to graduation.

Needs.

We need more accommodation for our rapidly increasing number of young women who are knocking at our doors for admission. We have placed 222 girls where we only have accommodation for 178. Indications today point toward an attendance of at least 250 in residence for next year. Where are we going to place the extra 72? The University has under contemplation the erection of a residence for their women, but nothing can be done this year so the Ladies' College must take care of this enormous increase. There is a possibility that on Thursday next the Board of Regents will consider the proposition of building an addition to the Ladies' College this summer. If the movement is undertaken it will be in the form of a fine stone front building occupying the space between Hart Hall and the old main building.

His health had been impaired since an was thrown from a fire vehicle and seriously injured, another fire team colliding with him. He leaves one son, Charles, of Los Angeles, Cal., and five daughters—Mrs. Edward Forthright, Mrs. Wm. Smith and Mrs. Thos. Smith, all of Chelsea, Mass., and Mrs. Charles Morrell and Mrs. Edward Lawrence.

The cost will probably reach $40,000 and we have reason to hope that if an appeal is made to secure the funds of every friend, patron or ex-student will respond nobly to make possible this much needed enlargement to our growing and illustrious Alma Mater.

Respectfully submitted Sackville, May 20, 1920.

Klim

Reverses Your Ideas About Milk

PURE pasteurized separated milk is converted from a liquid into Klim, a dry powder, by the well known "spray process." The valuable protein and rich food content of liquid separated milk is, therefore, concentrated in powder form.

Klim is pure, sweet and keeps fresh. It retains the natural flavor. Use this dry powdered separated milk instead of liquid separated milk. Reverse your ideas and save time, trouble and money.

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.
