A Hint about a Life Boat Crew.

To the Editor of the Tribune. SIR,-The recent sad events in connec tion with the storm in this harbor have had the effect of thoroughly awakening the public on the question of saving human life from vessels in distress in the port, and it must be believed that painful as is the lesson and dear the price by which it has been obtained, it cannot be without a pernanently beneficial effect. Sir Harry Paul Burrard's generous offer to provide a proper life boat if the authorities provide a competent crew to man it and a suitable place for its reception has been accepted by the City and we have now only to consider what constitutes that crew and under what system it shall carry on its humanitarian work. So far as regards the requi site courage and skill the men we have seen are not wanting, but it must be re membered that these men have been with quire an efficient crew under the charge of and throughout in excellent shape. like public houses than homes for the families of their owners. Benjamin who long represented Lossiana in the United States Senate, subsoquently became Secretary of State in the Confederate Cabinet, and after the close of the war, removed to London, procured naturalization in England, and began practice as a barrister is the Westminster and Lincoln's Inn Courts. His progress has been so rapid that, although he has only been at the English bar five or six years he has been made a Queen's Counsel, and assumed the traditional silk gown, thus taking his place amongst the apper grade of barristers. It is now intimated in some of the English papers that Mr. Benjamin is a mong the foremost in the line of those who are likely to be raised to the Bench within the next few years. It would be curious to see an ex-United States Senator and an ex-Confederate Secretary of State sitting beside Sir A. Cockburn on the Queen's bench, with patched wig and ermined gown. Mr. Benjamin is a man of brilliant abflity as an advocate, and was urpassed by few as an advocate, and was urpassed by few as an advocate, and was urpassed by few as an ardocate, and was urpassed by few as an ordor when he to the Senate of the United States.
