

Red Bomber Football

New coach expects banner year

Mike Balenko the new head coach of the UNB Red Bombers, is optimistic that the team will fare better this year. Balenko, who was born and raised in Montreal comes to UNB with good credentials.

As a player he played his university football at the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut.

From there he went to the Montreal Allouettes, where he played for one year.

After leaving the Alouettes Balenko started his coaching career. He went to Verdun, which over the years has produced winning teams, and are doing so even now after being amalgamated with the NDC Maple Leafs. While with the Verdun team, Balenko coached both the offensive and defensive line.

and was offensive coach with the University of Ottawa Gee Gees.

From there he was offered a job at Concordia, where he found out that there was an opening here.
