

- Avenel at Glendearg, 32; carries off the Book, 34; his adventure with the White Lady, 39; his sorry plight, 50; in counsel with the abbot, 322; rings the bell on Murray's approach, 360
 Pinkie Cleuch, battle of, 9
 Points, trussing of, 150, 379
 'Rash thy deed,' 101
 Reformation, Reformers, in Scotland, 43, 208, 227. See also Warden, Henry
 Roman Catholic Church, in Scotland, time of tale, 44, 294. See also Boniface, Abbot, and Eustace, Father
 SCOTTISH affairs, time of tale, 43, 204, 323, 343
 Sequels, miller's dues, 108, 377
 Shafton, Sir Piercie, Author's explanation regarding, xv; arrives at Glendearg, 116; his fine speech, 120, 131; soliloquy on his situation, 135; his explanations to Abbot Boniface, 142; shown the bodkin, 174; challenges Halbert, 180; on the way to the glen, 193; falls, 199; accused of murder, 241; his account of the duel, 247; escapes from Glendearg, 268; gives Mysie the gold chain, 272; travels towards Edinburgh, 274; proposes to march against Murray, 356; exposure of him, 369; introduces his wife, 371; explanation of the bodkin affair, 385
 Shagram, Martin's pony, 17
 Sidney, Sir Philip, his Astrophel, 182
 Sommerville, or Somerville, Lord, xxix; foppery of, 380
 Sorne, to, 72, 376
 Stewart family, pedigree of, 365, 385
 Stukely, Thomas, 148, 379
 TACKET, Tibb, 15; her gossipa with Glendinning, 26, 237
 'They ride about in such a rage,' 66
 'This is the day,' 155
 'Thou who seek'st my fountain lone
 'Thrice to the holly brake,' 95, 155
 'Thy craven fear my truth accused,
 Tieck, his Peter Mönchen, 385
 Town, township, in Scotland, 3
 WARDEN, Henry, meets Halbert led into Avenel Castle, 216; r Julian, 228; imprisoned by him carried prisoner to Glendearg, 2 history, 296; brought before Eustace, 296; left at Glendearg parole, 314; surrenders himself Abbot Eustace, 358; interviews Morton and Murray, 366
 Watt, James, xlv
 'What I am I must not show,' 97
 White Lady, Author's explanation appears to Mary, 18; Tibb's account, 29; encounter with Father Philip with Father Eustace, 72; invokes Halbert, 94; gives him the book, 159; appears in Halbert's book, 186; reveals the book to Mary; appears to Edward, 310, 373; her appearance, 374
 'Within that awful volume lies,' 98
 YORKE, Rowland, 148, 378
 'Youth of the dark eye,' 96

⑨ 34
5369-4