GOSSIP.

At the sale of Jerseys, property of J. L. Shallcross & Son, Anchorage, Ky., May 17th, buyers were present from eleven States, and good prices were realized, the 37 head catalogued making an average of $111 each. The highest price ($383) was paid for the cow, King of St. Lambert's Hope. The bull, King of Kings, by the same sire, brought $380, and the cow, Miss Teeny, $375. Another cow, Ooman of St. Lambert, sold for $310.

Mr. John Racey, Jr., breeder of Shorthorn cattle and Berkshire pigs, Lennoxville, Que., writes: "Our Berkshires have wintered well, and this spring's crop of pigs are a particularly nice lot; perhaps the best we ever had. They are from sows of the noted Highclere and Sallie families, and sired by Lord Bradford—5208—Oxford Champion—5860—and Viceroy 2nd—4513—three well-bred boars. Our calves are by our old Strathallan bull, Strathroy—9305—, and Macbeth—5062—, and are very promising, of good shape and quality."

NO SWINE AT THE ROYAL SHOW.

Owing to the existence of swine fever in the district of York, the Council of the Royal Agricultural Society of England, acting on the advice of their veterinarians, have decided to abstain from the exhibition of pigs in connection with their show at York this year.

SALE OF THE BALMEDIE CLYDESDALES.

The dispersion of the noted stud of Clydesdales, owned by the late Mr. W. H. Lumden, of Balmedie, Aberdeenshire, took place on May 4th, when the 18 head sold brought an average of £110 6s. 2d.; seven brood mares averaged £136 13s., and seven stallions, £116 14s. The highest price (£20 guineas) was made by the mare, Balmedie Queen Mab, and Sir John Gilmore was the purchaser. The 4-year-old stallion, Balmedie May King, brought 240 guineas and went to Mr. Davidson, Old Hall, Watten. The yearling colt, Balmedie Lucifer, by Baron's Pride, fell to A. & W. Montgomery at 200 guineas.

AGAIN THE FAKIR!

We have received two letters lately from prominent swine breeders, complaining that some unprincipled wretch is going about the country personating them and professing to wish to buy stock of the breed they are interested in to fill his numerous orders, promising to remit payment, with instructions for shipping, when he has completed his purchases and that is the last heard of him till the parties from whom he makes his bogus purchases weary of waiting, write to the breeders who have been personated, enquiring when the bargain is going to be consummated. Meanwhile the wretch is boarding around among the breeders and proving a nuisance. Breeders should be on the lookout for this kind of vermin, and, when satisfied he is the impostor, should take measures to expose him or have him run in as a vagrant. He is probably the same party that for two years has been playing on the cattle breeders, and has played out that class and taken to fresh pastures.

NOTICES.

Fresh Fruit.—Mr. E. K. Hartley, Milton Ont., advertises in this issue fresh ripe strawberries, raspberries, blackcaps and standard fruit of all sorts in season. Read the advertisement.

Sheep Shearing.—The following is from the Shepherd's Bulletin:—"Power shearing machines are rapidly going into operation, and the companies making them are offering them at very low prices, with the promise of a degree of perfection which will justify their being put in by every wool-grower or sheep owner who has 500 head or more to shear, as the saving in wool and sheep will soon pay for the extra expense."

Lime and Sulphur Sheep Dips.—The American Wool Grower, of Boston, Mass., (known as the Wool Trust, and controlling many of the large mills) has issued instructions to its numerous buying agents to decline the purchase of wools which have been damaged by the lime and sulphur dip. This step, it is explained, has become necessary in consequence of the difficulty of working up wools so injured. Thus it would seem that the producer has not advanced in his methods at the same pace as the manufacturer in the matter of sheep dips. It is thought the action of the trust will work beneficially for the sheepmen. Good wools will fetch the highest market prices; the poor, faulty wools will hang on hand, and thus sheepmen will be forced to adopt the best methods to obtain good prices. Formerly there was some truth in the claim often made by progressive wool-growers that they could not obtain better prices than their neighbors who used lime and sulphur, but the situation is rapidly changing.

For the Amateur Fruit Grower.—From the Farm Stock and Home Publishing Co., Minneapolis, Minn., we have received a copy of "Amateur Fruit Growing," by Prof. Samuel B. Green, of the University of Minnesota, author of that other admirable work, "Vegetable Gardening," referred to in our last issue. The volume now under review does not profess to be a complete manual of horticulture, but is an excellent work for the constituency which it professes to serve—the beginner, and is particularly well adapted for those living in northerly climates. It not only deals with all the principal varieties of large and small fruits, but deals fully in a practical, common-sense way with methods of cultivation, propagation, planting, pruning, etc., and the treatment of insect and other pests. The latter portions of the book are exceedingly useful to the fruit-growing farmer. With regard to varieties, newer ones are continually coming to the front, and each Province of Canada or district, or each State, will have its special favorites, so that this portion of the volume is not, perhaps, as important as the rest; but our readers in colder districts will be specially interested in the appendix by J. L. Budd of the Iowa Agricultural College, giving a list of the varieties which he considers hardiest and best adapted for the extreme north. The volume is bound in cloth, contains many illustrations of a useful character, and over 130 pages, with here and there a few blank pages on which notes of value from the reader's own experience and observation may be added. It may be ordered through this office at 50 cents.
