THE BREAD PROBLEM.

J. P. Taylor, one of the grocers' committee appointed to interview the bakers, stated this morning that some of the bakers had been seen in regard to four cent bread. Owing to absence from town, however, all could not be interviewed but those approached had all signified their intention of giving four cent bread provided the other fell in line. Fred Ward talking on the subject said that the bakers had signified their intention of holding a meeting on Monday to discuss the matter. They will consider the advisability of making pound and a half loaves to compete with the London bread. The bread-makers were considering the advisability of doing this some time ago but the expense in buying new pans deterred them. Now, however, they claim that they will have to do it. At least Mr. Ward says so.
