rof, John Stuart Blackie, of Edin gh, who mas just celebrated his 85th aday, is thus described by a corre-

"I encountesed him one day beating eastward against a half gale, his cloud of white hair tossing about his bread and flapping up against his big-brimmed soft black hat, his cheeks rosy with the winter wind, and his kind eyes dancing with the delight he takes in his favorite walking exercise. It was hard to believe he was in his 58th year. I teld him how I had come across a book in which it was said that he loves to play the role of a peripateit philosopher. How he laughed. "Do they say that of me? Ho, he I ho!" And then he trolled a "Hi. it-rumpthy-tum," anatching an air, as is the two !" And then he trolled a "Hiti-rumpty-tum," anatching an air, as is habit from some half-forgotten song, winding up with a mutter of Greek, looking the wide as if he were a prophet spostrophizing the goda. Don't dueted by members of the W. C. T. U., mind the confusion of tongues," he added, "Greek, Latin, Gaelic, English,—it's all the same to me. I borrow the phrase that comes readiest for the the thoughts at the Greek is the great language."
