It looks as if Hamilton had struck its industrial gait again. Assessment Commissioner Maeleod announced this morning that the E. C. Atkins Company, of Indianapolis, Ind., which has been negotiating for several weeks for a site here, had definitely decided to establish its Canadian branch in Hamilton. This looks like one of the best industries this city has landed in many months. It manufactures saws of all kinds, and is one of the largest firms of the kind in the States. It has purchased the old Hoefner works, east of Sherman avenue, below Barton street, and nearly twenty acres of ground. The establishing of theworks on this ground should make a great improvement. Since the old Hoefner was smade to repair it. The walls are in splendid condition, how ever, and the building will be thoroughly fitted up to meet the requirements of the new concern. New buildings will also be receted, the total expenditure amounting to probably $150,000. While the price paid John Patterson and the other owners of the property has not been made public, it is also said to be in the neighborhood of $150,000. About one hundred hands will be employed to begin with. The amount of ground the new concern has acquired gives an idea of the expansion that may be looked for. A by-law will be passed by the Finance Committee at its meeting to-night.

In addition to this, the Assessment Commissioner is in touch with some of the property and the building will be thoroughly fitted up to meet the requirements of the new concern. Water power is a free gift of Nature and transmuted into electric energy it can be conducted wherever it is most wanted.

Monthly Financial Statement Indicates Large Overdraft.

Dr. Roberts' Position to be Considered This Evening.

There is a good deal of mystery today in municipal circles about a letter which, it was stated, Dr. Roberts, the Medical Health Officer, was going to send to the Internal Management Com-mittee of the Board of Education in connection with the squabbling there has been over him holding the position of Medical Examiner of Public Schools, One report had it that the doctor was going to resign although he recently declared he had no intention of doing so. The doctor declined to discuss the matter or say what he intended doing. It was even doubtful he said, if he would send the letter to the committee.

letter to the committee.

The Civic Committee that travelled to Buffalo yesterday looking for information about electric pumps is more satisfied than ever that filtering is the proper thing. Buffalo pumps direct and the sand makes the wear and tear on some of the machinery unusually severe. This, of course, is avoided here by the filtering basins. Another thing that impressed the aldermen with the superiority of filtration was the remark of one of the officials at the pumping station where a member of the party asked to sample the water. "Oh, no," he said; "we don't drink the water we pump for Buffalo. We buy filtered water." As Buffalo depends on its steam plant yet, and the pumps are of a much larger capacity than those in use here, Mayor Stewart instructed the deputation to go on to Schenectady. The pumps there are of select the seven availity as will be on to Schenectady. The pumps there are of about the same capacity as will be used here. The deputation may also visit Pittsburg. Those in the party are Ald. Anderson, Ald. Gardner, City Engineer Barrow and Secretary James Mayor Stewart returned from Buffalo this morning, with some tall tales of the doings at the big carnival, and a word of appreciation of Yankee hospitality. Canadian money was no good in the Bison City yesterday. The Canadian guests were given a big, time. Mayor Stewart said he never felt so proud of the crack old Thirteenth before as when it swung past the City Hall in the big parade. The Hamilton soldiers in their blue and scarlet uniforms were given the due and scarlet uniforms were given the biggest reception of any of th line, not barring even the United States regulars.

The Government Engineer has been urging the city to extend the Catharine and Ferguson avenue sewers through the revetment wall at once so that the filling-in work can be proceeded with. It developes now that the committee ordered the pipe put through the wall several months ago and some of the aldermen are wondering why it was not done. The extension of the sewer which will cost about $3,000, can be made next year.

The idea of building the mountain drive on the line of the roads in the New York Parks has been abandoned on account of the cost. Information received (Continued on page 10.)

day announced that it was convinced that the serious conflict, in which eight Frenchmen were killed near Casa Blanca, occurred on Tuesday last and that Vice-Admiral Philebert's cable? message of yesterday referred to the same engagement.

Major Prevost, of the foreign legion, was killed in the thick of the fighting, which raged at Sidi Moums, where the Moors attacked the French flying column as it was returning from Littelil, where bands of the enemy had been dispersed. As the Moorish hordes galloped to the strife, chanting hymns, the French lines were quickly formed to receive the shock. Major Prevost, who was in front of his men, said "Courage, my children," and then turning once more to the battation of the foreign legion, which he had led so long, the Major cried "Forward, my children! Moors attacked the French flying column as it was returning from Littelil, where bands of the enemy had been dispersed. As the Moorish hordes galloped to the strife, chanting hymns, the French lines were quickly formed to receive the shock. Major Frevost, who was in front of his men, said "Courage, my children," and then turning once more to the battalion of the foreign legion, which he had led so long, the Major eried "Forward, my children! Forward." At that moment a builter pierced Prevost's heart.

The fighting then became desperate, the opposing Moors and legionaires, seesawing backward and forward about the body of the Major, the men of the foreign legion refusing to abandon their beloved commander. Under the clash of bayonet and sword, when men were falling right and left and the field was covered with riderless, maddened, wounded horses, the legionaires held their ground until they succeeded in carrying off Prevost's body. During the fighting the Moors succeeded in turning the French flank, but the reinforcements hurried to the front by General Drude, turned the tide of battle and the conflict became a shambles for the Moors.

The newspapers here generally comment on the engagement as being an event naturally incidental to the tulfilment of France's duty in Morocco, but they add that France's position as one of the policemen in that country brings her a heavy share of the labor and the situation is now referred to as being a "war" and not an "expedition of pacification."

For the art exhibit of the Fair the palm is readily conceded to the firm of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming. Their piano representations of historical periods in the world's progress evidence the great thought and careful study combined with natural taste in producing historically correct designs of the various periods represented.

Pen descriptions of the instruments shown are impossible and a visit to the display of Gourlay instruments, besides being necessary to appreciate their worth, is an educative feature that few dealers can afford to overlook.

Perhaps one of the most admired designs is the Old English piano, which is architecturally and historically a correct representation of 17th century design.
