

THE CAMPBELLTON GRAPHIC

ESTABLISHED: 1886
Graphic 1907

CAMPBELLTON, NEW BRUNSWICK, TUESDAY, APRIL 26TH 1910.

PRICE: Single Copy, 5 cents
One Dollar Per Year

PLEASANT FAREWELL BY CONGREGATION

Baptist Congregation Said
Good Bye to Pastor and
Mrs. Stackhouse.

MANY GIFTS.

The At Home in honor of Rev. P. J. and Mrs. Stackhouse, given by the ladies of the Baptist church on the evening of the 22nd, proved a great success. The Vestry was filled to overflowing, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather.

The following excellent programme was much enjoyed by all present: Selection by Orchestra.

Solo, Miss Glicker.

Reading, Miss Orion Black.

Caricature, Messrs. Nelson, Laprak, Lavoie and Ferguson.

Reading, Miss Mary Richards.

The Chairman then read the following address:

Dear Bro. and Sister Stackhouse: Welcome the coming, speed the parting guest. Such is the old English law of English hospitality. Three years ago we met here to welcome you to the pastorate of our church and to the hearts and homes of its members. To-night we have met to bid you God-speed as you leave us for another and more important field of labor.

We are glad for your sake that this opportunity has come to you. The years you have spent with us have been years of pleasant association and we deeply regret the severing of the ties which have linked us together, yet we feel these ties can never be wholly severed. We are not as ships which pass in the night. And speak each other in passing but we are members of a great church gathered from many parts, sailing the same sea, under the same colors, guided by the same Captain and through stress of weather and cause us to lose sight of each other for a time we believe that when life's voyage is ours we shall glide into the same harbor.

And shall anchor our bark in the Haven of Rest. To sail the wide seas no more.

We are not the same church we were three years ago. Many additions have been made to our ranks and a number of our loved have gone from among us. Our joys have been your joys and the sorrows that have entered into our lives have had their impress upon you. We desire to express to you Mr. Stackhouse, our appreciation of the deep interest you have taken in all matters pertaining to the welfare of our people and your hearty co-operation in every effort made for the bettering of our town, and we are glad to believe that Campbellton will be a better and cleaner town to live in as a result of your residence here, and to you, Mrs. Stackhouse, we wish to convey our appreciation of the gracious and kindly hospitality which has been a marked feature of your home life during your residence here, your home has ever been open to us and we have all been glad to feel that we were honored guests.

We would ask you, Sir, to accept this bag as a slight expression of the respect and esteem in which we hold you as a cultured Christian gentleman, and to you, Mrs. Stackhouse, we offer this gift of cut glass and famous china and with it the love and good wishes of the Campbellton.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

TO ABOLISH SIZE LIMIT OF LOBSTERS

St. John and Charlotte
Counties to be Only Exceptions.

NEW TRAP RULES

OTTAWA, April 24.—The recommendation of Commander Wakeham for the shortening of the lobster fishing season has been rejected by the fisheries committee of the commons on the ground that it would too seriously disturb the industry.

A very radical recommendation is made that all along the coast except in the counties of St. John and Charlotte, New Brunswick, the size limit be abolished. In St. John and Charlotte the limit will be ten and a half inches.

It was recommended that in 1911 new trap regulations be enforced which would prevent too many small lobsters being taken. It was recommended that the traps be not less than six inches and a quarter apart and the mesh of the net at either end be not less than three and a half inches.

Railway subsidies for this session include no new votes. The former vote are renewed, amounting to a total of 2,882 miles, which if built will involve government aid to the extent of $15,000,000.

In New Brunswick the subsidies are: To the International Railway Company of New Brunswick, for three and a half miles of its railway.

For a line from Grand Falls to St. John, not exceeding 225 miles.

For a line from Connors, at the terminal of the Temiscouata to a point on the boundary line between New Brunswick and Quebec, at the foot of Beau Lake, not exceeding eighteen miles.

To the York and Caperton Railway Company for a line from its present terminus to a point on the National Transcontinental Railway, not exceeding nine miles.

For a line from Pease River to St. John, not exceeding twenty-eight miles.

Church.

And may He whose we are and whom we serve graciously, guard you and yours.

Signed on behalf of the Church, W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

BOARD OF TRADE EMBARKS ON A PROGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN

Meeting Last Night Discussed Matters of Great Importance to Campbellton—Advertising Committee Appointed.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

EXPENDITURES

Telegrams, $2.35

Postage, 2.00

Delegation to Ottawa, 250.00

Bank Charges, 2.50

Answer Bros. station, 18.90

A. A. Andrew, printing, 2.05

H. A. Chandler, making plan, 5.00

W. A. Freeman, draft, 10.00

S. W. Dimock, photos, 3.00

Secretary's Salary to Sept. 30, 65, 50.00

Balance on hand, $7.20

Audited and found correct.

S. H. LENOX, Campbellton, April 25th, 1910.

The report was adopted.

A communication from J. P. B. Laidlaw of Chumuck, Scotland, was read. This was in reference to employers of labor who needed skilled tradesmen being supplied with such on application. Also asked for photo or prints of the factory.

On motion the Secretary was re-elected.

RECEIPTS

Dues collected, $292.00

Grant from Council, 150.00

Total, $442.00

Statement Receipts and Expenditures Campbellton Board of Trade to April 25th, 1910.

The Secretary read his report as follows:

In New Brunswick the subsidies are: To the International Railway Company of New Brunswick, for three and a half miles of its railway.

For a line from Grand Falls to St. John, not exceeding 225 miles.

For a line from Connors, at the terminal of the Temiscouata to a point on the boundary line between New Brunswick and Quebec, at the foot of Beau Lake, not exceeding eighteen miles.

To the York and Caperton Railway Company for a line from its present terminus to a point on the National Transcontinental Railway, not exceeding nine miles.

For a line from Pease River to St. John, not exceeding twenty-eight miles.

Church.

And may He whose we are and whom we serve graciously, guard you and yours.

Signed on behalf of the Church, W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

EXPENDITURES

Telegrams, $2.35

Postage, 2.00

Delegation to Ottawa, 250.00

Bank Charges, 2.50

Answer Bros. station, 18.90

A. A. Andrew, printing, 2.05

H. A. Chandler, making plan, 5.00

W. A. Freeman, draft, 10.00

S. W. Dimock, photos, 3.00

Secretary's Salary to Sept. 30, 65, 50.00

Balance on hand, $7.20

Audited and found correct.

S. H. LENOX, Campbellton, April 25th, 1910.

The report was adopted.

A communication from J. P. B. Laidlaw of Chumuck, Scotland, was read. This was in reference to employers of labor who needed skilled tradesmen being supplied with such on application. Also asked for photo or prints of the factory.

On motion the Secretary was re-elected.

RECEIPTS

Dues collected, $292.00

Grant from Council, 150.00

Total, $442.00

Statement Receipts and Expenditures Campbellton Board of Trade to April 25th, 1910.

The Secretary read his report as follows:

In New Brunswick the subsidies are: To the International Railway Company of New Brunswick, for three and a half miles of its railway.

For a line from Grand Falls to St. John, not exceeding 225 miles.

For a line from Connors, at the terminal of the Temiscouata to a point on the boundary line between New Brunswick and Quebec, at the foot of Beau Lake, not exceeding eighteen miles.

To the York and Caperton Railway Company for a line from its present terminus to a point on the National Transcontinental Railway, not exceeding nine miles.

For a line from Pease River to St. John, not exceeding twenty-eight miles.

Church.

And may He whose we are and whom we serve graciously, guard you and yours.

Signed on behalf of the Church, W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much pleased with their evening's entertainment, yet with feelings of deep regret at parting with those whom they had learned to esteem so highly.

W. W. P. STARRATT, Clerk.

Campbellton, April 22, 1910.

Mr. Stackhouse made a feeling and appropriate reply speaking of the heavy years he had spent in Campbellton and thanking the people for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and said that his memory would often turn back to the little Campbellton church and to the rever he used to feel, and that if some fine morning in August he should receive a telegram saying that fishing was good on the Upriver, he was afraid there would be nothing strong enough to hold him in Amherst.

A dainty lunch then served, was much enjoyed by the guests, who dispersed about 4:30 much