SOLDIER BOYS DOING GOOD WORK

Rapidly Getting Into Military Shape
Officers and Men Taking Great Interest.

[By our staff correspondent.]

Sussex, N. B., July 11—After a week of extremely hot weather during which officers and men worked earnestly, the 73rd Regiment in command of Col. Mersereau is showing marked signs of improvement, and is steadily climbing up the list until now it ranks high in the Canadian Militia.

Of late years there has been a marked improvement in the making of this regiment and to-day the officers from the Colonel down take a deep interest in things military. The officers who are in camp are all hard workers and this cannot fail to work in the best interests of the regiment.

Sergeant Major Duncan is the efficient instructor. The camp this year is a very orderly and quiet one.

Visitors to the camp on Sunday were disappointed that no church parade was held. Every preparation was made but at 9:30 a. m. a heavy shower of rain fell which continued until after the hour set for parade, consequently service in the open was called off. Service was however held in the market and was well attended.

F. Company was at the range to-day and seventeen passed for third year efficiency pay, while the balance of the company got second year, which is a very creditable showing.

Among the companies F. Co. is looked upon as one of the best in the regiment. The officers take a deep interest in the work and the men are not shirkers.

The following is a list of the men in F. Co.

1910-1911 A Glimpse Round Campbellton on 12th July, 1911

A Recovery that All Canada Should be Proud Of.

[By our staff correspondent.]

Tuesday 11th July was the anniversary of the great disaster which overtook our town last year, when through fire our homes and possessions were destroyed and many of us left destitute and homeless. On the morning of the twelfth last year it was indeed a dreary and heart-rending sight to gaze upon the ruins of our cherished town, but the unconquerable spirit which never says "die" has in a great measure been ours and in one short year we have made a record in building which will be hard to beat. The feelings of despair which could be excused in any one that memorable twelfth last year, would be changed to expressions of wonder and amazement could they have seen at the same time that same place Campbellton on the morning of the twelfth July 1911. Whence comes the change? The spirit of the people has ever been "to go forward" instead of sinking down under the crushing blow, and weakly railing at fate, the men and women of Campbellton heroically made efforts to retrieve their ruined fortunes, and in the face of difficulty and discouragement have set about rebuilding their town and making it better and to all expectations more prosperous than it was before.

On this twelfth day of July, 1911, the total number of buildings within the town limits, one year exactly after the fire, by actual count is 1031, which includes 785 permanent buildings, 171 temporary buildings or shacks, 18 permanent buildings in course of construction, and 75 which were not burned.

All buildings which were near completion were included as buildings already erected, but those given as in course of construction are not included in the total figures. All buildings which do not conform to the By-Laws governing the erection of buildings in the district in which they are located are included as shacks or temporary buildings.

Of the above number over 800 buildings were erected during the past summer and winter months, the remainder during the present summer. No railway property or buildings have been included in the above figures.

The buildings which were not burned included 4 on the north side of Water Street near the I. C. R. station, 2 at the east end of Water Street on north side (one being a dwelling house and the other a freight store house), 2 on the Wharf at the east end of Ramsay Street, 16 at Fortin's Crossing and in the vicinity of Mill Creek bridge, 4 at the south end of Prince William Street, one at the south end of Andrew Street, 7 on Hillside Street, 11 on Sugar Loaf Street, 17 on Gerrard Street West, 7 on Duncan Street and 4 along the I. C. R. track at the west end of the town, making a total of 75 buildings which remained standing within the limits of the town after the fire.

The total number of streets in the town is 51 and two of these viz Dalhousie Street and Cromwell Street are distinguished by having no buildings whatever on them.

The estimated assessable value of all these buildings is in the neighbourhood of $1,750,000, so that everyone can see, we have made some progress, and the value of our town is increasing daily. There is much yet for us to do but from the above it should be seen that we should take heart of grace and new courage and go on and keep prospering.

Monday's game between Mechanics and I. C. R., was called off on account of darkness just when the Colonials were going in to bat for their fourth innings and were leading 5 to 2. The postponement was not well received but was unavoidable under the circumstances.

On Wednesday evening the town boys had an opportunity to lift themselves from the bottom place but found the conquering Nationals too many for them. They did play good ball doing some good hitting and stealing but threw away all the good work in costly errors.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE

A Large Enrollment of Students.

[By our staff correspondent.]

From present indications it appears that the 1911 session of this School, which opened at Fredericton on Wednesday July 12, has a record attendance. One feature which has doubtless attracted a large number of teachers is the offer of Money Scholarships which have been donated by friends of the School and others interested in education.

About fifty Scholarships will be awarded: some of ten dollars each and some of twenty dollars. A few scholarships are given for teachers from certain districts, but the majority are open for competition amongst all the students.

The Board of Education has granted the use of the Provincial School for the meeting of the Summer School and overflow classes will be accommodated in the city High School.

In addition to the classes and lectures, field work and excursions will be indulged in.

The Senate of the University of New Brunswick will also tender the students a Garden Party in the beautiful grounds of the college.
