

whether we are your children. It is a little thing, yet we offer it of good will for our sins. Speak for us to our Father, the Sangman Francis de Sales, whose body long time ago was buried there. We offer ourselves to you for ever; and this wampoon,* which we give to you for ever, be an everlasting token between us for ever. Mary, good owner of the angels and of the Indians, one thing we ask from you—that your Son Jesus may be as safe in our hearts as He was safe in your body. We love you and your Son till we die, and for ever. Mary, accept this wampoon for ever. May you accept our words and our offer by prayer for ever! May you own us for ever! We like to obey you. Place in our hearts what we are asking in this petition.

---

* Skwansu is an obsolete word for wampum.