

Iron Age Implements

A copy of the catalog issued by the Bate-man Mfg. Co., which manufactures "Iron Age" farm and garden implements, has been received. It is interesting to note that "Iron Age" tools and implements are the product of a factory that has been established for 70 years. In the early days, these tools were made and sold only in local territory. Of late years the firm has been sending them into every state in the Union, every province in the Dominion, to islands in the sea and to every foreign country where agriculturists are adopting up-to-date methods and using labor-saving implements. The quality of the implements and tools manufactured by this firm has increased with
