BRAN AND CORNMEAL FOR COWS.

The Practical Farmer says: "It is well settled, in the opinion of all our best dairy-men, that bran greatly promotes the milk secretions in cows, and it is fed almost universally. About equally mixed with cornmeal is the usual proportion. This mixture seems to promote both quantity and quality of milk. Hungarian grass is also found for milch cows to be rather superior to the ordinary run of hay. The first year or two Hungarian grass has boomed up wonderfully in the estimation of our dairy farmers; and a very large scope of land will be sowed with it the coming season. It matures for cutting in about sixty days, and produces two to four tons per acre—the latter, of course, on good soil. Three pecks to the acre is the usual allowance of seed.

RURAL BEAUTY.

If I have no coaches and horses I can at least hang a tracery of vine leaves along my porch, so exquisite and delicate that no sculpture can match it; if I have no conservatory with its wonders, yet the sun and I together can build a tangled coppice of some blooming things in my door-yard, of which every tiny leaflet shall be a miracle. Nay, I make my home, however small it may be, so complete in its simplicity, so fitted to its office, so governed by neatness, so embowered by wealth of leaf and flowers, that no riches in the world can add to it without damaging its rural grace, and my gardeners—sunshine, frost, and showers are their names—shall work for me with no crusty reluctance, but with an abandon and a zeal that ask only gratitude for it.—Donald G. Mitchell.

A REMEDY FOR DIPHTHERIA.

It is the opinion of some scientists that diphtheria is a result of vaccination. One of the most effective remedies for it is this: Mix the yolk of an egg, as fresh as can be obtained, with common fine salt, enough to form it into a paste, and apply it to the throat, renewing it every half hour until relief is obtained. This will effect a cure seven times out of every ten cases, where the patient is under ten years of age, and often at a more mature age.

EATING TOO MUCH.

While many people doubtless do eat too much, we believe that some are over anxious lest they should err in that direction. The following passage, from the translation of a recent paper by Dr. Max von Pettenkofer, is worth noting in this connection: "It is only a short time ago that it was customary in physiology to speak of a superfluous or luxurious consumption. According to certain physiologists, as long as the body is able to perform its functions, even though suffering from hunger, to take more food was luxury. But Bischoff and Voit, fully demonstrated by their experiments on nutrition that the result of a nourishment so restricted is a state of want—a continual famine, incompatible, in the long run, with the normal conditions of life. The body has need of a certain well-being—of a small excess of nourishment in order to preserve its strength and vigor. What just prevents death from hunger is not sufficient: it is as if we were to restrain the organism from producing any more heat than suffices to prevent death from cold, under pretext that all beyond this limit, was superfluity and luxury."

POISON OF TOBACCO.

Science has sped another dart at the peace of the tobacco smoker. It has heretofore been made known that nicotine, hydrogen sulphide, and cyanogen exist in the smoke of tobacco; but now Dr. Krause, of Augsburg, declares that he has found in it carbonic oxide, a principle never before detected in the substance. The quantity of the oxide and of carbonic acid differs according to the kind of cigar used, the way of filling the pipe, etc. The manner in which the smoke is drawn, whether by strong or weak inhalations, also influences the products by affecting the combustion. From twelve experiments made by Dr. Krause, it appears that the quantity of carbonic oxide varied from 5.2 to 13.8 in 100 of smoke, the average being 9.8. As the consumer of the weed never gives out all the smoke, but takes a portion of it into his lungs, a certain amount of carbonic oxide poisoning is inevitable. "The more awkward the smoker," says Dr. Krause, "the more rapidly will the action of the carbonic oxide make itself felt; hence the evil of early studies in smoking, the results of which are commonly ascribed to nicotine."

MANAGEMENT OF POT PLANTS.

Amateurs are apt, in repotting plants, to make the soil too rich, under the impression that, because the roots are confined within a small compass, necessarily the soil must be very fat. Such is not the fact. Flowering plants should not have the soil over rich. They do better in pure soil, free from any excessive quantity of manure. What is used should be the most thoroughly digested compost. The successful florist understands that the soil requires only to be in the normal state to mature perfect and continuous growth; and therefore, instead of making the soil in the pots over rich, he depends upon stimulating, when wanted, by means of liquid manure.

A mistake generally made in shifting from one pot to another, is the use of too large pots as the plants increase in size. In changing, use pots only one size larger than the plant was in before. To do this in the best manner put some drainage in the bottom of the pots, say half an inch of broken flower pots for four inch size, being careful to close the hole in the bottom by laying a piece thereon; on this place a little rich compost mixed with one-half its bulk of sharp sand. Then place a pot one size less than the one containing the plant to be moved. Fill in around this with the same material pretty evenly packed. Lift out the pot and fill with soil, just so that the ball of earth in which the plant is contained will reach to about half an inch of the rim of the new pot. Now set the plant in and save the earth about it from the sides, and fill up level with more soil.—Western Herald.

LIVER COMPLAINT.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "house-keeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels sooner or later become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhoea, is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish-brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat and internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, sore throat; unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back, or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhoea; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy, numbness of the limbs (especially at night), and chills, alternating with hot flushes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dulness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

TREATMENT.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Surgical Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.
