

at Woolwich, served as an officer in the Royal Engineers in India and on the Afghan frontier. He died several years ago. His second wife was Miss Chadwick, of Simcoe, who, after a married life of over forty years, survives him, with her two children, Geo. Bell, of the law firm of Thomson, Henderson & Bell, Toronto, and Mrs. C. N. Bell, of Winnipeg.

In accordance with his wishes Dr. Bell's remains were interred at Perth, a place hallowed by many associations of his early days. At the services held in Toronto on Tuesday morning, conducted in the absence of the pastor of St. Andrew's Church by the Rev. J. A. Macdonald, and in which Principal Caven, Rev. Dr. Gregg and Rev. Dr. Milligan took part, Dr. Gregg mentioned the fact that Dr. Bell and Dr. Thomas Wardrobe, of Guelph, and himself were the only surviving ministers of those in the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada when he came to Canada; and now but two remain.

On hearing of his death the Executive of the Alma Mater Society took suitable steps to have the students of Queen's represented at his funeral. Mr. Jas. Macdonnell, 2nd Vice-President of the A.M.S., was sent as representative, and took with him a wreath from the Society.

THE LAMENT OF LOUGHBORO'.

Loughboro' no more, Loughboro' no more,
We'll maybe return to Loughboro' no more.
Oh, home of the black bass, and haunt of the heron
Your peace is destroyed, your solitude gone,
For man with his building your isles has invaded
And your rocks will re-echo his shout and his song.

Loughboro no more, Loughboro no more,
We'll maybe return to Loughboro' no more;
No longer in safety may the wood-duck lead feeding
Her brood 'mong the rushes when the wild rice is seeding,
And the gallant fish hawk will pause in his swoop,
As he hears far below him the yell and the hoot
Of the 'arry, and feels that his reign here is o'er
And Loughboro' Lake knows the fish-hawk no more.

Loughboro' no more, Loughboro' no more,
We'll maybe return to Loughboro' no more,
For we, like the hawk, the wood-duck and fish,
Will flee from the place where the builder is ;
And the isles that we love and the creeks and the scenes
Will in future be left to the students of Queen's.

The Scotch are supposed to be a very conservative people, but it will be a strange thing if some of our boys don't get them to accept new views this summer.
