

providing a complete national network. With subsidiaries, they own 96% of Canada's telephones. There are about 1,600 other small companies.

Canada has three major microwave systems with voice-circuits and message channels.