

Mr. Speaker:

Mr. Speaker, I am glad to have the opportunity to speak to you today about the results of the 1993-94 Foreign Policy Review. This review was a landmark in the history of Canadian foreign policy, and it has led to a number of important changes in our international relations.

Foreign policy is a complex and multifaceted area, and it is essential that we have a clear and coherent strategy. The 1993-94 review was a comprehensive and thorough process, and it has resulted in a number of important findings and recommendations.

STATEMENT

For example, the Government will be reviewing the role of the Canadian International Development Program for members of the high seas. To this end, we will be working with the United States and other countries to address a number of issues related to the high seas, including the protection of marine resources and the promotion of sustainable development.

94/7

CHECK AGAINST DELIVERY

Furthermore, I have asked my officials to conduct a study on the role of the United Nations in the world. This study will be completed by the end of the year, and it will provide us with valuable information on the role of the United Nations in the world and the challenges it faces.

NOTES FOR AN ADDRESS BY

THE HONOURABLE ANDRÉ OUELLET,

MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS,

TO THE

PARLIAMENTARY DEBATE

ON CANADA'S FOREIGN POLICY REVIEW

OTTAWA, Ontario
March 15, 1994

