Dear Sir:-

We have the plans of our poultry houses completed now and are prepared to have them submitted for approval. There are one or two features in connection with the construction of the houses which I would like to discuss with you before building is commenced and if you could suggest any time for me to come in to see you it would save you much time in correspondence.

We have been wondering whether you want any more fresh eggs shipped weekly since the latest information from your office was to the effect that you did not require any more for the present. We have not yet received any of the egg cases and perhaps they have gone astray.

Yours faithfully,

MAJ/SM
