

CONTENTS.

ix

nilly.—The traveller of er of forty.—Hickey, the unlucky explorer,	146
TER XXX.
mother,—Biography of with Davies for the History of Holingbroke.—The adventure,	250
ER XXXI.
cademy.—The Rowley Walpole's conduct to at Redcliffe Church— of England.—Davies— enue Langton,	251
ER XXXII.
dy.—Goldsmith at Bath at the expense of his Barton.—Aquatic musi- cian,	252
R XXXIII.
horpe's.—Anecdotes of about duelling.—Ghost of a woman,	253
R XXXIV.
an author's confidences, le at Edgeware.—George Colman.—The Fan,	254
ER XXXV.
dition and debts.—The al jokes.—Scrub.—A malagridia.—Goldsmith —Distressed ballad— Leigh,	255
R XXXVI.
The spring-velvet coat. —The mischances of A dance with the jes- sus,	256
XXXVII.
iations with Colman, roaking of the man- play.—She Stoops to mitie Puppet Show, st performance of the the author.—Success, of town,	257
XXXVIII.
Evans affray.—John- son,	258
XXXIX.
inner at Oglethorpe's, he policy of truth— endence of royalty.— Johnson's eulogium on about suicide.—Bos- well,	259
ER XL.
club.—Johnson's ob- jection of Boswell,	260
R XLI.
versations on natural of Boswell.—Dispute

PAGE

gent toleration.—Johnson's rebuff to Gold- smith—his apology.—Man-worship.—Doctors Major and Minor.—A farewell visit,	257
---	-----

CHAPTER XLII.

Project of a Dictionary of Arts and Sciences.— Despatch.—Negligent authorship.—Ap- plication for a pension.—Beattie's Essay on Duty.—Public adulation.—A high-minded nature,	259
--	-----

CHAPTER XLIII.

Tell without hope.—The poet in the green-room —In the flower garden—at Vauxhall—dissipa- tion,	260
--	-----

BONNEVILLE'S ADVENTURES.

PAGE

NOTICE,	269
-------------------	-----

CHAPTER I.

Site of the fur trade of the Rocky Mountains— American enterprises—General Ashley and his associates—Sublette, a famous leader— Early rendezvous among the mountains— Stratagems and dangers of the trade—Bands of trappers—Indian banditti—Crows and Black- feet—Mountainers—Traders of the Far West —Character and habits of the trapper,	271
--	-----

CHAPTER II.

Departure from Fort Osage—Modes of trans- portation—Pack-horses—Wagons—Walker and Cerré—their characters—Buoyant feelings on launching upon the prairies—Wild equip- ments of the trappers—their gambols and scares—Difference of character between the American and French trappers—Agency of the Kansas—General Clarke—White Plume, the Kansas chief—Night scene in a trader's camp—Colloquy between White Plume and the captain—Bee-hunters—their expeditions —their feuds with the Indians—Bargaining talent of White Plume,	273
--	-----

CHAPTER III.

Wide prairies—Vegetable productions—Tabular hills—Slabs of sandstone—Nebraska, or Platte River—Scanty fare—Buffalo skulls—Wagons turned into boats—Herds of buffalo—Cliffs resembling castles—The Chimney—Scott's Bluff—Story connected with them—The big- horn or ahsahta—its nature and habits— Difference between that and the "woolly sheep," or goat of the mountains,	276
---	-----

CHAPTER IV.

An alarm—Crow Indians—their appearance— mode of approach—their vengeful errand— their curiosity—Hostility between the Crows and Blackfeet—Loving conduct of the Crows —Laramie's Fork—First navigation of the Nebraska—Great elevation of the country— barry of the atmosphere—its effect on the woodwork of the wagons—Black hills—their wild and broken scenery—Indian dogs—Crow trophies—Sterile and dreary country—Banks of the Sweet Water—Buffalo hunting—Ad- venture of Tom Can, the Irish cook,	278
--	-----

tion without gayety,—Cradock in town— friendly sympathy—a parting scene—an invi- tation to pleasure,	260
--	-----

CHAPTER XLIV.

A return to drudgery—forced gayety—retreat to the country.—The poem of Retaliation.—Por- trait of Garrick—of Goldsmith—of Reynolds, —Illness of the poet—his death.—Grief of his friends.—A last word respecting the Jessamy Bird,	262
---	-----

CHAPTER XLV.

The funeral.—The monument.—The epitaph.— Concluding reflections,	265
---	-----

PAGE

Magnificent scenery—Wind River Mountains— Treasury of waters—A stray horse—An Indian trail—Trout Streams—The Great Green River valley—An ala...—A band of trappers—Font- tenelle, his information—Sufferings of thirst— Encampment on the Seeds-ke-dee—Strategy of rival traders—Fortification of the camp— —The Blackfeet—banditti of the mountain— their character and habits,	280
--	-----

CHAPTER VI.

Sublette and his band—Robert Campbell—Mr. Wych and a band of "down-easters"—Yan- kee enterprise—Fitzpatrick—his adventure with the Blackfeet—A rendezvous of moun- taineers—The battle of Pierre's Hole—An Indian ambuscade—Sublette's return,	283
---	-----

CHAPTER VII.

Retreat of the Blackfeet—Fontenelle's camp in danger—Captain Bonneville and the Blackfeet —Free trappers—their character, habits, dress, equipments, horses—Game fellows of the mountains—their visit to the camp—Good fellowship and good cheer—A carouse—A swagger, a brawl, and a reconciliation,	286
--	-----

CHAPTER VIII.

Plans for the winter—Salmon River—Abun- dance of salmon west of the mountains—New arrangements—Caches—Cerré's detachment— —Movements in Fontenelle's camp—Depart- ture of the Blackfeet—their fortunes—Wind Mountain streams—Buckeye, the Delaware hunter, and the grizzly bear—Bones of mur- dered travellers—Visit to Pierre's Hole— Traces of the battle—Nez Percé Indians—Ar- rival at Salmon River,	288
---	-----

CHAPTER IX.

Horses turned loose—Preparations for winter quarters—Hungry times—Nez Percés, their honesty, piety, pacific habits, religious cere- monies—Captain Bonneville's conversations with them—Their love of gambling,	290
---	-----

CHAPTER X.

Blackfeet in the Horse Prairie—Search after the hunters—Difficulties and dangers—A card party in the wilderness—The card party inter- rupted—"Old Sledge" a losing game—Visitors to the camp—Iroquois hunters—Hanging- cared Indians,	291
--	-----