MOTHER AND CHILDREN DEAD

Asphyxiated by Gas in a New York Hotel.

FIVE LIVES WERE SACRIFICED

Apparently it Was a Deliberate Case of Murder and Suicide.

The Children Were Put to Bed and Allowed to Go to Sleep—Then All the Apertures of the Room Were Stopped and the Gas Turned Full on by the Mother, Who Lay Down and Died With Her Offspring—Husband and Father Discovered.

New York, Oct. 1.—Mrs. Caroline Reardon, of West Point, N.Y., and her four children were found dead this morning in the West Shore Hotel, 42nd Street and 11th Avenue. Asphyxiation by gas was the cause of death. It is believed the mother waited until the children were asleep, then closed all apertures and turned on the gas from two jets. Mrs. Reardon appeared to be about 40 years old. The children were two boys, one about 15 and the other about 7, and two girls about 13 and 7 years old.

Doubt About Her Location.

According to the hotel register the woman came from West Point, N.Y., but even this is doubtful. Clerk Sprague says that there was nothing unusual about the woman. She seemed worried and looked travel-stained, but the clerk says that the woman seemed to be due to the usual anxiety of a woman traveling with children. The woman had two trunks, which were sent to the room to which the family were assigned. The family went into their room, and removing some of the dirt of travel, came down to supper. Clerk Sprague noticed that the woman had grey hair and several wrinkles about 40 years old. Her features were fine and her complexion clear. The clothing she wore was handsome and apparently expensive. The children were also handsome and seemed to be happy. The eldest, a boy of 15, was tall and manly. The 13-year-old daughter was blonde and pretty; the other children were a boy of 7 and a girl of 4. The names of the children were not registered.

Retired to Their Rooms.

After supper the family retired to their rooms. It must have been about 9:30 o'clock when they left the dining room. About 8 o'clock this morning a chambermaid detected the odor of gas in the hallway. She began hunting for the leak, and this led her to the rooms occupied by the family on the third floor. She notified Clerk Sprague, who hurried upstairs and forced open the doors. The rush of gas was so overpowering that he had to flee to save his life. Finally, when the gas had been perceptibly diminished, he rushed in and thereupon opened the windows. Even then he was nearly asphyxiated.

A Horrible Night.

The sight that met Clerk Sprague's eyes was horrible in the extreme. In one of the rooms the woman and the 4-year-old child who had been sleeping closely interlocked each other's necks. The features of the little girl were distorted with agony. It is evident that the little one was awakened by the odor of gas, and the mother, dejected that the child was ill, held her tightly to her breast and prevented her from making any outcry. The other children were in bed in the two rooms, and had apparently died unconscious of the murder that was being wrought by the desperate mother.

The Police Sent for and Ambulances from Roosevelt Hospital.

The physicians worked over them for nearly two hours, but in vain. The preparations for the murder and suicide were most deliberate. It is believed that the mother waited until the children were asleep, then closed all apertures and turned on the gas from two jets. Mrs. Reardon appeared to be about 40 years old. The children were two boys, one about 15 and the other about 7, and two girls about 13 and 7 years old.

The Husband Found.

He is a German and Was Terribly Shocked by the News of the Tragedy.

New York, N.Y., Oct. 1.—An Associated Press reporter visited West Point at noon today to inquire as to the identity of Caroline Reardon, who with her children was found dead in the West Shore Hotel, New York City, this morning. He ascertained that she was the wife of Robert Reardon, a civilian man in the United States army at West Point. He is a printer in the administrative building. He received news of the tragedy this morning and was terribly affected by it. He is a German and speaks English imperfectly. He was so excited that he could give no current account of his family. He started for New York on the 1 o'clock train, accompanied by Dr. Saunders of the Post.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Reardon left home with her four children. They boarded the 8:40 train for New York. Mrs. Victor Laher, sister of Mrs. Reardon, says that the trip was a little pleasure excursion, as the children had had no outing during the summer, and the mother determined to take them a trip to the city. The tickets she procured were excursion tickets, and she intended to return last night.

The neighbors sent the suicide theory, saying that Mrs. Reardon was an excellent woman, and that her home life was very pleasant and her love for her children very marked.

Sidewalk Merchants.

Editor World: Can you inform me why it is that the Italian storekeeper of this city seems to be so much more successful than the sidewalk with their fruit and other stuff which they sell than any other nation in the same business? This is a peculiarly noticeable on Queen street, where so many of these people have lately found places. There is one Italian stand near the Hall, between E. R. Y. and the police, because in passing it a few

AFTER MANY YEARS

A Sufferer is Restored to Health and Strength.

Suffered from Weak Heart and Could Not Safely Walk Any Distance—How the Pulse of Life Was Adjusted.

From The Cornwall Freeholder.

The romance of unwritten facts of real life far exceeds the rich elaborations of fiction. A peep behind the scenes would furnish us with adequate proof that there is more of care, trial and severe anxiety in human life than floats on the surface. We find many whose experience has almost incessantly fluctuated between health and sickness; little or any of this is attributed upon the notice of the world, or breathed into human ears. You may secure the confidence of some of these sufferers, who will relate to you the sad catalogue of pains and aches that are often ill understood by the friends and inadequately treated by the physician. Thanks to the mighty genius that discovered the new famous panacea for the ills to which humanity is subjected, when suffering from impoverished blood or shattered nerve system. Thousands have and thousands are still using to the greatest advantage Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have passed the ordeal of experiment again and again with ever increasing honor. The following statement is from one who was rescued from seeming permanent enfeeblement and distressing heart action. Mary Fisher, of Lancaster Township, Gleanery County, is a middle-aged lady, about eight years ago Miss Fisher was seized with weakness and a distressing sensation in the region of the heart. It was attributed to several causes, all possibly more or less true, they were overwork, exposure, etc. She was certainly unable to do her usual work, and the action of the heart was abnormal. The doctor in attendance pronounced the ailment nervous prostration of the heart and she received treatment accordingly for two years. At this stage she took to her bed she was so low. For twelve months she lay, receiving only domestic attention. She was unable to get up, and was able to be taken to a friend of hers near Lancaster village, Mrs. J. H. Fisher, who was a nurse by profession. She was certainly unable to do her usual work, and the action of the heart was abnormal.
