

HAMILTON NEWS

ELECTRICAL WORKERS DECLARED A STRIKE

Compromise Offered by Hamilton Bosses Turned Down by Men.

MEDICAL MEN WANTED

Recruiting Officers Will Stay in City to Sign Up Men for Units.

HAMILTON, Friday, June 2.—Forty electricians and wiremen from the shops of four electrical contractors here, failed to go to work yesterday morning, and notified their employers that they were on strike.

The site for a new playground for the children residing in the northern section of the city has been selected on Park road by the Playgrounds Association. The controllers will inspect the property on Monday next, and if suitable will equip the new ground with a donation of $100, made recently by a local manufacturing concern.

The internal management committee of the board of education, in a meeting last night, decided to co-operate with the Ontario Education, in asking the government to increase the age of compulsory school attendance from 14 years to the end of the fifteenth year.

Medical Corps men are needed at once, and the chief recruiting officer here has received instructions to enlist a number of men and have them sent to camp where they will be assigned to their unit. He also has vacancies for a number of signers and men who are not quite physically fit for overseas are acceptable for this class of service. Recruiting in the city will not cease after the local units have been sent to camp.

CHURCHES TO OBSERVE NEW TIME

BRANTFORD, June 1.—The Brantford Methodist Association, at a social meeting this morning, decided to have churches observe the new time under daylight saving. The association will petition the city council to request keepers of bars and saloons to close at 11 o'clock (new city time) and to communicate with the license commissioners of the province with a view to securing for hotels and liquor shops privilege of opening an hour earlier.

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

(Continued from Page 1).

should lose Le Mort Homme in the next attacks it does not imply that the Germans have drawn much nearer to Verdun, for this hill is nine or ten miles distant from the town and defensive positions which are much stronger here behind it, tier after tier, for many a mile on the heights of the Meuse.

North of Verdun, on the original line of advance, the Germans carried a series of French front line trenches on the section between Fort Donnay and Vaux Pond in a series of heavy attacks yesterday afternoon. These were directed against French positions between the Thiaumont farm and Vaux Pond and it was only after many hours of fighting in which the enemy suffered heavy losses, that he made his gain. Everywhere else on the front the German attacks were broken by French machine gun fire. It has been reported from German sources that the French have entrusted the maintenance of their line in this front to African troops. Less artillery activity is noted on the rest of the Verdun sector.

The Italians continue to report the repulsing of heavy Austrian attacks at various portions of their front in the great battle which is raging in the southern Tyrol. The enemy is still confining his energies to attempts at seizing strategic points, such as passes and commanding hills. Buole Pass, in the Lagarina Valley, is still held by the Italians in the face of many violent and repeated assaults. The last attack against this gateway to the south was intended as a surprise operation. The Italians defeated Austrian attacks directed towards the upper Forni, and an Austrian column which crossed the Posina torrent and attacked Monte Sirti was checked on the extreme northern slopes of the mountain. Another hostile column which advanced towards Santabaldo, southeast of Arierio, was beaten and driven back in disorder beyond the Posina.

On the British front in Flanders the feature yesterday was the heavy shelling of Vimy ridge by both sides. Guns of all calibres were used and at times the fire became intense. No infantry engagement beyond ordinary trench activity was recorded in the past twenty-four hours. Ordinary artillery and mining operations proceeded about Loos, Ypres and the River Somme. British aeroplanes had a long running fight with three German machines and brought one down. A British machine is missing. The Germans reported bringing down a British aircraft.

In the Armenian theatre of the war the Turks have undertaken a considerable offensive against the Russians from the direction of Babur and of Diarbekr. The enemy was repulsed on both wings by the Russian resistance, but in the centre at Mamakhatun, which forms a salient, the Russians evacuated that town to avoid being outflanked, and demolished the bridge over the Euphrates as they retired across the river. It appears from this report, which is the first official intimation by the Russian war office, that they had occupied Mamakhatun, and that the Russians were holding it as a point of support for a further advance towards the interior of Asia Minor. The heaviest pressure was exerted against the Russians from Babur and that has been checked after the enemy had launched three attacks.

The Russian fleet continues to dominate the Black Sea. The latest Russian maritime exploit is the destruction of five Turkish sailing vessels and the capturing of another and the bringing of it to Sebastopol by a submarine.

ELEVEN THOUSAND MEN AT NIAGARA

Ranges Are Ready and Rifle Practice Will Start at Once.

SEVERAL TRANSFERS

Lieut. Jas. Sydan Made Major in Two Hundred and Fifth.

Special to The Toronto World. NIAGARA, Ont., June 1.—In camp orders this evening it is announced that battalion machine gun sections, as soon as it is convenient will be allotted dates for carrying out firing practice. It is essential that the sections complete the standard course of elementary training before it is attempted. Officers commanding all battalions here are ordered to detail non-commissioned officers and men to report to Capt. R. V. Conover at the bombing grounds, Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 5, 1916, for a six days' course in bombing.

The appointment of Major Chas. R. McCullough, 91st Regiment, as honorary Lieut.-col. to the 122nd Overseas Battalion with effect from May 26, is approved provisionally.

The transfer of Capt. Charles P. Tiedall from the 121st Overseas Battalion and his appointment as senior major second in command of the 122nd Overseas Battalion are approved provisionally.

The appointment of Lieut. William Gladstone Tennent, 84th Regiment, to the 122nd Overseas Battalion is approved provisionally.

Lieut. Sextus Edwin Went is permitted to resign his provisional appointment in the 122nd. The promotion of Lieut. Jas. Coldham Sydan, 10th Regiment, to the rank of major in the 26th is approved provisionally.

Colonels Caldwell Osborne and Major Burn are leaving for Camp Borden tonight to inspect progress of the work there. Gen. Logie, after inspecting the troops here Saturday morning will go to Toronto to inspect men at North Toronto.

BLENNHEIM PASTOR HONORED

Rev. R. N. McCamus, President of London Conference.

KINGSVILLE, June 1.—Rev. R. N. McCamus of Blenheim, and formerly of Kingsborough Street Methodist Church, London, this morning was elected president without nomination, of the London conference, by an overwhelming majority to succeed Rev. Dr. Thomas Manning of Stratford.

GALT'S CUSTOMS RETURNS.

GALT, Ont., June 1.—Customs returns at the port of Galt for the month of May, show an increase of over $2000. Returns are as follows: Total, $45,958.89; May, 1915, $42,654.45; increase, $3294.44.

NO CONNECTION WHATEVER.

Henri de Leeuw, representative of the Naval Mint Products, Limited, Toronto, has declared that he has no connection with the firm of De Leeuw & Sons, Amsterdam, with offices in New York.

SHACKLETON'S PARTY HAD HARD STRUGGLE

Blizzards and Other Difficulties Made Fortnight's Privations Terrible.

TRIED TO GIVE RELIEF

Whaler Was Blocked by Ice and Effort Was Abandoned.

LONDON, June 2. 2.24 a.m.—A despatch from Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton, who has arrived at Port Stanley, Niagara Falls, Ont., this morning, tells of the hardships which his party endured while attempting to reach the Antarctic coast by icebergs and sank in the Weddell Sea on Nov. 26, having been abandoned by all but four of its crew.

Shackleton and his crew reached Elephant Island on Dec. 15, after a long and arduous journey. The party consisted of 22 men, including Shackleton himself, and they were accompanied by a dog sled team and a small boat.

The whaler started south with a view to relieving the men left behind. The whaler was blocked by ice and the effort was abandoned. The whaler was seen by the party on the 26th of November.

As far as the loss of life, but the party will not be marooned in the south. The whaler was seen by the party on the 26th of November.

On the recommendation of the M.P. for South York, the postmaster-general has decided to issue a letter carrier service to Swansea, west of High Park. This gives a letter carrier to the whole of the city and township front from the Scarborough line to the Harbour.

FARMER DIES SUDDENLY.

James Robinson, aged 56, a well-known Etobicoke Township farmer, living on the Albany road, between "Tinseltown" and "The Meadows," died suddenly on the morning of the 26th of May, while driving in a rig near his own home.

LABOR IS SCARCE.

Necessary work in York Township is much hampered through lack of men. It is impossible to procure material at the usual rates, owing to the shortage in the output of the whole of the city and township. There is a serious shortage of men have ability to take the places of workmen.

GERMANS FAIL TO CUT MITAU RAILWAY LINE

Russians Check Move of Von Hindenburg North of Jacobstadt.

MAKE TWO AIR RAIDS

Czar's Aviators Attack Railway Stations Behind Front of Enemy.

PETROGRAD, June 1.—The operations on the western Russian front have been confined to spasmodic activity by the Germans along the Dvina and by the Austrians in Galicia.

The Russians have several times bombarded the railway between Riga and Ickau. The railway follows the right bank of the Dvina within comparatively easy range of the German batteries, a few miles westward. They have also made a more or less serious effort to cut the Mitau railway immediately north of Jacobstadt, but without success.

LT.-COL. CRAIG LOSES COMMAND OF HIS UNIT

Major Kelly Evans Placed Temporarily in Charge of Wellington Battalion.

Special to The Toronto World. GUELPH, Ont., June 1.—A sensation was sprung here today when it became known that when the 35th Wellington Battalion left early this morning for London, Lieut.-Col. J. J. Craig was no longer its commanding officer. It was declared by the British command that when the 35th left he received a message from Col. L. A. Shannon officer commanding the 1st division, ordering him to his command and placing in the place of Lt.-Col. Craig.

In a conversation over the telephone today, Col. Craig made it quite clear that the matter was being promoted to lieut.-colonel of the regiment. The 35th Battalion left for camp today, over 300 short of the required number.

York County and Suburbs

HONOR ROLL CONTAINS FORTY-SEVEN NAMES

Was Recently Unveiled in the Holy Rosary Parish Hall, St. Clair Avenue.

The honor roll recently unveiled by Rev. Father Pickett, C.S.B., in the Holy Rosary parish hall, West St. Clair Avenue, contains the names of 47 young men of the parish, almost all of whom were members of the Holy Name Society.

A. Frank Wickson, president of the College Heights Association, in a letter to Secretary C. H. Ralph, Earlscourt, expressed his hearty sympathy and co-operation with the organization and the people of the northwestern section of Toronto in their efforts to obtain express deliveries thru the Dominion Railway Board at Ottawa.

DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT

C. G. Perrett, Earlscourt, Prominent in Independent Order of Good Templars.

C. G. Perrett, 76 Nairn Avenue, Earlscourt, organizer of the "Hope of Earlscourt" Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, has been appointed district superintendent of the Toronto division No. 1.

Mr. Perrett has devoted his energies to the cause of temperance, becoming a resident of the district for the past five years, and claims a membership in the local lodge of 150 children and 40 adult members.

An honor roll in recognition of the soldiers will be shortly unveiled at a meeting in Little Hill, Ascot Avenue.

POSTPONE DISCUSSION ON EXPRESS DELIVERY

The meeting arranged to take place at the board of trade offices today to discuss the matter of express deliveries in Earlscourt has been unavoidably cancelled owing to the traffic superintendent of the Dominion Express Company, W. Burr, being unable to attend.

It was felt amongst the merchants of the Earlscourt district at the cancellation of the interview, and it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the chairman, J. E. Macintosh, for further action.

RECRUITING REPORTS FAVORABLE

At a meeting of the headquarters staff of the 250th York Rangers last night the reports received from the county were distinctly favorable. The number of men enrolled since the week before last was 100, and the number of men who were reported to be in the process of enlisting was 150.

LETTER CARRIER FOR SWANSEA

On the recommendation of the M.P. for South York, the postmaster-general has decided to issue a letter carrier service to Swansea, west of High Park. This gives a letter carrier to the whole of the city and township front from the Scarborough line to the Harbour.

FARMER DIES SUDDENLY.

James Robinson, aged 56, a well-known Etobicoke Township farmer, living on the Albany road, between "Tinseltown" and "The Meadows," died suddenly on the morning of the 26th of May, while driving in a rig near his own home.

LABOR IS SCARCE.

Necessary work in York Township is much hampered through lack of men. It is impossible to procure material at the usual rates, owing to the shortage in the output of the whole of the city and township. There is a serious shortage of men have ability to take the places of workmen.

GERMANS FAIL TO CUT MITAU RAILWAY LINE

Russians Check Move of Von Hindenburg North of Jacobstadt.

MAKE TWO AIR RAIDS

Czar's Aviators Attack Railway Stations Behind Front of Enemy.

PETROGRAD, June 1.—The operations on the western Russian front have been confined to spasmodic activity by the Germans along the Dvina and by the Austrians in Galicia.

The Russians have several times bombarded the railway between Riga and Ickau. The railway follows the right bank of the Dvina within comparatively easy range of the German batteries, a few miles westward. They have also made a more or less serious effort to cut the Mitau railway immediately north of Jacobstadt, but without success.

LT.-COL. CRAIG LOSES COMMAND OF HIS UNIT

Major Kelly Evans Placed Temporarily in Charge of Wellington Battalion.

Special to The Toronto World. GUELPH, Ont., June 1.—A sensation was sprung here today when it became known that when the 35th Wellington Battalion left early this morning for London, Lieut.-Col. J. J. Craig was no longer its commanding officer. It was declared by the British command that when the 35th left he received a message from Col. L. A. Shannon officer commanding the 1st division, ordering him to his command and placing in the place of Lt.-Col. Craig.

In a conversation over the telephone today, Col. Craig made it quite clear that the matter was being promoted to lieut.-colonel of the regiment. The 35th Battalion left for camp today, over 300 short of the required number.

DINEEN'S STRAWS AND PANAMAS

Fridays and Saturdays are especial days for men's hats at Dineen's. The best hat days of the week. The purchaser always buys a better hat for the money at Dineen's. We might be privileged to say that our two-fifty hats are worth three dollars and apply this calculation throughout the list of prices, but we make no comparisons. We are, however, the exclusive agents for high-class imported hats that cannot be matched elsewhere in Toronto.

Advertisement for Dineen's hats, featuring images of men in hats and text: GENUINE PANAMAS $5 to $15, IMPORTED ENGLISH STRAWS $2 $2.50 $3. Store open until 10 o'clock Saturday night. TORONTO: 140 Yonge St. HAMILTON: 20-22 King St. West. ESTABLISHED 1864.

EDITORS DIFFER ABOUT LEADERS

Stewart Lyon Yarns for Lengthy Article of Thirty Years Ago.

VOICE OF AUSTRALIA

Declares Straightforward, Undiluted News is What People Want.

Editorial called upon editor for two hours at the Canadian Press Association meeting last night; his address should be longer and stronger; that he was the character and the brains of the newspaper; that he should rise up in his might and put the business office in its rightful place, allowing it to exist only on sufferance; that he should be very little and strong; that public opinion was his proper child; that he should be a man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on the verities and trample upon him; that there was no business office, that the advertiser was the man of letters, to be properly nurtured in the school of the should go, and properly admonished if he did not, then from Sidney (Australia) came a voice, neither small nor still, which said that the advertiser did not wear horns that many of his advertisements were cast on