FIRST CRIB IS IN PLACE NOW

When First Sunk it Grounded on a Boulder But Has Since Been Properly Placed.

The No. 1 crib was finally put in position early this morning and ballasted down with rocks. It was thought yesterday afternoon that all was right and the structure would sink into the proper place as the tide went down but a boulder and could not be placed in the proper position until this morning's tide. The boulder is about eight feet outside the site and on the site for No. 2 crib. As much work as can be done will be done to the superstructure, but it must necessarily be very little as the superstructure is to be built on the two cribs so as to bind them securely together. Mr. Clark and his men worked all night only knocking off for breakfast shortly before 9 o'clock when they had made everything secure.

ANOTHER WAIL FROM HALIFAX

St. John Pirates Stealing Halifax Trade With the Assistance of Steamer Senlac.

To the Editor of The Halifax Herald: Sir—The owners of the steamer Senlac, which performs service to the western ports of Nova Scotia between Halifax and St. John, have made a demand for increased subsidies from the governments of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and threatens a discontinuance of the service unless their demands are complied with.

In view of the fact that the service of this steamer, which is owned by St. John, has not been at all satisfactory to the merchants of Halifax, nor to the merchants of the various other ports in Western Nova Scotia, its discontinuance would be a calamity. The merchants of Halifax fully appreciate and esteem the trade of western Nova Scotia and are aware of the dissatisfaction which exists. It is determined that the service must be improved, and the arbitrary demands of the owners of the steamer Senlac will result in a steamer being placed on the route which will be under the direct control of Halifax.

This will prevent the legitimate trade which properly belongs to the city from being forced into other channels against the wishes of the merchants of Halifax and of Western Nova Scotia. The system which has prevailed has proven most obnoxious to the merchants of Western Nova Scotia, nearly all of whom prefer dealing with Halifax.

Owing to manipulation and delay of orders sent by the steamer, Halifax merchants have suffered a loss of trade which in nearly every instance has been forced to other places who have profited thereby. These facts were fully set forth in a report made some time ago to the board of trade by a gentleman who visited the western part of Nova Scotia.

A word to be said should be sufficient. If it has been paid to operate this service in the past, it will certainly pay Halifax merchants to place a steamer on the route which will develop and not hamper the trade of Halifax.

It is likely the Nova Scotia government would agree to pay an increased subsidy for the service which they were aware that the whole profit would remain in this province. Nova Scotia has been paying the lion's share of the subsidy, but has not received the benefit from it to which this province is entitled. We cannot allow trade which morally and geographically belongs to this city, to be removed elsewhere. Those who are alert and energetic let us hold what we have and ever on the alert for developing the trade of HALIFAX.

HIS LITTLE GAME FAILED TO WORK

There must be something about the profession of a newspaper reporter that has a fascination to those who are distinctly on the outside. If not, how is it that citizens who really have good jobs desire to take the position under the charitable mantle of journalism? A case in point came to notice last night. It was in the St. Andrew's Rollaway during the progress of the long distance race. Several newspaper men were inside talking to Manager Munde at the time, when a smooth, dapper little man came up to the door and instead of a ticket handed the doorkeeper the interesting information "I'm a reporter," smiled blandly, and passed in. Mr. Munde and the newspaper men who saw the proceeding knew that the newcomer's claim was specious, and he was quickly invited to procure a ticket, which he did. This he returned but his jaunty manner had vanished and his bland smile was gone. He had been caught with the goods, practicing the old game "working his face" under false pretences. A word to would be imitators and others who ever work the door in this incident. When bona fide newspaper men visit places of amusement such as the St. Andrew's Rollaway, they either have tickets or are abundantly able to prove their identity when questioned. The man who attempted to beat his way into the Rollaway last night is well known, holds a respectable position, and is able to pay for all the amusement he desires. And last evening he did pay.

MOVING IN AGAIN.

Already there are quite a large number of people moving into the city from their country homes, and this week will see many others on the move. Those who wish to make their homes look cozy and comfortable by adding a stylish buffet, china closet, white enamel or brass bed, or perhaps new carpets, oil stoves, etc. should do their shopping at the Amland Bros. Ltd., Waterloo street, who are sole experts in the above line.

The merry whirl at Victoria Roller Rink continues. Last night there was a very large assemblage of adults and children, who enjoyed the popular music programme of the band to the fullest. Some of the latest songs were rendered.
