English Social Life 20-20

(Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company.) Lord Decies and his wife, who was Miss Vivien Gould of New York, have rented from Lord Annaly (popularly nicknamed "Sloper"), the latter's beautiful country seat, known as Luttrellstown. It takes its name from the Luttrell family, of which the Earl of Carhampton was the chief, and which had owned the place since the reign of Henry VI. It is beauti-fally situated on the banks of the Lifiey, about six miles from the city of Dublin. Among its most famous occupants have been the "wicked" Earl Carhampton, who was reputed to have sold his soul to the Devil; and Colonel Luttrell, the opponent of Wilkes at the memorable Middlesex election some hundred years ago. The manner in which it came into the possession of the White family, of which Lord Annaly is the chief, is rather ro-mantic. Lord Annaly's great-grandfath-er hailed from the Isle of Man, drifted over to Dublin, where he became the er-rand boy of a second-hand bookseller, and, heing ambitions, started in business for

Lord Annaly, who is the permanent lord waiting to King George, and a favorite ember of the latter's household, has lived int little at Luttrellstown, making his rincipal home at Holdenby House, his lace in Northampton, where Queen Eliza-beth used to stay, where James I. resided or months together, and where Charle L. was kept in durance after he surrend ered to the Scottish army at Newcastle Holdenby House, has been immortalized i Where Melville's most popular novel, "Th You Cannot Lose When You Use This Remedy

The Evening Chit-Chat By RUTH CAMEBON A PITTSBURG clergyman has recently notified his flock that henceforth he is going to marry no couples who cannot give probable evidence of an annual income of at least two thousand dollars." I quote that interesting item from a contemporary publication. What do you think of it? Thell you glady what I think. I think it is one of the worst examples that have yet seen of the foolish and harmful tendency prevalent just now-the ten-ency to advise young people to glay marriage until all material difficulties are moothed away by pleney of money and material prossessions. I wonder if that minister realizes that the average Ameri-can wage is about $900. The real real of the foolish and particular is the second of the average Ameri-can wage is about $900. I wonder if the realizes that 67 per cent. of American and on to get more than $1,000 a year. Mat, pray, would he do with these men and the wo men they would naturally take to wife? Would he condimin them to eternal singleness and keep their lovers could not give "probable evidence of an annual income of at least two thousand dollars?" I believe that the tremendously high standard of material prossessions necessary as a preliminary to marriage, which we are encouraging our children to raise, is doing vastly income harm than good. The idea is good enough if we didn't carry it to such ridi-tion was is good enough if we didn't carry it to such ridi-66 / tinually howing and scratching at the door, and even peering umly in the windows, there isn't apt to be much billing and cooing going on in-de the horne. But, does it take two thousand a year to keep the wolf away from a young arried cuple's home? Indeed it doesn't. Or, at any rate, shouldn't. Nor-well, I started to say nor half that, but I suppose I ought not to be quite o definite circumstances alter cases, and whereas there are couples that might et along very confortably on seven or eight hundred a year, there are others who quire more than that. If all the harm that is done by long drawn out engagements and by the advance age for marrying among men could be known. I think perhaps we should says about having just so much to start with, and more about getting married at less about having just so much to start with, and more shout getting matrice at the time when nature wants men and women to marry. What relation do you suppose the prolonging of bachelorhood to the age of thirt- and thirty-five has with the social evil? Of course, no one can know that exactly, but I'm sure of this-that if I had a son I'd rather see him marry at the age of twenty-two or three, on a thousand a year, than wait unfil he was thirty for two or three thousand. Perhaps, Mr. Pittsburg minister, you were misquoted in your sweeping exclu-sion of all folks who couldn't qualify in the two thousand class from the state of watrimony.

WAS ALL RUN DOWN.

Doctors and Medicine Failed To Cure Him.

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their in trouble is. As a rule it is improper circulation of the blood, owing to not just taking proper care of themselves. All they want is a good tonic to build up the system and put their blood in proper shape, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters. It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system. Mr. Murdock A. Morrison, Tarbot, N.S., writes:—"I am now writing to tell you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Last Summer I was all run down, and doctors and medicine failed to cure me. At last I decided to try a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking one bottle I began feeling better, and after I had taken the remedy for two months I was completely cured. I can safely recom-mend your remedy to anyone." Manufactured only by The T. Mil-burn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
