

I feel words cannot add to the force of those simple facts. I will only say that there is rising up here a country that will well repay any effort.

The inaction of the Church of Canada threatens, if continued, to lead to such disastrous results to our Church that, I am sure, the day is not distant when the Church of Canada itself will wonder at its want of foresight.

I believe that, notwithstanding your own mission calls, if a committee were appointed by the Synod, there might be a special effort that would not interfere with your own schemes. May I further ask the Synod to pass a resolution requesting its representatives to see that this question receive the attention of the Provincial Synod. I do not hesitate to say it is one that concerns seriously the duty and honour of the Church of Canada. I have been assured on all hands of a very kind welcome if I were to plead our cause in Canada. But neither my clergy nor myself can conveniently leave this. We are often at our wits' end to supply even regular stations. But I do not think that that would be the right position for either you or us. The other bodies think the development of this country worthy of their most anxious deliberations at their yearly councils. Nothing less than this can, on your part, meet the exceeding gravity of the case.

Asking you to bear with the earnestness of this appeal, and commending the matter to your prayerful and conscientious consideration,

I am your faithful Brother and

Servant in Christ,

R. RUPERT'S LAND.

A letter was read from [redacted] Lawson of McGill College, inviting the [redacted] Synod to visit the Library and Museum.

Rev. Canon NORMAN read report of the Committee on Education, and gave notice of motion for its adoption.

Archdeacon LEACH read report of the Committee on Canons, and gave notice that he would move its adoption.

Rev. Canon NORMAN assumed that the report of the Committee of Conference on Algoma, which was in print, had been read, and gave notice that he would move three resolutions based upon the report.

Mr. L. H. DAVIDSON read report of the Committee on Vestries in Free-seat Churches, and gave notice that he would move its adoption.
