CREW OF SCHR. HARRY MORRIS HAD VERY ROUGH EXPERIENCE

Worked Here from Tynemouth Creek by Two Men and a Boy—
Rest of Crew Had Gone to Another Vessel and Were Unable to Reach the Morris on Account of the Heavy Seas—
Some Anxiety Felt for Their Safety—The Schooner
Lost Sails on the Trip.

The schooner Harry Morris arrived in port yesterday after a rough and eventful trip from Tynemouth Creek. The schooner, which is owned by R. A. Carson of St. John, was loaded at Tynemouth Creek with deals for W. J. McKay and George McKean. The schooner R. A. Carson was also loading there with piling for Boston. The crew of the R. A. Carson went on board the Harry Morris to assist them, in getting ready for the trip. When the schooner was got under way the crew of the Carson were rowed back by two of the crew of the Harry Morris, leaving only Captain Loughery and a boy, of the Harry Morris, and Mate Walsh of the R. A. Carson, on board the schooner. Soon after the boat left the schooner the weather became very rough. The Harry Morris waited for an hour for the return of the crew and at last as the weather was very threatening, Capt. Loughery stood out to sea. Those in the small boat were: Capt. McLean, of the R. A. Carson, Leonard Carter of Tynemouth Creek; Geo. Lewis of St. Martins; Dawson Parks of St. Martins, and William York of Gardner's Creek. Parks and York belonged to the schr. Harry Morris.

Arthur Reid of the schr. R. A. Carson had also been left in a small boat. He had come out to the schr. Harry Morris, but the weather was too rough, and he had to return to the beach, where his boat was probably smashed.

Captain Loughery and Capt. Walsh, assisted by the boy, then sailed for this port. They struck the storm when they left and it remained with them until they arrived here. The voyage down was tiresome on the men, as they had great difficulty in sailing the vessel, because of their want of help. During the trip the main sheet and main sheet block were carried away. The vessel arrived in port Saturday night, at low water, and had great difficulty in working up the channel. The captain dropped anchor when opposite Sand Point, but the anchor dragged until the schooner was in front of the ferry floats, causing the ferry to lose a trip. Difficulty was again experienced in weighing anchor, but at last this was done, and the schooner is now moored at the North Market wharf.

After arriving in port Capt. Loughery telephoned Mr. Carson at St. Martins to find out if the men had got ashore safely, as he had some doubts of this, because of the rough weather and the shore being one half mile distant from the schooner when the men left it.

Mr. Carson had received no word from Tynemouth Creek, so it was presumed that the men were safe. Capt. Walsh will return to St. Martins today, and will rejoin the schr. R. A. Carson, which is bound for Boston.

NEW SHAH OF PERSIA CROWNED WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

TEHERAN, Jan. 19.—The coronation of Mohammed Mirza as Shah of Persia took place here this afternoon with impressive ceremonies and a brilliant display of oriental grandeur. The scene within the throne room as the Shah ascended the famous peacock throne of solid gold set with jewels, began to intone slowly from the Koran. He then recited the poem by the late poet, which was followed by the solemn strains of another poetic legend. These concluded the procession was formed again and the Shah descended from the throne as he walked in front of the foreign diplomats, stopping in surrounded by princes, nobles and mullahs, was one of rare magnificence. The ceremony began shortly after noon, at which hour the high court dignitaries and the foreign diplomatic representatives assembled in the ante-room of the palace. From this room they were conducted to the throne room, which is popularly called the Museum, owing to the Persian treasures it contains. At the further end of this apartment stood the throne. According to ancient custom, the royal procession entered the throne room one hour after midday. At the head walked the youngest daughter of the new Shah, followed by a procession of priests and mullahs, the Shah bringing up in the rear.

As the crowning ceremonies began the Shah took his seat on the throne and removed his hat. The prime minister then advanced and placed on his head the jeweled crown which the late Shah once threw to the ground because of its great weight.

In the meantime the chief mullah front of each one to speak a few words of pleasant greetings. The British representative, Cecil Spring-Rice, com-ward wishing the Shah a long and prosperous reign. Mr. Spring-Rice and the Russian minister, representing the two countries principally interested in Persia, united in expressing the satisfaction of their respective governments on the choice of the Shah's second son as heir apparent to the throne, which they regarded as a guarantee of security and permanent order in Persia.

The heir stood upon the steps of the throne throughout the ceremony, occupying the post of honor nearest the monarch.

As his majesty retired in the midst of his gorgeously clad retinue the imperial band played the national anthem and the brilliant ceremony came to an end.

There are popular rejoicings tonight in the city, which is gaily illuminated. The date of the funeral of the late Shah has not yet been determined.

BATH, Me., Jan. 20.—Frederick L. Wheaton, 57 years old, a well known telegrapher and for many years an operator in the Associated Press at Worcester, died today of a complication of diseases. He leaves a widow and two children.

MARLBOROUGHS ARRANGE TERMS OF SETTLEMENT

Duke Will Retain $100,000 a Year Allowance

Duchess to Have Use of Marlborough Family Jewels—Scandal Averted by Intervention of Royalty

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The conferences which have recently been going on between relatives, lawyers and others concerning the differences between the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough have resulted in an arrangement by which their affairs will not be brought before the courts and a separation will be effected, so as to avoid publicity.

This was largely brought about through the intervention of royalty which is friendly to both sides and desirous of averting public proceedings involving the ancient Ducal House. While the present status of the affair cannot be stated officially or authoritatively, owing to a natural desire to avoid discussion, the following gathered from well informed circles is believed to embody the most essential features of the arrangement.

Through the intervention of the Marquis of Lansdowne, who is Duke of Marlborough's uncle, the duchess has been induced to take a position favorable to an adjustment. It was during her recent stay at the marquis' house at Bowood Park, Wiltshire, that the main features were arranged, and these have since been gone over by the family of the duchess and others concerned. According to the present arrangements the duke and duchess will live apart, the duke retaining Blenheim Palace and continuing to enjoy the $100,000 a year settled upon him by the terms of his will. The vessel arrived in port Saturday night, at low water, and had great difficulty in working up the channel. The captain dropped anchor when opposite Sand Point, but the anchor dragged until the schooner was in front of the ferry floats, causing the ferry to lose a trip. Difficulty was again experienced in weighing anchor, but at last this was done, and the schooner is now moored at the North Market wharf.

After arriving in port Capt. Loughery telephoned Mr. Carson at St. Martins to find out if the men had got ashore safely, as he had some doubts of this, because of the rough weather and the shore being one half mile distant from the schooner when the men left it.

Mr. Carson had received no word from Tynemouth Creek, so it was presumed that the men were safe. Capt. Walsh will return to St. Martins today, and will rejoin the schr. R. A. Carson, which is bound for Boston.

The younger son of the Duke and Duchess, Lord Ivor, Charles Spencer Churchill, has been ill at Blenheim with the measles, and his aunt, Lady Frances Grey, has been nursing him. He spent Christmas at the palace with his brother, the Marquis of Blandford, and they subsequently left on a visit to their aunt, Lady Sarah Wilson, who was to have undertaken their care previous to the present arrangements. Now, however, Blenheim will not be closed, and the Duke will continue to live there instead of at Woodstock, where he proposed to make his headquarters when he decided to leave his ancestral home. The Duchess, however, has withdrawn her valuable collection of Sevres china, books and bronzes, antique furniture and pictures by Lanet and Watteau, which she took there at the time of her marriage. Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, who has been with the Duchess for the past few weeks, has done her best to further an understanding between her daughter and the Duke. She is still with the Duchess.

Noah Lahood, one of the most progressive members of the colony, has acquired the liquor business on King Street, owned by William Garnett. The transfer of the license was ratified by the Licensing Commission, and was effected at their meeting on Saturday last, and hereafter Mr. Lahood will carry on a booze emporium at Mr. Garnett's old stand.

The license held by the late John Rhee, whose place of business was on Mill Street, was transferred to his wife. The business will be continued under the old name.
