"Lest We Forget."

One of the most interesting meetings of the year was held Monday afternoon by Brunswick Chapter, I. O. D. E., at the home of the regent. Nomination papers were received for the election of officers at the next meeting. Mrs. Duval was appointed convenor of the committee to look after the furnishing and care of the chapter's ward in the military hospital. Many letters of acknowledgment and appreciation of the chapter's work were read and there followed a talk on "the tendency of our becoming accustomed to the maimed, wounded and sick soldiers in our midst and the danger of forgetting that we are individually responsible for the sacrifices these men have made." Cases were shown where the chapter should have stepped in and done good and lasting work instead of waiting for government red tape to unwind itself. In fact the members present all felt that in the rush of work of the past two years they had neglected, in a measure, the chief work laid down by the constitution of the I. O. D. E.: "To care for the British soldier or sailor, the widows and orphans during war, in time of peace, or under sickness or reverse of fortune." The lengthy discussion resulted in a resolution to open a "lest we forget" fund, the chapter donating the first one hundred dollars; this fund to be kept separate from the chapter fund and to be used exclusively for the benefit of the returned, needy soldier or sailor, the widows and orphans during war, in time of peace, or under sickness or reverse of fortune. Admirably suited to youthful figures are the suits of this mode. Color harmonies need consideration in choosing costumes. Blue eyes and brown hair for frocks of colors equally contrasted.

YORK W. I.

Mrs. Fred Coburn's paper "Business Hints for Women" at a meeting of the York Institute, was exceptionally good and listened to carefully. This branch has a new programme printed for the year.

Nashwaakia W. I.

The school committee reported at a meeting of the Nashwaakia Institute that they had never seen the school in better condition and it was decided that two prizes in each room be offered by the institute for general efficiency, the winner also being required to make 75 per cent. of arithmetic. One of the members soon left.

Some Inexpensive Recipes

Egless Fruit Cake—Stir to a cream a cup of sugar and half a cup of shortening and stiff together two cups of flour, a teaspoon each of cinnamon and nutmeg, and half a teaspoon of cloves, mix with the other ingredients, and add slowly half a pint of buttermilk, and a teaspoon of soda dissolved in a little hot water. Last of all add a cup of mixed seed raisins and English walnuts, pecans or hickory nuts. Bake in a loaf in a moderate oven, and if an icing is desired use the following:

Egless Icing—Boil together a cup of brown sugar, half a cup of milk and a teaspoon of butter until it spins a thread, then beat like fudge until it begins to sugar, when spread on the cake.

Spiced Beef—Get five pounds or more of the more inexpensive cut of good juicy beef; the rump or the cheapest cut of the round is best because boneless. Trim away the strong tasting fat, but leave the suet.

KEEP URIC ACID
OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water. Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinges of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your system as well.

UNCLE DICK'S DAILY CHAT.

My Dear Kiddies—

Quite a number of you have been making scrap books for the soldiers, which have been greatly appreciated by them. Only yesterday I heard of something which you can all do, and which would be well worth trying. The Y.M.C.A. are appealing for people to send newspaper clippings to be distributed among the soldiers who may be sent to the front. The boys are very pleased to get them, and around the walls of the huts are to be found all kinds of clippings. Then often when a concert or entertainment is held behind the firing lines some song or piece of poetry are often picked from these clippings for use by one of the amateur actors.

Now here is what you can do, just cut out little pieces of interesting items which you may find in The Standard, and other papers, put them into an envelope and address it to "Canadian Y. M. C. A., B. E. F., France, or if you wish you may send them to me, and I shall see that they are forwarded.

Most of you boys and girls are very anxious to do any work for the soldiers when you are able, as you have proved by the assistance given in Red Cross work, the valuable service done by the members of the Allied Aid Society and other kindred helpers.

Although you will have a lot of lessons, now that you are back to school, I am sure you could find time to get some clippings each week, at least you can try, can you not?

With best wishes,
From your

Cut slits several inches from the edge, and pack these with a dressing made of a cup of stale bread, crumbed, a half cup of chopped suet, one small onion chopped, a half teaspoon each of cloves and allspice, pepper and salt to taste, a little oil, and powdered wace and a scant grating of nutmeg. After stuffing rub the meat over with a mixture of a tablespoon of salt, and a half a tablespoon each of pepper, cloves and allspice, and wet all over with good cider vinegar. Let stand overnight, then in the morning put in a pot with a small cup of water, cover and cook slowly for two and a half hours, or thirty minutes for every pound of meat, turning it several times while cooking so that the gravy will moisten every part. When ready to serve put on a hot platter, and slightly thicken the pot liquor for gravy. This is delicious hot or cold, and is a pleasant variation from the usual pot roast.

New Ways With Cranberries By way of a change turn the cranberry jelly into a large bowl and before it has cooled place in the dish of cranberry juice another smaller bowl. If the smaller bowl does not keep its place weight it down with a small weight of some sort. Let the mold set in this way and before turning it out remove the small bowl and fill the cavity with some savory salad mixture, such as chopped dressed cabbage, potato salad or chicken salad. Press the mixture down well and turn the jelly mold out on a plate or smaller platter.

BEVERLY BAYNE'S TALK
How to Get Into Pictures

If you have not the good fortune to live near a studio, then the next best thing after making an exhaustive study of yourself is to have as many photographs taken as possible, and send them around to the casting directors of the various companies. It is easy to obtain the names and addresses of the companies in any trade publication which any newsdealer can supply.

Write a brief description of yourself and paste it on the back of the photograph. A catchy little letter will not do any harm, although it may not do any good. But there are few persons too busy to read a good letter. I love to read every one of my letters. They are often an inspiration to me, as they are the only applause I receive.

There is one good feature about motion pictures that makes the life more attractive to the young girl than the spoken stage. In the first place, you do not have to give up your home life. When I close my dressing room door between five and six o'clock every evening, I am through for the day.

My home and social life is then open to me. Parents, as a rule, appreciate this new order of things, and I do not think there is much objection in any quarter to girls taking up motion pictures for a career. There was a time when it was popularly agreed that a girl was going straight to perdition once she adopted a stage career. To fact, it is entirely up to the girl, and the principles she hopes to sustain.

In my last article I suggested some fundamentals and primary principles for those young girls who have their hearts set upon entering the motion picture profession. Perhaps it would be wise briefly to outline them here again, and in a manner less emphatic to a few hard, cold facts.

A young girl must, first of all, possess talent. Then she cannot afford to miss any opportunity to appear in theatricals, either privately or publicly. I also suggested acting before the camera.

Convince Yourself With a Free Trial Package.

Most of us eat three times a day and often forget that each meal should be disposed of in the stomach to make room for the next. The failure of the stomach to do this is called indigestion or dyspepsia, with its sour risings, gas, rumblings, pain, depression and the feeling of stuffiness when breathing is difficult. The most effective remedy and the most reliable one, because you can get it at any drug store in the United States or Canada, is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at 50 cents a box. Instead of depriving yourself of food or going on a starvation diet simply keep on as you have and let these tablets straighten out your stomach, digest the food and keep you in the fight. mirror as much as possible, in order to master the art of pantomime, the chief requisite in the silent drama.

It is as important to do this as it is for a girl to practise long tedious hours at the piano, when she is trying to master the technique of expression and tone coloring.

Then again, she should be a consistent "movie fan." Never neglect a chance to go to the motion picture theatres to study your favorite stars, as well as the work of all the others who appear. But it is not only on the screen that a girl can study for the human nature at all times. Watch the facial expression and gestures of those around you.

Even now, I never ride on a street car, or on any other public conveyance, that I do not love to study types and the mannerisms of the various persons I see around me. As a child I was forever imitating someone, and the spirit is just as strong as ever. Another point which I touched on in my last article is that it is important to have some new photographs made, to be delivered or sent around to the casting directors of the various studios. If possible, it is best to present oneself in person, but a good photograph and a description of yourself is often a great help in obtaining an entrance into the profession.

Naturally, a certain element of luck and good fortune enters into one's chances for capturing a place in a studio. It is the persistent and even tempered girl who is most apt to win out in the end. Those who are easily discouraged had better save their time and humor by not making the attempt.

I know of a dear little girl, who six months ago was pining her little heart away for an opportunity to act before the camera. She was extremely talented, pretty, graceful, and possessed a very nice figure. She made numerous and fruitless efforts to get a place, but on every hand she was turned down quite abruptly. It happened that she was a determined little girl, and could not understand why they would employ other girls out of a group and dismiss her. She had ample self confidence, although not the overwhelming egotism which is so often fatal, and this carried her through the weeks of failure.

At length, she observed that there were few girls, who obtained parts, who were not known around the studio, either to the casting director, regular directors, or some of the actor folk. Then she outlined a plan of campaign of her own. She kept herself informed on every projected production, and took special note of those that intended staging so-called "mob scenes." She found she had been making the mistake of trying to get a part to play at the beginning, while her talents, as far as the directors were concerned, were still undiscovered.

The Quebec censors have rejected "Oliver Twist," claiming it gives lessons in thieving. There will be an appeal from this decision.

"MARIA ROSA"

By Guido Marburg and Wallace Gilpatrick

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT GERALDINE FARRAR appears as the star in another sensational picture, following the unprecedented success "Carmen" and "Temptation," piques the interest of every moving picture devotee and for that matter players in general. "Maria Rosa" was produced under the personal direction of Cecil B. deMille, the man responsible for her other great stories; and is the Spanish rural drama, fraught with tremendous moments and hot-blooded action, she is again in her element. For so great a star and so spirited a story the scenic investiture is scrupulously correct and elaborate. Is a word "Maria Rosa" is a screen epic.
