Shediac, Sept. 12.—The shore cottages at the Shediac Beach, Cape Breton, Point du Chene, and Shediac Cape are daily becoming vacant. Their occupants enjoyed a record-breaking season at the sea side. ELECTION DAY SEPTEMBER 20th

In 1917 Premier Borden, recognizing the necessity of bringing to bear on the administration of Canada the foremost men of both great political parties, organized Union Government. In this administration were included the outstanding personalities among Conservatives and Liberals, men who had in preceding years been strongly opposed to each other politically, but who in the face of a serious national crisis were prepared to sink partisanship and work together for the well-being of the nation. The stress of wartime activity was no greater than that of the years succeeding the war, in which grave problems of re-establishment, reconstruction and generally the return to peace conditions confronted our people. In the face of such conditions, the Prime Minister and his colleagues deemed it best—and in this the experience of Canada has endorsed their decision—to continue Union Government until the worst of our troubles had been overcome. Following the enforced retirement of Sir Robert Borden, brought about by physical collapse due to overwork, the task of carrying on the administration has devolved upon Hon. Arthur Meighen who retains in his cabinet and among his active supporters the great majority of those former Liberals and Conservatives who believed in Union Government and who realized that it afforded the only method of satisfactorily conducting the affairs of this nation.

Although the war has ended, although our soldiers have been brought back, and despite the fact that our lives are gradually assuming a more normal condition than has prevailed during the past six years, this country still faces a grave situation. Financially and economically the problems to be solved are serious indeed and are of such a nature as will require the exercise of the best ability in Canada to solve. Union Government in the Dominion of Canada is the only Government of any nation in the world which has survived the stress of war, a circumstance which in itself is the greatest certificate of ability that could be produced. There is no reason in the world why, in view of what Union Government has accomplished, its successor, modelled along the lines of Union, should be asked to retire from office until at least the entire work of reconstruction has been completed. The Government today is stronger than it has been at any time since 1914. It is composed of a more experienced class of men, of parliamentarians and executives who have been through the strenuous years and who realize to the fullest extent the needs of Canada and the requirements of the future.

By electing Hon. R. W. Wiggmore as Minister of Customs in the National Liberal Conservative Government the constituency of St. John-Albert will be expressing its satisfaction with the manner in which the affairs of this country have been conducted by Union Government composed of Conservatives and Liberals. More than this, it will be affording a vote of confidence in the new Government which, under the leadership of Hon. Arthur Meighen promises the ablest administration Canada has ever enjoyed. Hon. Mr. Wiggmore's majority should be greater than that given him in the 1917 contest, and it will be greater if friends and supporters of the party do their duty at the polls.
