FREDERICTON.

Fredericton, Dec. 18—(Special)—A. R. Miles, of Maugerville, who has been employed as lumber scaler by the N. B. Railway, for a number of years, has resigned his position and accepted a similar one with the local government. He will have charge of the Upper Miramichi and Lower St. John districts.

Residents of Upper Keswick, who were in the city today, report that a distinct shock of earthquake was felt in their locality at 10 o'clock last night. It rattled dishes and window panes, but did no

The smallpox situation at Nashwaaksi has taken a rather serious turn, no less than four new cases having developed there since yesterday morning. One of the victims is Mrs. Fred McFarlane, who makes her home with her uncle, Walter McFarlane, and the other three are daughters of Daniel Green, who brought the disease from the Quebec lumber woods. The Green girls were vaccinated by Dr. The Green girls were vaccinated by Dr. Mullin several weeks ago, and it was successful in every case. They are down with what is known in the medical profession as verioloid, which is smallpox, modified by vaccination. It will be remembered that two of these girls were employed in the city as domestics, but visited their hoxaes after the father returned from the woods, and Dr. Mullin thought it advisable to quarantine them. The sequal shows that he acted very wisely. Mrs. McFarlane had been living in part of the house occupied by the Greens, but shortly after the disease broke out took up her abode in the McFarlane homestead. Dr. Mullin has had the McFarlane house placed under quarantine, and hopes to be able to prevent any further spread of the disease

Rev. Charles Collins, of St. Rose's church, Fairville, yesterday celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination. After mass he was waited upon in the vestry of the church and the following address was presented to him:-Reverend and Dear Father:

Reverend and Dear Father:

The little girls of the sewing circle greet you today, the occasion of your silver jubilee, with heartiest congratulations.

With what happiness must you look back to that solemn day, twenty-five years ago, when you were elevated to the priesthood—the dignity of which surpasses that of the angels. We are pleased to know you have spent the greater part of that time as St. Rose's parish priest.

It was you, dear Father, who poured on our baby heads the waters of holy baptism, and watched over us as the years sped by until the time approached for our first Holy Communion. Then, with fatherly care and priestly zeal, you prepared us to receive our dear Lord in the Blessed Sacrament. Gratefully we acknowledge all the good things you have done and still continue to do for us.

T efore we could not allow this occasion to pass without giving you a little proof of our love. We beg you, dear Father, to accept our simple little offering not as a measure of our affection, but simply as a memento of the day.

We ask the dear little Babe of Bethlehem to grant you choicest graces and blessings. And that you may celebrate this event again when time, rolling onward, will have changed the silver to a golden jubilee, is the wish of your children.

(Signed by forty-two members.)

Fairville, N. B., Dec. 21, 1903.

Accompanying the address, which was read by Gertrude Avery, were a purse of gold, a set of silver knives, a carving set, and a bouquet of flowers. Father Collins was very much surprised and greatly gratified, and thanked the children for heir thoughtfulness.

Bring children up to sleep in the dark, as it is much better for their eyes, the darkness being an entire rest. Dark green or blue curtains are the best for bedrooms, and they should be drawn across the window to prevent the glare of morning light failing too strongly upon the eyes.

Capt. Moffatt as chief stewardess for the Marion for the whole season. Being somewhat prepossessing and of a very amable disposition and very thoughtful and obliging she became popular with those who travelled to and fro on the boat during her trips on the Bras d'or Lakes.

One day in August of the same year to Capt. Moffat, to take effect the following trip of the steamer to Port Hawkesbury. The resignation was reluctantly accepted and Miss Campbell left a tew days later for Boston.

It appears that on the second trip of the Marion before Miss Campbell left the boat, was a passenger named Kellogue, an aged resident of Boston. The Bostonian evidently took a fancy to Miss Campbell's evidently took a fancy to Miss Campbell's evidently took a fancy to Miss Campbell's manner and disposition and quietly asked her if she would not come to Boston and live with his family. A liberal sum was offered per month as wages. Miss Campbell agreed to the proposition and as stated left the steamer and accompanied Mr. Kellogue to Boston, taking the steamer from Hawkesbury. The Cape Breton young lady remained with the Kellogue family until three weeks ago. Mr. Kellogue died in October and Miss Campbell was remembered in his will to the amount of $5,000.
