

REBELS AT SPOLS

Capture Artillery of Federals

Thousand Wounded on the Field of Battle

Uncared for American Red Cross Society Obtains Permission to Bring the Maimed to Texas Side for Treatment—Washington Orders More Troops to the Border.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 26.—Villars' army, turning from its battle at Mesa, began arriving in Juarez shortly before noon, the men in good spirits and well equipped with ammunition which they had captured from the federals. Fifteen captured federal pieces and been machine guns were brought to Mesa about the same time the rebels commenced coming in. A troop view, which was in the nature of a triumphal parade, was at once started, and it was reviewed by General Villa from an automobile. Four trainloads of federal prisoners, numbering more than 400, was said, were brought to Juarez at 1 o'clock, General Villa accompanying them in a special car. It was stated that all former rebels who were found among the captives were executed on the spot.

Most of the cars used in transporting the prisoners to Juarez were captured from the federals. There were no volunteers or irregulars among the prisoners. No executions were reported this morning. 1,000 Wounded Uncared for.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 26.—On information that nearly 1,000 federal wounded are lying unattended on the battlefield at Mesa, thirteen miles below Juarez, many of them stripped of their arms and clothing, appeals were made to hospital squads to go to the front and take care of the wounded. The appeals were met by local Huertista sympathizers. Movements were started to raise funds for hospital supplies and to send nurses and surgeons to look after the derelict wounded. The rebels' wounded, it was stated, are being brought to Juarez and are being cared for by federal soldiers who have reached this city of the border since the entire federal army is at Samalayuca, thirty-two miles south of Juarez. It is stated that there is also water. These stragglers say the federals have lost none of their trains and few, if any, cannon, and that they are said to have robbed the remainder, is arranging to renew the attack on the rebel front today.

Preparations were in the meantime made to withstand a possible rebel attack. Federal troops are said to have moved at Tuxpan from Vera Cruz, and are, with the other column, reported to be on the way from Tampico, are expected to reach the border here in an affording ample protection. Fighting is reported to be in progress at Carrizosa, where a federal train was ambushed yesterday. It is reported to have been a serious battle, with reports from railroad sources, troops rushed from Saltillo and Van Horn, found the rebels in force in the vicinity of Carrizosa. The rebels are supposed to be part of the forces which recently took the city of Victoria, Tamaulipas.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The route of the Mexican federal train, Juarez by the Constitutionalist forces, a wireless report from Rear-Admiral Fletcher, commanding the fleet in the Gulf of Mexico, is the Mexican situation. The border situation, as a result of a vigorous operation near Juarez and the possibility of another edge of the rebel city, aroused the war department action to afford ample protection for El Paso and the neighboring border.

The war department, upon the request of the American Red Cross, issued orders which permit the bringing of wounded Mexican soldiers across the border into El Paso, the permission applying to federal and Constitutionalist soldiers alike. The first soldiers to be received will be the wounded Constitutionalist soldiers, as they have been already brought into Juarez in considerable numbers. The federal soldiers, large numbers of whom are reported to be in pitiable condition farther south, will receive equal treatment, if any agency desired to bring them into American territory.

The Red Cross authorities find it difficult to care for the wounded Mexican American territory, they are entering into the question of recognition which would be necessary to cross the border, and it is also known that facilities for the care of the wounded in Juarez are inadequate. The Mexican and White Cross organizations are organized, and officials here say there is no authoritative agency in Mexico which would be the de facto government of them Mexico.

CONDENSED NEWS; LOCAL AND GENERAL

The many friends of Daniel Wilson, a former resident of this city, but now of the Narrows, Washington, D. C., were pleased to learn that he is recovering slowly from a recent illness.

George G. Davis, formerly of St. John, and his son, Ira Davis, for several years employed with the Sumner Company, are to open up a grocery store in Moncton today on the corner of St. George and Lutz streets, under the firm name of George G. Davis & Son.

It is officially announced that young Irene Cormier, for whom the police have been searching during the last six weeks, ever since she left her home in White street, is being well cared for. It is said that the letter she wrote to her mother, in the interest of official Washington, is the Mexican situation.

The border situation, as a result of a vigorous operation near Juarez and the possibility of another edge of the rebel city, aroused the war department action to afford ample protection for El Paso and the neighboring border.

Indians and persons settled up the river. The ridge upon which the new fort stands was offered by them and a work in which there are eight pieces of cannon, barrels for 100 men, and a small block house, and the ridge on which it stands is too narrow to admit of any falling down of the ridge. The block houses remain, but the work, which was composed of fascines and sods, is full of holes and the ridge on which it stands is too narrow to admit of any falling down of the ridge. Outlook from Summit One Well Worth While

A climb to the summit of Fort Howe, which St. John people hope soon to see converted into an attractive and healthful park, is well worth the effort, and even now, at this present season, the undertaking is not a very trying ordeal. There are many St. John people, some of them old residents it may be, who are making a habit of the climb, and the view obtained from this historic spot, near the mouth of the famed St. John river, to them it is an agglomeration of rocks, a desolate spot that can boast of no attractions save, perhaps, those that must of necessity accompany old associations. Those, then, who have never made the ascent of the rocky formation may be reminded that they have an extensive panoramic view of the city and harbor, of scenic beauty not often to be found.

NOVA SCOTIA SEEN IN THE DISTANCE

Looking across the Bay of Fundy, on a clear day, may be seen the coast of Nova Scotia at a distance of some forty-five miles. Before the eye is a magnificent view of the harbor of St. John with its many features, a shipping centre, as a natural harbor that has formed the subject for admiration not only amongst Canadians but amongst people of many nationalities. Buy wharves, mills, warehouses, churches, and public and other buildings incident to the life of a prosperous city may be seen in every direction. There is one thing to be noted in St. John where one may obtain a view of the shipping—the steamships, large and small, the sailing craft, "alas!" many an old resident may say, "they are not so numerous as in days gone by." The smaller boats dotted here and there.

NEW BRUNSWICK MAN

KILLED FOR A DEER

Lambert Lake, Maine, Nov. 24.—Edward Harding of Richmond, N. B., was shot and killed here on Sunday, the twelfth human victim of the hunting season in this state.

Harding and his brother-in-law, Wilbert Gavel, also of Richmond, had been hunting together. They separated and Gavel, seeing a movement in the bushes which he thought was a deer, fired. The bullet struck Harding, who was instantly killed.
