Burglary—Communism—An Aged

Defaulter Punished.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15, 1874.

THE NEW PERIL.

The absence of work and the great number of unemployed who are roaming about the country has created general alarm among our citizens who reside in suburban towns. A gang of masked men are scouring the country, visiting farm houses and isolated dwellings, gagging and binding people by day and robbing them by night, wading up by going through the houses and often setting fire to the premises. Sundays are especially days of terror. The absence of men from their homes—nobody being left but few servants, mostly women—has become a desperate and daring feat. States Island is especially a favorite place. A mile away from the landing, on a high ridge, are placed many sumptuous dwellings. For miles the neighborhood is as desolate as the centre of a desert. Robbers and burglars come in boats and hide away in the woods and hills, and occasionally burst into a fury of passion. Under these circumstances, her family, families are leaving their homes and taking up the hotels on Broadway, considering it unsafe for women and children to live out of the city.

THE COMMUNISTS AT WORK.

In a portion of Chatham street, the Communists have their headquarters. Sunday is a high day. In the public meetings held, these men denounce every form of law as tyranny—openly making war on capital—sow discontent among workmen, and threaten to cause blood to run down our streets if their foolish and unreasonable demands are not complied with. These men refuse to work themselves for fair wages, or to allow others to work. They have started, they say, to bring rich down to their level, and to have an equal distribution of the wealth of the hour. With an avowed purpose of coming in contact with the authorities, they called a meeting in one of the public parks of the city. They published a programme of their aims, and they were there to discuss it. The authorities forbade the meeting. The men resisted. The police were quite enough to handle these desperadoes, and they were borne bleeding and maimed from the conflict. These men imagine that they can bear their principles to the streets of the New World. They will find little room for their principles or practice. If they lift their hands against law, order and good government, they will be moved down the grass before the scythe. A few smart tips on the City Hall bell, should the police be arrested, would bring in thirty minutes 10,000 men together armed with ball cartridges, who would make short work of the Communist firstlings.

A SAD SIGHT.

The Judiciary of New York has been vindictive recently by the sentence of significant offenders, who have been incarcerated in our common prisons. Mayors, Judges, Senators and rulers have been put at the bar and tried as common felons. Men who two years ago ruled the city with imperial sway, whose autocratic orders were crowded with our first citizens waiting for an audience, have put on the "iron jacket," taken up the prison bucket, and with lock step have tramped over the stony corridors, with a hundred prisoners, to their cells. Others who jangled millions of money and negotiated behind the curtains of the State, and who were fugitives and vagabonds, hiding in the darkest recesses of continental cities, on Monday an impressive and melancholy sight attracted attention in the United States Circuit Court. Graham, a man nearly seventy years of age, was called to the bar to receive sentence. He belonged to one of the noble families of the State, rich and honored through many generations. The prisoner held many high positions, and until now had never been dishonored. He was President of the Walkin Bank. One morning the directors were called together. The Cashier had fled. The bank had been stripped of the entire capital stock; nearly every man in Middletown ruined, for not only his money but all his securities had disappeared. The President knew nothing of the affair and seemed in great distress. He went out from the bank with a check for $1000 or more belonging to the institution, and handed it over to his wife. On that simple act his conviction was made. He was immediately arrested, indicted, and his bail fixed at a moderate sum. He stood his trial with the confidence of acquittal. The ablest lawyers in the State were employed in his defence. A genuine surprise was sprung on the confidence of acquittal. The counsel put up no testimony, and declined to address the jury. A verdict of guilty was rendered. The sentence of twenty years imprisonment followed. Then became occurred that would have moved the stoutest heart. The prisoner bowed himself in agony, and his relatives and friends lifted loud the voice of lamentation.

Jealousy and Murder.

A murder trial, involving an affecting story of love and jealousy, has recently been engaging the attention of the Liverpool Assizes. It appears that in August last Charles Butt, a quiet young farmer residing just out of Liverpool, shot and killed his sweetheart, Annie Phipps, for which crime he was tried and sentenced to death. A fortnight before the murder they were present at a dance, and he complained of her dancing with other young men, and, actuated by jealousy, he struck her a violent blow in the face, and she thereupon protested she would never accompany him anywhere again. Shortly after this Mr. Phipps entertained a party of friends, among whom was Harry Goddard. Butt also visited the house, and paid attentions to Miss Phipps, who, however, acted somewhat coolly towards him, while she condescended to Goddard. The passion of the accused was further aroused by the young lady accepting an offer from Goddard to drive her to a fair on the following day; and, although Butt made a passionate appeal to her to allow him to take her there, she declined, and said she would rather go with Goddard. Notwithstanding this slight, Butt continued to visit the young lady, and during that Goddard had got the start of him one evening, he entered the room where they were sitting, and drawing a pistol, shot Miss Phipps through the head, killing her instantly. He was promptly apprehended, and confessed his crime. In passing sentence of death upon him, the Judge reminded Butt that he deserved his fate, since he had been induced to way to the pitiless passion of jealousy, and had inflicted a most cruel death on the woman for whom he professed affection. When his doom was pronounced the prisoner was carried from the dock swooning.

A Suffering Maniac.

The police authorities of New Orleans have recently unravelled a sickening mystery relating to a respectable woman, who many years since disappeared from the outside world. The woman was a light quadroon. Some twenty-nine years ago, when she was a handsome girl of sixteen, she had symptoms of insanity and was not allowed to go out of her room. At that time her relations, who were well-off, were aware from which she was never separated. The girl gradually grew worse, and finally insane. Whilst in this condition she was generally quiet, but occasionally burst into a fury of passion. Under these circumstances, her family, families are leaving their homes and taking up the hotels on Broadway, considering it unsafe for women and children to live out of the city.

NOTES AND NEWS.

GENERAL.

On Friday, 9th inst., as Rosanna Chiscolm, daughter of Gen. Chiscolm, Sec'y of Department Intervale, was crossing the river near her father's residence, she fell into the stream, and said to say, was immediately drowned. The forty-eighth anniversary of the birthday of the Emperor of Brazil took place on the 22nd December, and was celebrated, as usual, by a mass, a military parade, and a grand illumination of public edifices and all loyal Brazilians looked on.

Sir St. George Gore, of England, arrived in Memphis on the 11th inst., on his way to Florida. The Advertiser states that he has six servants, four horses, twenty-one dogs and about 6,000 pounds of baggage. He has a large party, and he will take it out in hunting, fishing, etc., in the glades of Florida. His income is $50,000 per year, and he is not married.

It is proposed to let the women of Ohio settle the question of woman-suffrage for themselves. A resolution has been offered in the House asking the Constitutional Convention to submit to the women of the State a separate clause giving them the right to vote. If a majority vote in favor of it, the clause is to become a part of the Constitution of the State.

There was an exciting scene in the German Landtag, Friday, Herr Mallinckrodt, an Ultramontane Deputy, quoted a passage from a recent work of General Bismarck, and pronounced the statement an audacious and malicious falsehood.

Certain English and American prelates had encouraged the hope that they would be remembered at the next creation of cardinals, and were not a little disappointed when they learnt that only some of the French, Spanish, Portuguese, Austrian and Hungarian colleagues, and not a single English or American, had been elevated to the dignity of Cardinal, although they might easily have given him proof that they were as zealous for the interests of the Church as any of the prelates of the land named.

The Journal of Commerce calls attention to the fact that the Government had made its answer to the indignant protest of the Chamber of Commerce against the Custom House spy system of ordering the arrest of Mr. Acree, a brass importer and manufacturer of Brooklyn, on the charge of violating some ancient revenue law. As in other cases Mr. Acree was despoiled of all his books and papers, which were transferred to the office of Col. Howe, Special Treasury Agent, for examination. Three days previous to seizure the officers had confiscated an invoice of goods, estimated worth several thousands of dollars for some alleged irregularity; and they now hope to find out of Mr. Acree's books the evidence upon which to hold him for a large amount of forfeitures and penalties, and to enrich all persons concerned in the seizure.

Mr. Howe, in the statement which he makes to the reporters, says that he sees his assistants to the duty to ascertain if there was sufficient foundation to the charges to warrant any official action, and they reported to him that they thought there was so it is upon mere thought and conjecture, not proofs, that Mr. Acree's business is interfered with, his books and papers carried off, and his reputation receives a blow. It is regretful for me to decline nomination. If elected, I will support the policy of the present Government, as far as it is consistent with liberal principles and with public morality. The present Administration should receive my hearty support in as far as its acts are consistent with liberal principles and with public morality. I am, very truly, JOHN V. ELLIS.

To the Electors of the City of Saint John.

GENTLEMEN:—

In response to a call from the Reform Party, I have consented to be a Candidate at the ensuing Election. Being so recently entrusted with the great responsibility of representing you in Parliament, and relieved of the same by the dissolution, I feel, after so recent a mark of the confidence of my fellow citizens in electing me as your Representative by acclamation, that it would be ungrateful for me to decline nomination.

If elected, I will support the policy of the present Government, as far as it is consistent with liberal principles and with public morality. Election Cards.

To the Electors of the City

and County of St. John.

GENTLEMEN:—

At the request of a number of you, I hereby announce that I will be a Candidate at the approaching election, to represent you in the Dominion Parliament. I am sorry that the lately formed Government have not previous to bringing on this election, announced any policy, that I could state to you whether I could approve of or not, but, if elected, I will continue my exertions in endeavoring to set justice for this Province, and endeavor to procure grants for the building of a Marine Hospital, and to improve and improve the harbor. Also, I will use my best endeavors to put the employees of the Government, of all grades in this Province, on the same footing and pay as in the other Provinces. I will support the present or any other Government in all measures that I consider good, and oppose those in all that I consider bad, but you must not expect me to give them any factious opposition, or any at all, if they give this Province her rights and promote good measures. I will again enter Parliament with a determination to see independently and, as I cannot in the space of this card, state fully as I could with my views on some matters that I consider important, I will do this in a communication that I will address to you through the City papers. Respectfully soliciting your support.

I am your obedient servant, A. L. PALMER.

To the Electors of King's County.

GENTLEMEN:—

I have the honor to be requested by a large number of influential gentlemen to offer myself for re-election, it affords me great pleasure to do so. And if I have again the honor to represent you at Ottawa, I shall, as in the past, vote for all measures that may be conducive to the welfare of the Dominion, and stand up for the rights of this Province, and endeavor to obtain equal privileges for King's County.

Thanking you for the generous support you give me on the last occasion, and asking the favor of your influence at the coming Election.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant, JAMES DOWVILLE.

To the Electors of the City

and County of St. John.

GENTLEMEN:—

Having been nominated at a meeting called to select candidates for the coming election to represent this City and County in Parliament, (although I have no desire to enter public life, on a full consideration of the matter, I have consented to accept the nomination, and accede to the wishes of many of the electors expressed to me, and put my services at your disposal.

If I should be elected, I will, to the best of my power, attend to all public questions for the benefit of this Province, of the City and County, and the Dominion generally.

I have no reason to suppose that Parliament will at all times meet over extended sessions, but I should like to see it should and it otherwise, I shall decidedly contend for their rights.

I shall, if elected, support the present Government in their efforts to carry Parliament in the introduction of a Bill in the Dominion, and I will do so in the interest of the people, the development of the resources of the Dominion generally.

I remain, Your obedient servant, SIMON JONES.

To the Electors of the City

and County of St. John.

Responding to the general desire of the Reform party to have a candidate thoroughly in accord with the party, I have determined to contest the Election. Should you give me a seat in the Parliament of Canada, as one of your Representatives, I will endeavor to do my duty to the country.

The present Administration should receive my hearty support in as far as its acts are consistent with liberal principles and with public morality. I am, very truly, JOHN V. ELLIS.

The Dominion Parliament having been dissolved, you are again called upon to elect a representative. GENTLEMEN:—

I am again before you a Candidate for this constituency, soliciting your votes as one of your Representatives in the Dominion Parliament. I am perfectly satisfied that the political condition of Canada, caused by the policy of the late Government led by Sir John A. Should be elected to represent you, I will use every exertion for your interests, as well as for the Dominion at large. Soliciting a continuance of your confidence.
