The Ascot Inn held their first annual golf tournament recently for their regular customers. After the golfing, about 40 people returned to the Ascot for an outstanding outdoor barbecue. Tournament organizer George Fath (left) is parable with good French or Spanish wines. The only difference is in the price. All but one of our wines sells for under five dollars a bottle.

Apart from the main dining area, Casa Mendoza has several other rooms; La Bodega del Vino, the wine cellar whose host is Raul Muzlera, and "La Nina", a delightful lounge named after one of Christopher Columbus' ships and decorated with Latin-American naval prints, and the Alameda Room (overlooking Lake Ontario and the city skyline) which, at present, is a reception room for groups up to 160 in number. Soon it will specialize in the seafoods from the southern seas.

"Some of the most delicious crustaceous fish come from the coasts of Peru and Chile," said Dennis Furlani. "And we'll be offering our guests, in all dining areas, the appetizing delicacy 'corvina', a Peruvian bass.

Casa Mendoza has been particularly fortunate in obtaining Latin America's foremost trio, Los Morunos, who will entertain with their favorite Latin-American songs as they stroll and serenade through the restaurant.

Their first engagement in Canada, Los Morunos (Alfredo Aguirre, first guitar, Guillermo Medina, second guitar and singer Manuel Ortiz) have come direct from their home in Lima, Peru where they only recently completed four very successful years as the exclusive entertainers at the southern continent's most exclusive restaurant, Tambo de Oro.

On their arrival in Toronto, Los Morunos recorded for Casa Mendoza a long-playing album of their favorite selections, which is available in the Casa Mendoza boutique.

The grounds of Casa Mendoza descend several hundred yards down to the shores of Lake Ontario. A protected marina nestles the shoreline as part of the new Humber Bay Waterfront Park.

Casa Mendoza may be reached by driving along Lakeshore Boulevard to just near the Humber River, where it is located in the middle of what is called the "west-end motel strip".

Adam's Rib on the Queensway, has been bringing in some fine entertainment to the area. This group is no exception to the rule. They are called Winchester Cathedral, and are directly from England. They will open this coming Monday evening at Adam's Rib Steak House and Tavern.
