Dear Mr. Hunt:

I am slow in writing to thank you for the very happy evening you provided for me two weeks ago. It certainly could hardly have been more enjoyable than it was, and I had particular pleasure in meeting and talking with Mr. Mills and Mr. Atkin. Have since sent Mr. Mills the little Shakespeare book which he asked for, and do hope it arrived O. K.

Please extend my warmest appreciation to Mrs. Hunt for her kindness and trouble.

I think this country is running into something of a jam in its so-called war against Japan. The voluntary basis isn't working out, and most emphatically does not deserve to work out. There is some criticism from the United States at the lackadaisical attitude of this country, and I wonder it is not much greater.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. Lawrence Hunt,
New York, N. Y.
