

CONTENTS

PART I—SEA DAYS

CHAPTER I

Explanatory	PAGE 1
-----------------------	-----------

CHAPTER II

Join my first ship and make my first voyage down Channel—A cure for sea-sickness—Liners of the 'seventies, their accommodation and the diet provided for passengers and crew . . .	7
--	---

CHAPTER III

Burial at sea—Thunderstorm off the Cape de Verde Islands—Ship struck by lightning—A near shave from annihilation and our escape	13
---	----

CHAPTER IV

I go into steam—The eruption of Krakatoa in the Sunda Straits—My attempt to go to Darkest Africa with Stanley . . .	25
---	----

CHAPTER V

Proceed to India—"Giving-'em-fits" as applied to the Company I joined—Life on the coast of India—The coastal run described—A trip to Suakim in the Red Sea in a trooper—Join in the relief of McNeill's Zariba as a camel-driver—Try to pass myself off as correspondent to the War Cry —The General and myself the only two men in the force wearing white helmets	31
--	----

CHAPTER VI

My deliverance from white slavery—Join the Royal Indian Marine Service—A discourse on shipping matters of the present day	39
---	----