

Or rather teach me, if you can,
How to secure inconstant man?
'To me that wond'rous charm impart
By which you hold your husband's heart;
'That if I marry I may know,
'And govern my good man just so.—
'That wond'rous charm,' the pretty bride,
With look complacent, thus reply'd,
'Is but a plain old fashion'd way,

'Would you be happy, learn to obey;
'Tis the first rule in marry'd life,
'The best receipt to make a wife;
'Ne'er roast the meat that he likes
boil'd,
'Trifles like this have often spoil'd
'Conjugal bliss—created jars,
'Domestic feuds, and endless wars:
'When Adam speaks, let Eve be
'mute,
'Be you the first to drop dispute;
'And
