

FOR EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL USE.

USED externally, it stops all pains and prevents blistering of a burn as soon as applied. It prevents swelling, removes pain and discoloration of bruises by a few applications. As a liniment or embrocation it has no equal for Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, Contracted Cords, Calloused Lumps, Painful Swellings, Sprains and Bruises, and lameness of every description. It has cured Chronic Rheumatism of years' duration, after all other means had failed. Stiff Joints have been relaxed that had resisted all other treatment. Neuralgia, Swelled Neck, Enlarged Glands, Spinal Disease, Lamé Back, and all muscular pain, lameness or soreness, speedily and effectually cured by this valuable embrocation. Nothing can equal Yellow Oil for Burns and Scalds, Frost Bites and Chilblains, Inflamed Breasts and Chafed Skin.

Internally used it is equally wonderful in its efficacy. One or two doses cures Hoarseness and Sore Throat. The sufferings of Asthma are relieved by the first dose, and in Croup it is almost a specific cure. Bronchitis and Swelled Tonsils yield to its curative influence. Taken inwardly in doses of from ten to thirty drops on sugar or in water, it relieves Quinsy, Colds, Pains in the Chest, Stomach, Kidney Complaints, etc.

OUR CURE-ALL.

SIR,—A few years ago I was greatly troubled with Earache. My mother tried a great many things, but all in vain; I could get no ease until at last we got a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil, and as soon as a few drops were put in my ears I felt better, and finally the pain ceased and has not since returned. We always keep a bottle on hand, for we find it to be the best remedy for Sore Throat, Frost Bites, Quinsy, Burns, Scalds, Cuts and Bruises—in fact it is our cure-all.

W. E. SWITZER, Arden, Ont.

IT IS AS REPRESENTED.

DEAR SIR,—We use Hagyard's Yellow Oil for Colds and find it as good as represented. Would not be without it in the house.
