Market Review and Forecast

Toronto, Dec. 28.—The total value of the cheese and butter export trade for 1916 amounts to $12,700,000, credits here estimated at $13,222,000, and butter at $1,428,000, according to an excellent review of the Montreal Dairy Producers' Season by the Journal of Commerce. The total export of cheese was valued, with 1,861,000 boxes last year, and 1,822,000 boxes this year. Butter totals were still more satisfactory, being 17,000 packages, compared with 16,000 packages in 1915, and only 7,500 packages in 1914. Export receipts were 372,000 cases in the present season, compared with 379,000 cases in 1915, and 15,000 cases in 1914. The makes of butter and cheese this year have been better than usual. The rise in price due to the foreign demand, caused farmers to put forth greater efforts to increase dairy production. The heavy crop of hay was of material assistance, and contrary to the usual practice, large amounts of mill feeds were absorbed during the summer season. This in turn resulted in great increases in prices, bran rising from 22¢ at the beginning of the year to $33 at present. The relatively low prices for butter, as compared with cheese, has induced some factories to turn out smaller proportions. Fodder butter and cheese are being snatched up at prices very little above those paid in the fall, and auto milk, as a result of the heavy demand has entirely governed the trend of prices throughout the season. The British buyer has been well paid for his heavy production, 50 per cent above normal. This is because of the British war cover, the demand assumed in military hospitals, and the demand in military hospitals, and the decrease in labor to carry on the industry. The embargo placed on Russian exports is also a factor. Only in two instances did heavy buying for storage purposes in Canada affect the market. On the whole, less storing has been done this year than in former years, owing to the prevailing high prices. Small towns that were in vain for the prices to break are now turning to large supply houses for their winter needs.

Wheat. Only a few weeks ago $2.50 wheat was freely peddled. The upward trend which prevailed until over $2.10 was reached led many to believe that these speculations would find their fulfillment. Then the down grade movement set in. A recovery brought the price back nearly to the level of the market, but a decline again set in, and now the prediction is that prices will be considerably below the spring. Breaks of over 15c in one day were registered in Winnipeg, and December wheat prices are 4c over the high mark. Letterly sense talk has been all caused in which speculators have been attracted.
