

FREE TO THE RUPTURED

A New Home Cure That Anyone Can Use Without Operation, Pain, Danger or Loss of Time.

I have a new Method that cures rupture and I want you to use it at my expense. I am not trying to sell you a Truss, but offer you a cure that stays cured and ends all truss-wearing and danger of strangulation forever.

No matter whether you have a single, double or navel rupture or one following an operation, my Method is an absolute cure. No matter what your age nor how hard your work, my Method will certainly cure you. I especially want to send it free to those apparently hopeless cases where all forms of trusses, treatments and operations have failed. I want to show everyone at my own expense, that my Method will end all rupture suffering and truss-wearing for all time.

This means better health, increased physical ability and longer life. My free offer is too important to neglect a single day. Write now and begin your cure at once. Send no money. Simply mail coupon below. Do it to-day.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

WASHY MARE.

We have a valuable Hackney mare, fit for show purposes, excepting for a bad habit or fault. She is a very willing traveller, but cannot trot long before she is very soft in her manure, and gets very bad if driven much. She is in a box stall, and gets plenty of exercise. We never water before taking her out to drive. Please give your advice on what is best to do?

R. C.

Ans.—Purge her with a ball consisting of six drams aloes and two drams ginger; then give daily, in powder, nuxvomica, gentian and ginger, one dram each, to tone up the digestive system. Exercise care in feeding and watering. Feed clean hay and easily-digested grain, as ground oats. Do not water just before driving or after feeding. A mare naturally predisposed to this semi-diarrhea is hard to cure. Have her teeth examined by a competent veterinarian, as they are sometimes the cause of the trouble.

SEPARATING COCKLE — CARE OF RASPBERRIES.

1. Is it possible to get a fanning mill that will separate all the cockle from wheat?

2. What is the proper way to care for raspberry bushes?

J. W.

Ans.—1. Cockle is very hard to separate from wheat, and, while the most improved fanning mills can be so regulated as to take the greater portion of it out, it is doubtful whether all of it would be removed, especially where it is present in large proportion.

2. The soil should be cultivated and well manured before planting. Plantings may be made in fall or spring. Plant in rows six feet apart, and three feet apart in the rows. Keep well cultivated to retain moisture. Allow the canes to make full growth in summer, and if they become very tall they can be headed back to three or four feet in the spring before growth begins. Canes may be thinned in fall or spring. Seven or eight of the strongest canes should be left in a hill with red raspberries, and three or four of black raspberries. The raspberry plantation should be kept well supplied with plant food, but too much nitrogenous material should not be applied, because it induces wood growth detrimental to fruiting. In cold parts, it is good practice to bend the canes down in the fall for better winter protection, the canes being held in place by covering the tops with soil.

MACHINE MATTERS.

A and B bought a machine and agreed to pay for it by payments, A giving all the security. After running the machine for some time, they found that it had not sufficient power to do their work. A and B purchased another, A giving all the security. After working together for a while they dissolved partnership, A giving B old machine for his share, under an agreement that B would pay all notes and debts against said machine. Payment came due. B could not pay it and had it extended. In the meantime B sold the machine, not consulting either A or the company. A went to him about it and demanded the notes B got for machine. He gave A two notes, and, keeping one, not saying anything about the other, and went to the West. A took notes to the bank to cash them to pay company, and banker said notes were no good. Company found out about the sale and demanded the money against machine of A. A was not able to settle with the company, therefore it fell on his security. A's security paid it, and got receipt in security's name. What claim has B on machine, if any, and who can claim machine, A, B, or security?

A SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—We do not see that B has any claim on the machine. On the contrary, the security has a claim on B, for B sold to A for reimbursement, and after settling with the company, B should have claimed against B. Security's claim is against B, and the security is not bound by the sale of the machine.
