For the Children

Br'er Fox and the Bunny.

Once upon a time there was a hen who, in order to be exclusive of her friends of the barnyard, built her nest up the road in a thicket under the fence and started in to raise a brood of chicks.

Everything worked fine, but one moonlight night there came a sudden stop, for down the road came a fox, nosing from side to side, till all of a sudden he spied in the moonlight in the grass the head of Mother Hen on her eggs. Quick as a flash he grabbed her by the neck and dragged her off the nest, and away up the lane he went. Sooth to say, it looked bad for the eggs in the nest. But up from the barn in the lane came loping along, nosing from side to side, a little brown pup, when suddenly he lighted on the vacant nest. Creeping closer, he took in the situation, the warm nest and nobody home. Instead of destroying them the dear little fellow just placed his warm body on the eggs and took the place of the poor mother, kept them warm all night, and the next morning, which was Easter morn, he brought forth a brood of chicks.

FOOD EXPERTS

Discovery That the Number of Food Experts in Canada and United States is Legion.

"Since the announcement of the 'dietetic blended menus' on the C.P.R., Mr. W. A. Cooper, the manager of the dining car service, has discovered that the number of food experts in Canada and the United States is legion. Among other things he has been urged to supply only food on the trains on the ground that, so far, with a judicious culture of the bacillus bulgaricus is a sure method of securing longevity, and preserving the traveller against possible attacks of sclerosis, atheroma and Bright's disease. In vain Mr. Cooper reminds these people that he never set out to produce Methuselahs, but merely to protect people against the possible dyspepsia arising from injudicious eating on a transcontinental journey. In vain he sends them quotations from Dr. Harvey Wiley's standard work on 'Foods and their Adulteration,' in which the 'sour milk' air ship is riddled with scientific bullets. In return he is bombarded with tales and photographs of such as Marie Priou, who lived to the age of one hundred and fifty-eight on cheese and goat's milk and Theuse Abalva, who on her one hundred and eightieth birthday rose early in the morning and proceeded cheerfully to her daily breakfast of barley, bread and buttermilk.

Fifty Against Two. It is not reasonable to expect two weeks of outing to overcome the effects of fifty weeks of confinement. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla along with you. It refreshes the blood, improves the appetite, makes sleep easy and restful.
