A New Industry. After extracting a nail from the stomach of a child, where it had remained for about a week, a Turin surgeon remarked that the iron had become reddish in some places and corroded in others, in exactly the same way as ancient Greek and Roman coins.

These observations, communicated to his colleagues, spread abroad and quite a new industry has sprung up lately in Italy. Traders manufacture spurious coins with the effigy of Trajan and others and force them down the throats of turkeys. They kill them after a few days and withdraw the coins, which thus acquire an appearance of antiquity which deceives the most experienced numismatists.

Corroborative. "Didn't it surprise you when Sir Archibald June-Bagg said to his constituents at the close of his speech the other evening, 'Thankful for past favors, I respectfully solicit a continuance of the same?'" asked the casual acquaintance.

"Not at all," replied the theosophist. "I have always believed Sir Archibald to be the incarnation of some country milliner."—Chicago Tribune.

Coal at Kennetcook

EDITOR THE ADVANTAGE:—

Coal. Coal. Coal. The fever is running high here and also at Stanley, Messrs. Dinckel and Northup the discoverers, or owners, having secured four Arvas in two different lots, an confident they have a good thing. The croppings on Kennetcook River and the Tom Cod have been known or partially known and located for years, but being so far from shipping nothing heretofore has been done in the way of developments. But seeing the results in our localities of testing small seams from one to two and three inches and they increasing so rapidly in thickness our friends lost no time in securing these Arvas. They claim they have seams of outcroppings of three to six inches, and within one foot, increasing in some veins to eight and ten inches. Also the Arva as an in a true coal formation, as described in Mr. Dawson's surveys some 25 years ago. Capitalists in Windsor and Halifax have taken interest and applied for the drill, all are anxious to see developments in the near future.

Sept. 14th Scotch Village.

Gentlemen,—While driving down a very steep hill last August my horse stumbled and fell, cutting himself fearfully about the head and back. I used MINARD'S LINIMENT freely on him and in a few days he was as well as ever.

SCOTCH VILLAGE

Sept. 9th.—Your scribe was one of the many who attended the funeral of the late Captain Eleazar Lockhart of Avondale. The general, quiet, old man, who had a smile and kind word for all, a prominent figure for the past twenty five years in his native place, a true and faithful friend and neighbor, a Christian, was called away at the age of 87. A firm friend of the writer for a number of years, he will be much missed.

Mr. J. A. Brennan of Jamaica Plains, came on in a schooner as passenger and is visiting friends in Mosherville.

The Baptist S. S. united with Upper Burlington in a monster picnic at Mill Brook. It was estimated that nearly four hundred persons were on the grounds.

We are sorry to chronicle the serious illness of Mr. Jeremiah Northup Jr., and Mrs. R. McInnis.

Mr. H. Macumber has come to town with his Thresher. He takes all of the bars in the Kennetcook. His thresher does good work. He, himself is genial and obliging, characteristics of great value in one serving the public in any capacity.

We hear again the whistle of Mr. Cogdon's mill.

The drought still continues. Farmers are finding their turnips stricken with an insect similar to the pea aphid.

Some of our young men on a surveying expedition report a spite. Rabbit, without salt or pepper, very toothsome, when other rations have been exhausted.
