A horrible suicide is reported from Lorida, in Spain. A few days ago a man was breught into the hospital of that place in a dreadful state of mutilation. It appeared that he had locked himself up in his room, ripped himself open with a knife, and tore out his intestines, cutting them into fragments, and throwing them about the ground excitement has, however, increased the then opened the door and called in his wife, whose horror may be easily conceived. At the hospital, being asked his motive for the act, he said he was driven to it by violent pains in the stomach. He lived until the following day.

A STORY OF LONGFELLOW.—Some of the Bohe nian letter writers give us this story of Longfellow:—He was staying a few years ago at Newport, shut up in seclusion, deeply intent upon the production of some poetical work. A man demanded admittance, but was retired by the servant. He was importunate, and Longfellow was consulted, and admittance again denied. At last the man broke through all observations, and burst into the poet's study. "Mr. Longfellow, you must excuse my interruption, but I have business that is of mere importance to you even than me, and I have some down from Boston on purpose to see you. You have the blacking went off because of their verses. Now I am in the blacking business, and I thought if we were to go partners, you could make the rhymes and I the blacking, and we could divide and make a good thing out of it. You see, and placed in an asylum, from which every power the St. Francis at that place, became business, and I thought if we were to go partners, you could make the rhymes and I the blacking, and we could divide and make a good thing out of it. You see the sale of the thing—" Put him out! Put him out! Put him out! Put him out! Pat h

The situation in Mexico.

From correspondence recently published in the New York papers regarding affairs in Mexico, we learn that Maximilian occupied Querctaro. He appears to have seized upon this place as the best point to arrest the progress of the liberal army under Escobedo in its march best point to arrest the progress of the liberal army under Escobedo in its march towards the city of Mexico, and seemed to be waiting there to give the national forces battle. It is said the Imperialist force numbered about eight thousand. The troops of Escobedo had advanced from San Luis Potosi, and occupies the line from San Edips to Sau Miguel, in cluding the little but famous town of Dollores Hidalgo. San Miguel is eighten leagues from Queretaro. The contending armier, therefore, were within two days march of each other. The army under Escobedo's immediate command was not larger if quite as large as that of the Imperialists. But the Liberal generals were rushing forward from various points of the southwest and north to unite with Escobedo in front of Queretaro. All these forces together would amout, probably, to fifteen or eighten thousand men. Should a battle be delayed till these divisions be united—that is, should Escobedo weit till then and Maximilian remain in a defensive attuted at Queretare, the liberals will have a good chance of defeating the Imperialists. But if Escobeco should be too impatient and commence the battle before he is sufficiently strong, there is reason market Square, Comparing the desired for inspected for maximilan has both good generals and troops.

That was the actual situation at latest dates. A battle was expected in the consequence of four days and it is equited like.

course of a few days, and it is quite like by the next news will bring accounts of it. Should the national party be successful that will be the end of the empire; and Maximilian will make the best of his way probably to Texas or the coast. Should the imperialists gain the battle the war may be prolonged for some time.

What Constitutes A Gentlemen.

The late Judbe Taliourd, in a case tried at Bristol assizess, shortly before his death, thus defined the character of a gestlemen; The evidence proved that the defendant, while in the theatre, had said to the plaintiff, "do not speak to me; I am a gentlemen and you are a tradesman."

Gentlemen, "and the learned judge, "is a term does eof a phy to any station. Horse Stealing.—High Donstable Groves airceited an Indian named Mundaway, on Thursday afternoon last, charged with having stolen a horse from Mr. James Blain, who resides in Munceytown. The facts of the case are somewhat as follows:—An Indian, whose name we did not learn, stole a horse from the man specified, and engaged with the Indian now in custody to sell it, which he did, receiving $40 for it. He gave $20 to Indian No. I, and kept $20 himself. In the meantime the real thief went to Mr. Blain received the horse back again, and Indian No. I, the sum of $8. Mr. Blain receiving $40 for it. He gave $20 to Indian No. I, the sum of $8. Mr. Blain received the horse back again, and Indian No. I, quittely decamped. Mundaway, being an necessory to the theft, was necordingly at rested, and examined before Mr. Justice Oury yesterday morning, when he was sent to the Assizes for trial.—[London Free Press.]

Advice to the New York Herald writes from Montreal as follows:—I can only repeat my previously expressed opinion that, while the country of Canada could, in its present shape, be easily gobbled by a large invading force, it is perfectly assless for any Secretary than a mere diversion—that is, unless they invade in force. Their theat is twice as effectual as their assault, for it keeps their opponents in constant anticipation, the whole country is in a fever of excitement and involves an immerase daily expense.

The other day the Emperor of the French descended to the post of troops on guard, situated in the courtyral of the palace, and there, sixting down in the canteen, waited patiently until the cooking of the soldiers soup was terminated. His Majesty them tasted it, and declaring it to be of good quality, had it distributed in the usual way to the men. "Now, gentlemen," he said in taking his departure, "you can partake of it." This kind and simple act of the Emperor produced the greatest enthusiasm amongst the men.—Galignacat.
