A Lively Pig Chase.

A lively chase after a pig might be seen on New Gower Street, at the foot of Theatre Hill, last evening at 6.45, when all the people were coming home from work. Mr. W. Campbell, the victualer, was the owner of the young pig, and he was conveying it in an express wagon to his farm at Rosellan. The pig was lying in the bottom of the carriage in a bag but managed to wriggle out and jump from the vehicle at the foot of Theatre Hill. The pig ran and jumped over the retaining wall near Callahan Glass's factory. The crowd of citizens watching their way home from the East and West all began to take an interest in the proceedings, and many of them made an attempt to catch the pig, but without avail. The animal broke through several hastily formed cordons and got to the foot of James St. in safety. At the head of the street Mr. James performed the stunt which did the needful. He threw himself down on the pig and bore it to the ground. His successful capture was cheered by an excited crowd of citizens who had given up the idea of going home to tea preferring to see the end of the exciting contest. Mr. Campbell was delighted to get his pig back and it is rumored will give the man who captured it a reward.

THURSDAY, Sept. 21, 1911. The Darwin Tulip will certainly be much sought after this season, considering the good things we heard about this plant of the Tulip family last season. Beautiful colors. Named varieties. Price, 45c. a doz. For slight cases of indigestion, heartburn, pain after eating, and similar troubles, Soda Mint and Peppermint Tablets bear the bell. They are quick in action, and help to remove the cause of the complaint. Price, 15c. bottle. Just opened! Allenbury's Food's, Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

FOUND IN COVE.—Just after dark yesterday evening an unfortunate man, who is well known in the city, was found by Const. Squibb overboard with liquor and lying near the breastwork in Steer's Cove. He was driven in a carriage to the station. Had the officer not discovered him he might have gone overboard and been drowned.

CORRECTION.—In the published list of the Belvedere Orphans' Collection, the name of Miss Mary Anne Crotty, Hoylstown, $1.00, was omitted; and Mr. J. J. Speers and Mr. A. Samneron, should have been credited with a dollar each instead of 50 cents.

Looking for Hall.

We understand that of late several theatrical companies have applied to Mr. G. J. Conaghan, of the T. A. Society, for the hall of that body for theatrical purposes, but none have yet been closed with as the terms they want it for are too short. It is not at all unlikely that that latter the Franklyn & Hyatt Coy., to whom the Telegram referred last spring will secure it. They have an excellent combine, a large and much varied repertoire and feature excellent vaudeville so that if they came later they're sure of a successful season.

Police Court News.

John Tolley, a cook of Texas, U.S.A., was to-day accused of maliciously breaking the lock off one of the apartment doors in the S. S. Otto, by picking it and also of deserting the said ship. He was remanded for 8 days, so that the captain can be communicated with about him.

A drunk had sentence suspended to enable him to take the pledge. A clerk was charged with assaulting and beating his wife last night and was arrested under warrant. To-day the case was heard in camera, but as the woman could not come to court, owing to her condition, the man was released on depositing $100 for his future appearance.

A disorderly in his own house was released. A drunk for the 7th time this season was fined $10 or 30 days.

Spanish Revolution Broken.

Special Evening Telegram. MADRID, To-Day.

Strikes in many cities of Spain continue, but the revolution seems to have been completely confounded by the prompt action of the Government. The postponement of the general strike until to-day is regarded as indicating that the backbone of the Revolution is broken. The Government while preparing to take drastic measures does not lose sight of democratic ideals, which have inspired its programme. The Premier declared martial law last night, notwithstanding the Government's respect for the right to strike, if legally followed. "All those who wish to demonstrate in the streets will have their chance to-day," said the Premier. "I am determined once for all to finish those mutterings of Revolution." Houses have been searched, arms seized, and the prisons crowded with ringleaders and political suspects. King Alfonso has announced his intention of remaining in Madrid until the crisis is over. According to official news the situation has improved. The Government believes the movement will be suppressed by Monday.

Sir Robert Hart Dead.

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-Day.

Sir Robert Hart, late Director-General of Chinese Customs, is dead. Sir Robert has been home on a lengthy leave, after spending over half a century in China. He was a member of many learned societies. Almost all the Governments of Europe have conferred Orders on this distinguished Irishman, who in addition bore many Chinese decorations.

Promise Broken.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Just now when such a loud shout is made by the Government of how they are fulfilling their promises, it would be interesting to note how one of their principal promises has been ignored as far as St. Lawrence is concerned. After last election the people here were all expecting an elective Road Board, but that the matter was under consideration as a few heifers of the Government were appointed without further ceremony. Several letters were addressed to the Premier, reminding him of his promise of an elective Road Board, but the replies were invariably that the matter was under consideration, etc. Finally the people were told that they could have an elective Road Board only after a petition was presented, showing that the majority of the people wanted it. It did not take any great amount of intelligence to see to what extent the Government intended to carry out their bluff. We all knew that Sir Edward did not say anything about petitions in connection with electing Road Boards, but to humor him we had a petition forwarded bearing the signatures of seven eighths of the voting population. It is amusing to know that amongst the signatories were some of his strongest supporters who just itched for the chance of signing such a petition so sure were they of its being granted. Needless to say the petition has not been heard of since. It lives in our minds as the memory of a promise.

Yours truly, CONFIDENCE MISPLACED. St. Lawrence, Sept. 18th, 1911.

A Big Success.

The Sale of Work at Judge Emerson's grounds in aid of the C. of E. Orphanage was well attended yesterday and the receipts were beyond expectation. The place had been beautifully decorated with bunting by the men of H.M.S. Brilliant. The C.I.B. Band played some very fine selections. Mrs. C. Harvey to whose efforts the sale is mainly due deserves to be congratulated on the result. The amount of cash taken is very little short of $600.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GARTH IN COWS.

Death After a Scratch.

Morris Quatzam, an eleven-year-old Windsor boy, fell off his bicycle and scratched his wrist. He thought nothing of the injury, but blood poison set in and he is dead.

Such incidents as these—by no means infrequent—ought to make people realize the danger that may lie even in the smallest flesh wound. Take a simple illustration. When a knife, a rusty needle, a splinter of dirty wood, a barbed wire fence, or a thorn, scratches the hand, the latter is inoculated with germs, of which the air about us is full.

The way to avoid serious results is to cleanse the wound and apply Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is a powerful, yet painless germ-killer, and when applied to the broken skin is absorbed into the tissue, instantly destroying the germs that spread disease and stopping the pain and smarting. That is why Zam-Buk is so popular with children.

The flesh thus soothed and purified, the wound is made perfectly healthy, and all poison and cause of festering removed. Having done this, Zam-Buk then proceeds to heal the wound or sore, and new healthy tissue is built up in a quick, painless and perfect manner.

Zam-Buk must not be confused with ordinary ointments. Zam-Buk is a unique preparation, possessing antiseptic, soothing and healing qualities that are not to be found together in any other preparation. It is not only a unique healing balm, but it is also a skin food. For all skin diseases and injuries—cuts, bruises, burns, eczema, chafing, ulcers, ringworms, etc., it is without equal. It is also used widely for piles, for which it may be regarded as a specific. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., per price. Refuse harmful imitations.

The Foods That Make You Fit.

Good Health Depends On What You Eat.

"If people only understood the medicinal value of proper food, doctors would have to shut up shop." Such is the assertion of Professor F. X. Gauraud, formerly chief of the Laboratory of the Medical Faculty, Paris, who has been making a study of the medicinal value of various articles of everyday food. In his opinion, people troubled with heart disease, rheumatism, or disorganization of the nervous system should avoid butchers' meat and in its place eat ham, which is far easier to digest than butchers' meat, and consequently also forms an invaluable food-medicine in cases of dyspepsia.

For tuberculous patients, Professor Gauraud recommends eggs, particularly the yolks. He says the yolk of a fresh egg has distinct detergent effects on the growth of the tubercle bacilli in the human system. Six eggs a day are considered as ample to serve as both food and medicine. For people of rheumatic tendencies, two soft-boiled eggs, with bread and butter, are recommended as making up about one-sixth of the average daily allowance of food such persons should allow themselves. The addition of lot butter in preparing fried eggs, scrambled eggs, and buttered eggs, is condemned because the butter detracts from the digestibility of the eggs.

For Mental Workers. Meat for the mental worker is disastrous. "How often," says the Professor, "do writers after a heavy meal, especially if it consists largely of animal food, complain of making up, drowsy feeling which renders them incapable of accomplishing anything? Try fish," which gives the same satisfaction as meat; allows the same utilization of forces by the labourer and sportsman as well as by those who lead a sedentary life. Nothing," he continues, "can explain the prejudice which so many people have against this article of food. If fish is a little less stimulating in quality, naught but good can come of its use to the system."

For all weak persons, convalescents, and those suffering from nervous depression a supply of meat is beneficial, but the average man in good health can get along better on a diet in which butchers' meat plays a very small part.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

This is the corner of the dead. The grass is sighing as it waves. The night is falling as I tread among the low neglected graves. I knew the men who slumber here, who, silent, wait the judgment morn. THE POTTER'S FIELD. I knew them on his pauper bier—the harvest home of FIELD. I knew them in the gilded bars, and heard them sing the night away; but now, beneath the autumn stars the gilt has turned to graveyard gray. I knew them ere they learned the woes that follow wassail, and the scorn; and here they lie, in ghastly rows, the harvest home of Barleycorn. I knew them when they had their dreams of honor, usefulness and fame; and now the silver starlight gleams upon their hermitage of shame. And other revelers may keep their vigils with the drinking horn; but through the night the dead men sleep, the harvest home of Barleycorn. No weeping widows seek this place to pray above their loved and lost; no mother bends her pious face above the dead hands whitely crossed. Here desolation reigns and broods, and all the landscape is forlorn. The dead men in their solitude—the windmills of John Barleycorn!

New Yacht Arrives.

A FINE VESSEL OWNED BY DR. GRENPELL.

The new auxiliary three-masted yacht George B. Cluett, Capt. C. E. Mille, arrived here yesterday at 3.50 p.m. The vessel was built at Staten Island, N.Y., and was launched on July 1st, to the order of George B. Cluett, a millionaire philanthropist, who presented the vessel to Dr. Grenfell for his work on the Labrador. The vessel is named after Mr. Cluett, and is now on her maiden voyage. She left New York on August 1st, and going to Boston took on board Mr. W. R. Stirling, of Chicago, with his two daughters and other persons interested in Dr. Grenfell's work. She then proceeded to Halifax and after leaving there went through the Gut of Canso, down the Strait of Belle Isle to Forteau and reached St. Anthony on the 21st. After discharging supplies there she visited Battle Harbor, Indian Tickle, Indian Harbor, Nain and went as far North as Kiglapit and then returned South calling at Rigolette, and reached St. Anthony on the 14th inst. She left for here on the 18th and had a good run to port. The ship proved herself to be a fine sea boat, is built especially to withstand ice, and she carries a 75 horsepower Wolverine gasoline engine and is very speedy when running under full sail, on a free wind. The ship is splendidly found and furnished, has large well lit and well ventilated officers' quarters and state rooms, and her lines are very handsome. Her dimensions are:—Gross tonnage, 210; net, 155; length, 113 feet; beam, 25 9/10 feet; and depth, 11 feet. Mr. French, of Bay Roberts, is mate of her, and Isaac Snow and Walter Smith, of the same place, with a Swede, are the scamen on board. As she lay at Job's wharf yesterday she was greatly admired by people who visited the place.

Scoundrel at Large.

Last night as a lady, who resides on Cabot Street West, was going to wards Mr. Horwood's grocery store on that street, she was accosted and jostled by a scamp who for two nights past has been prowling around that part of the street near Butler's Hill where the fountain is situated, which is very dark and where a light is badly needed. Shortly after this another woman was passing by, with her little boy accompanying her, when the same scamp stopped her, used the worst kind of language and attempted liberties with her. The woman sought the friendly shelter of Mr. Mogge O'Neill's house near and became weak when she arrived there. Mr. O'Neill had to escort her home after she revived. It would be well for the Council to put a light there, for the place is a lonely one at night and in total darkness, and it is not the first time that blackguards have annoyed females in this place.
