ANOTHER BONE OF CONTENTION.

PARIS, July 5. The "moral pact of continuous collaboration," which Premier Herriot announced he had brought back from his checkers Court Conference with the British Prime Minister, seems to be already in a bad way. The most serious point of difference between British and French viewpoints concerns the identity of the body which is to decide when Germany shall have defaulted in her engagements. The French newspapers refuse to admit the proposals of the Dawes plan are outside the Versailles Treaty, and declare that the Reparations Commission to replace the Reparations Commission by another body is unjustified. The French cling to the Reparations Commission because they control it. Some opposition papers question the possibility of holding a proposed inter-allied conference on July 15th. They argue if the French and British cabinets cannot adjust their views before that date, they would be unable to do so during the conference and France would run the risk of being exposed to collective pressure and placed in a position of isolation to which the present situation is preferable.

SMITH INCREASES VOTE.

MADISON SQUARE GARDENS, N. Y., July 5.—Governor Smith reached a new high water mark in the balloting for the Presidential nominee in the Democratic Convention to-day, when Ohio, breaking up her block of 43 votes, that had been going to favorite sons, gave Smith 20 1-2 and McAdoo none. Another handful of votes was taken from McAdoo in Michigan and given to Smith. The standing of leading candidates on the seventy-fourth ballot was as follows: McAdoo 310, Smith 344. This was a loss of 18 for McAdoo and a gain of 29 for Smith. Davis received 78 1-2, and a gain of 12 1-2.

FIRE ON STEAMER CAUSES THREE DEATHS.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 5. Three dead as a result of fire on the side-wheeler Three Rivers, of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company, which burned to the water's edge to-day in Chesapeake Bay, near Cove Point. There were 350 passengers on board. This total, which was obtained from weeping hysterical persons clad in make-shift clothing, as they left the rescue steamer Middlesex of the same line, may be swelled when accurate figures are available. Officers of the Three Rivers could not give the cause of fire nor have they any story to advance.

CHINESE SEIZE ARMS ON U. S. SHIP.

SHANGHAI, July 5. Chinese Custom Officials, Saturday raided the American sailing vessel Talbot in port here and seized arms and ammunition valued at fifty thousand dollars. The seizure was made on the grounds that the munitions were to be landed in China in violation of the Arms Convention. The seizure included two hundred pistols and rifles, four hundred revolvers, eight machine guns and 135,000 rounds of ammunition. No arrests were made. The seizure was referred to the American authorities. The Talbot's master is Capt. N. Borredon. She recently arrived here from Vancouver with lumber.

PROTEST FOR PROTEST.

PEKING, July 6. The reply of the Chinese Foreign Office to the British Legation's protest over the murder at Wanchow of Edwin Hawley, protests in turn against the action of the commander of the British gun-boat Cockchafer in compelling the highest military leaders of Wanchow to attend Hawley's funeral. Hawley, a United States citizen and former missionary, in the employ of a British concern, was killed by Chinese junkmen last month in a dispute over the shipment of wood and oil by steamers instead of in junks.

PROPOSAL TO GUARANTEE DEPOSITS.

OTTAWA, July 5. In a report to the House of Commons the Banking and Commerce Committee recommended that the Government should consider the practicability of establishing in the chartered Banks of Canada an additional class of savings accounts in which deposits would be protected against loss up to $3,000 by the establishing of a fund on an insurance basis. The premium would be contributed by the depositor and the Bank in such proportion as "may be determined." The Committee also recommended the Government work out the detail upon conference with the Banking Institutions of Canada.

BOOM IN COAL SHIPPING.

GLACE BAY, July 5. The past week has been the most active at Coal shipping piers of any week, during the last four months, according to a statement made to-day by local officials of the Coal Company. The steamer Lord Strathcona is loading a cargo of 10,000 tons at Sydney, and the steamer Hochelaga is due this afternoon to take on 7,000 tons. Operations will be resumed Monday at the new colliery, No. 18, which has been closed for a week owing to an accident to the main hoisting engine.

ENLARGING OIL PLANT.

HALIFAX, July 5. The Imperial Oil Company is to spend $200,000 improving its plant at Imperial, according to a statement made to-day by D. M. Allen, plant superintendent. Work is to start at once on the erection of a bubble tower which will make the local plant the leading oil plant in Canada and place it above American plants for excellence and equipment.

Is Your Dog Brainy?

TRUE STORIES OF CLEVER CANINES.

In a cafe in London a few weeks ago a man rose from a table and left a pair of gloves on a chair near by. A dog which attended him followed his master to the cashier's desk; then, seeming to realize some fact, darted back to the chair, picked up the gloves in his mouth and carried them to their owner.

The intelligence of the dog appears to be unlimited. His eagerness for work is so great that nothing but chains or iron bars will keep him from doing what he has been taught to regard as his own particular duty. In a mining village in the North of England a powerful retriever became popular because of his victories in battle and his ability to human beings.

True to His Trust.

He was very friendly with a certain workman, who would sometimes boast that the dog would do more for himself than for his master. One day such a remark was made in the presence of the owner of the dog, who replied: "I will place a hand-basket in the middle of the field over the way and ask 'Bob' to mind it until I come for it. If you can pick up that basket I will give you five pounds."

The challenge was accepted. As the hostile one approached, Bob wagged his tail in friendly greeting, but growled ominously when an attempt was made to touch the basket. At the second attempt the dog threw friendship to the winds and fell upon his old friend, standing guard over him with bared teeth until called off by his master.

Dog as Doorkeeper.

A Glasgow citizen owned a Newfoundland dog which appointed himself to a job. Its habit was to spend its days in front of an office. On the approach of a client it ran to the door, pulled the bell, and returned to its position to watch for the arrival of other clients.

It is an open question whether dogs possess reasoning powers, but some of them have a wonderful way of "putting two and two together." A fox-terrier had a horror of firearms and would bolt at the sight of a gun. An investigation into the circumstances of the animal's early life resulted in the explanation.

The terrier was being trained for sport as a youngster, but declined to come to heel when ordered. The keeper decided on cruel discipline. Charging his sporting gun with fine shot, he allowed the dog to run to a safe distance and then ordered it to heel.

Bought Its Own Bread.

It failed to obey, whereupon he aimed and pulled the trigger. The terrier, although unhurt, was badly startled. It rushed home and never again would it knowingly remain in the presence of a gun.

A more palatable story comes from Edinburgh, where a crossbred Newfoundland discovered the value of a penny. He was often presented with coins, which he carried to a neighbouring baker, receiving in return a roll of bread. Once his master, having seen the dog eating rolls several times during the day, kept watch on his movements. Then he discovered that the dog had found a box full of coppers in an upper room of the house. As appetite came upon him he helped himself to a copper and spent it with the baker.

Armistice

Is Armistice a trilling truce between the acts of world-wide war? And must the butchery of strife make void the higher law? Has Armageddon been, will not be, and has the world's great artery bled, And have the fields of many lands been sown with noblest dead? Is Armistice a trilling truce above the patriot's narrow bed, And has the hope of lasting peace blown forth with wings outspread? We sound the call the cause is right, and only right shall right the wrong.

The burden of the weak must be the portion of the strong. The vulture, War, still hovers near; he, scolding carnage, will not fly; Perchance, if other victims fall, Old time himself may die. The price of Peace is amply paid, the wage of War is foully won; Come, armies of the unafraid, your strike has scarce begun. By war, we do not vanquish war; by strife, we are not freed from strife. Death is not swallowed up of death, but life by higher life. The Royal Prince of Peace alone can give us power to right the wrong; The burden of the weak must be the portion of the strong. (Miss) S. J. PERCIVAL.

Eat more fish is a good suggestion, but be sure that your fish is fried in delicious Crisco. advt.

Peculiar Facts and Figures.

Dining cars on electric trams have been introduced in Germany. As early as 1188 a building on the site of the Old Bailey, London, was used as a jail. In 1750 a bad epidemic of jail fever resulted in the death of the Lord Mayor and some of the sheriffs, and from that time it became the custom to present a nose-ja to each of the judges and sheriffs as they came into court. The floor was also strewn with rosemary, lavender, thyme, mint, and so on. This custom still holds good to-day.

Two Arab brothers, Cosmos and Damien, are the patron saints of pharmacy. They practised healing gratuitously at Egaa, in Cilicia, during the fourth century. Angels are reputed to have rescued them from three attempts to kill them.

The stained-glass window of York Minster is 76 ft. 9 in. high and 32 ft. wide, and is the largest of its kind in the world. There is not one piece of glass larger than the top of an ordinary teacup. There is a larger window in Gloucester Cathedral, but the glass is supported by masonry.

Four Japanese statesmen visited this country recently to study our system of trial by jury, and their report has resulted in an official declaration in Japan in favor of the adoption of our legal procedure.

Under a will dating back to the sixteenth century, the Mayor of Nottingham receives sixpence if he goes to a certain church service in memory of the husband of the testatrix. Claws on its wings as well as on its legs enable the hoatzin, a South American bird, to climb trees like a cat.

The "wear" of our silver coins while in circulation causes their value to decrease £11,000 annually. Glass is said to have been made by the Egyptians 8,000 years ago.

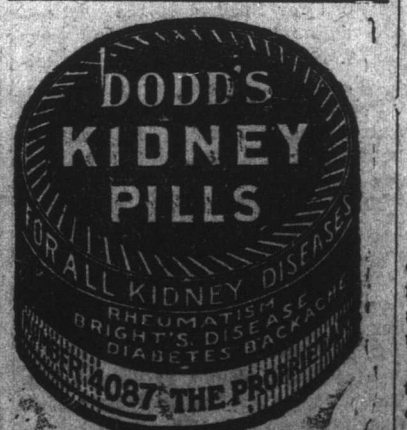

Your grocer will be glad to recommend Crisco for frying fresh codfish. The chances are he is using it in his own home and knows how good Crisco fried fish tastes.—advt.

A Long, Long Road

A Bill will shortly be presented to Parliament for the making of a motor road between London and Manchester, which may possibly set a pattern to the world.

The new road, however, will not be the first motor road, or by any means the longest. At the corner of West Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue, New York City, there is a sign which might be passed by unnoticed, yet which is surely one of the most remarkable in the world: "Lincoln Highway: To San Francisco 2,384 miles."

This great motor road, connecting New York with San Francisco, was designed as a memorial to the martyred President Lincoln. It has an average width of sixty feet, passes in a direct line through twelve States, and is fourteen miles longer than the trans-Continental telegraph route.

Feuds in the Animal World

WHY SOME CREATURES REFUSE TO FIGHT.

That animals carry on feuds with other animals is a fact known to natural history authorities; but most animals are prone to avoid hostilities that will lead to nothing but wounds. Most creatures fully comprehend their own powers and those of others capable of inflicting injury and they are unwilling to risk possible hurt or even escape in violent effort to little purpose. Thus declared a writer in "The Scientific American" the puma and the bears, though undoubtedly possessing a hatred for each other due to their seeking similar game, hold a truce rarely if ever broken.

The Cleverness of Snakes.

Feuds between different species, one or both of which threaten the safety of the other's young, are not uncommon, and this is the chief cause of such hatreds as exist between the wild-cat and the wolf, the mink and the fox, the racoon and the weasels. The enmity that the crow displays towards the hawk is an example, and it is shown also by the suspicion with which all herbivora regard members of the larger felines and canines. Among the reptiles certain feuds exist that are more difficult to explain; such is the kind snake's desire to destroy all poisonous and some non-poisonous species larger and seemingly more powerful than itself. Nor is it understood why the rattlesnake shows a readiness to inflict its horribly aggressive defence upon dogs, cats, larger birds, and humans, and regards with indifference the nearness of horses and cattle, unless trodden upon. Its enmity for the hog is natural enough.

Stiff Joints

Linger up with Minard's Liniment. Leading athletes use it.

It may seem strange, also, considering the small intelligence with which we credit reptiles in general, that the skunk and some reptiles readily distinguish herbivorous from carnivorous animals, fleeing from the latter and approaching deer and cattle to feed upon the flies that they attract.
