GOVERNMENT WILL BUY FISH

Total Catch in Ontario Will Be Under Government Control

Toronto, Jan. 11 .- With the question of policy in connection with fish supplies settled, Hon. Finlay G. Macdiarmid is now applying him-self to the problem of securing ade-quate cold storage a soommodation for the millions of pounds of fish that will be taken over and above the current demand, while the fish are running strong. Although nothing definite has been arranged, it is understood that the minister is endeavoring to come to an understanding with the Toronto authorities in respect to the use of the municipal abbatoir. London and St. Thomas will be cold storage centres for Western On-tario. Both cities, according to Hon. Mr. Macdiarmid, have excellent facilities and a large percentage of the fish caught in Lake Eire will be sent there. It is yet a little early to tell how the fishermen will regard the new clause in their licenses, but Mr Macdiarmid believes that the fisher. men will, after giving the matter a little thought, realize that they are benefitted rather than injured. The entry of the Government in the market as a large buyer of fish will give stability to prices and protect the fishermen from exploitation at the hands of dealers in the United States. In past years, owing to the small home demand for fish, the bulk of Ontario's output has gone to the United States cities and at times when the supply was large the fishermen often received next to nothing for their catch.

"I know of scores of cases when the fishermen not only received nothing, but were informed that their fish had not met express charges and were called upon to make up the difference," said Hon. Mr. Macdiarmid. The Government in giving the people of Ontario fish at cost is building up for the fishermen a great home market that will put the fishing industry upon sounder basis than in the past."

AGRICUTURAL SOCIETY MEETING

The Society's Finances In Splendid Shape -The New Officers

The annual meeting of the West Elgin Agricultural Society was held at Wal-lacetown yesterday. The additors' re-port was very gratifying, showing a cash balance on hand of $587 45. This will almost wipe out the liabilities in-curred during previous years, when the carred during previous years, when the attendance was largely diminished by the unfavorable weather which the Society had to contend with for two or three years in succession -Receipts-

Two Persons Killed and Several Injured at Alvinston

A dreadful accident occurred on A dreadful accident occurred on the St. Clair branch of the M,C.R. on Tuesday afternoon when a ponderous snow drive by three engines left the rails, with the re-ult that two men, Fred. Tavender and Edward Cunningham, section-men, of Waterford. were killed and several others injured, these being Geo, Stickles, sectionman, of Waterford; Eugene Poulson, brake-man, Fred. Little, engineer, J. E. Johnson, division engineer, and I.

man, Fred. Little, engineer, J. E. Johnson, division engineer, and I. C. Taylor, all of St. Thomas. The plow was smashed into match wood and the engines were derailed and thrown over on their eides. sides.

As the charge was being made on the drift one of the rails spread, the plow shot to one side and the engines crashed into it.

"Tavender was in front of the plow operating the levers and was unable to get out. Cunningham was on the first engine, and was the only one of the crew who failed to jump. Several of those engaged in the work had miraculous escapes.

The transfer of one of the most désir-able farm homes in Western Ontario took place last week when W S. R. Me Cracken disposed of his property adjoining Glencze to Godfrey McMur-chy, of Gienside. Sask., for $17,000. The farm consists of 188 acres, mostly in a highly improved state, and has modern house and barns and other buildings. Mr. McMurchy is formerly of Aldborough, and has been engaged extensively in agriculture in the West for a number of years. The transfer of one of the most desir-

And if you concentrate your mind on the subject you really can make on the subject you really can make yourself most micrable with think-ing of all the things that may have fallen into the soup while it was cooking—and I unyself have found a good number of them. For, after all, soup is soup, and once a thing is cooked it cannot harm you, unless, of course, it is something that is deadly 3 00 course, it is something that is deadly poison. And what is good, too, is more a matter of custom than anything else. The Japanese do not always agree with us as to what is the most delicious dish, and they are not quite so easily disgusted. In certain small towns they play a sort of game known as Yamijiru, which means "dark soup." This soup, indeed, is a veritable witchy, mysterious soup, for nobody knows what is going to be in it—and yet they all have to eat it. The soup is usually made on a dark night, and cocked in an immense cauldron in the kitchen, and each boy or girl, as he comes into the kitchen, drops something of his own choosing in the soup. Perhaps it is a turnip, or an apple, or a top the soup. his own choosing in the soup. Per-haps it is a turnip, or an apple, or a fish, or a handful of rice, or a potato —but whatever it is, it must be done quite secretly. And when the soup is finished cooking, they all sit around eating it, and fishing for the blues it containes, which off are too things it contains, which off are too uite a "surprise package" Ent is surprise package "

Imagine your prise, then, if you are one of guests, when you discover a fr lizard, or baby snake in your dish And yet I do not think it has even been recorded that anyone ever dicd from eating this strange "mysterious soup"—and so you do not want to feel any more than naturally alarmed when you discover something in your food that you are not in the habit of eating.
