CITY'S INDUSTRIES RAPIDLY DEVELOP

London Enters Era of Manufacturing Expansion On Large Scale.

A city of greatly diversified indusries, London is one of the larger manufacturing centers of all Canada. Its industrial products are sold from the Atlantic to the Pacific and are exported to every corner of the world.

At world exhibitions in France and elsewhere, London occupied no inferior position, and as an inevitable result, such articles as enamelware, concrete making machinery, pianos, hosiery, pumps, grain grinders, trucks, etc., made in London, find ready market, not only within the British Empire, but in other lands as well

London's leading industries include stoves, cigars, biscuits, candy, boots and shoes, rolling mill products and ready-to-wear garments, while develop-ments within the past two years indicate that in time this city bids fair to become one of the more important automotive manufacturing centers of Negotiations now in progress for the location here of new industries is concrete testimony that London has entered upon a new but greater era of industrial expansion.

Confidence Half the Battle

ONE HAS often heard the expression that "confidence is half of the battle," and this applies to business endeavor even as it does in the world of sport.

It matters little what the particular problem may be once full confidence in the future is lacking, defeat is practically assured.

Now, as possibly never before in the history of London, is it time to maintain a bold front and view the situation with undoubted optimism. And London's vast possibilities must be recognized by any thoughful person who pauses long enough to consider them.

There are people today, however, who fail to realize that our merchants, both wholesale and retail, have at their very doors one-eighth of the entire population of this great Dominion. Moreover, it is well known that they comprise the richest in the country.

These facts alone, coupled with the concrete results of past years, has convinced those business firms and manufacturers, whose advertisements appear on this page, that 1922 holds for London nothing less than prosperity of an unparalleled nature.

"Succeed with London during the remainder of the year," is no idle boast with them. They have grouped themselves into a boosters' club, and have invited others to participate in this effort to improve district trade conditions, give employment to men and so insure untold success and prosperity through the months to come.
