Juvenile Court Function Is Building of Character Says London's New Judge

Rev. G. Q. Warner Tells Kiwanians How He Proposes To Conduct Local Court—Will Follow Toronto Methods.

Evidence of the efforts of the local Kiwanis Club toward the establishment of a juvenile court in the city was forthcoming at its meeting in the Kiwanis House today, when Rev. G. Q. Warner, judge of the court, and Major Bradshaw, the newly-appointed probation officer, spoke.

"If we find it necessary to advertise London by sending children to institutions, you may be sure they will be only of the most hardened type with whom we find it impossible to adopt any other course," Mr. Warner said at the outset, an explanation of policy which was received by the Kiwanis Club with applause.

"I have a deep-seated horror of reform institutions as a general rule. Except in the most difficult cases, children are best out of them."

Speaking of his own appointment to the post, Mr. Warner referred to his previous experience, which had been mainly with hardened types and professional cracksmen.

No Experience.

"I have had no experience with the work of a juvenile court but what I had taught me what happens when there is no constructive effort during the formative period of child life. It is next to impossible to effect any influence with older men, but it is possible to save the majority, if not all, of juvenile delinquents. I should say the function of a juvenile court was less along court lines than to build character among children who committed crime through causes for which they were not responsible."

Copy Toronto.

"As for my own policy with regard to the court, it will be to follow as much as possible in this city methods similar to those which are already established in Toronto. Major Bradshaw has been in Toronto for four days with the chief probation officer of the court there, and if the cases here are only a percentage of those in the larger city, it will still be necessary to use methods which are as painstaking and effective."

"This means every child will be examined mentally, morally and physically, and with regard to his entire relationship with the community. As far as possible, we don't want to commit any children to a home. We ought to accept it as a challenge that the best environment for children can be found right here in London."

"Writing a check is one of the simplest things a man can do to help the court. We need money, it is true, but we need as well the personal influence of citizens, and I hope we can look upon the Kiwanis Club as a sort of big brotherhood in our work."

Get Children Young.

"If we get a child under our care while it is young enough and plastic enough, then environment is everything and antecedents practically nothing. It is upon this principle that Dr. Barnardo works, and proof that it is effective is contained in a report which shows that 98 1/2 per cent of the children sent to Canada from Barnardo homes have made good. He has shown there is such a thing as regeneration of character, and with proof that there can be success in so many instances, there is no work more fascinating or more thrilling than rebuilding character."

Major Bradshaw made it plain he did not want his position of probation officer mixed up with the idea of a "policeman and a big stick." "I am going to keep as many youngsters away from the judge as I can," he said, "and when I find it will feel that I have failed a little, necessary to bring one into court I shall be brought in by the police, of course, are out of my jurisdiction, but I want youngsters to know me as a friend and not as a police officer, and the more we can do to keep them out of the courts, the better off we will be."

OVER-ORGANIZATION ENDANGERS CHURCH

Bishop Warns Against Elimination of Personal Contact To Save Souls.

Canadian Press Despatch. Brantford, June 1.—The permanent establishment of the Hamilton Conference summer school on a site of 45 acres west of Normandale, was recommended to the Hamilton Conference this morning.

C. P. McGregor, of the Laymen's Association, speaking on the question of sustentation, declared that the cities were as bad as the rural sections in their failure to support the sustentation fund to augment ministerial salaries in smaller places. He distributed envelopes calling for district pledges to the fund, the delegates to go back after the conference and see that the pledged amount was raised.

Bishop Burt, of Buffalo, gave an address in which he stressed the value of personal contact in evangelism, saying that the one by one method was the most effective. There was a danger that the Methodist Church would fall under the spell of the newspapers and out of the courts, the better off we will be."

JOHNSTONE FUNERAL
LARGELY ATTENDED

Many Friends of Late Delaware Resident Honor Him in Death.

So large was the crowd that gathered in Delaware yesterday afternoon from every section of the district for the funeral of the late Henry C. Johnstone that before the services started in Christ Church that edifice was crowded and many had to stand in the aisles or wait outside.

Mr. Johnstone was born in Middlesex County and had farmed in Delaware Township for many years, later entering the grocery business in the village. His integrity and good-natured disposition was known to all the residents in the surrounding townships, and his cheerful presence will be indeed missed in the district in which he was born and reared.

Many beautiful floral tributes were sent by friends and relatives. The services were in charge of Rev. E. C. Crowell of Christ Church.

The pallbearers were: Alton Ryckman, John E. Plimcoe, Robert Reid, Percy B. Seabrooke, Henry Hannam and Octavius Weid.

Curzon Attacks Search For Bones of Pocahontas

Believes Some Excuse For Excavations at Tutankhamen's Tomb, But Declares Dead Should Be Spared.

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 1.—Marquis Curzon, the foreign secretary, has added his voice to the protest against the search at Gravesend for the bones of the Indian princess, Pocahontas.

Addressing a meeting of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings last evening, he denounced the destruction of works of art in the past, and asserted that reverence for ancient buildings was a civilizational sentiment. He said that it was indeed almost a religious cult, and added: "But there is one thing which takes which seems to me to be a crime for taking up the remains of the dead."

Says Methodist Education Highest of All Churches

Rev. Dr. Graham Makes Plea For the Continued Support of Victoria College at Conference in Sarnia—Miracles Should Not Be Discredited.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, June 1.—Stating the Canadian Methodist Church has the highest educational standard of any branch of world Methodism, and quoting Principal Fraser of the Montreal Presbyterian College as saying the Methodist educational standard was the highest of any Protestant church in Canada, Rev. Dr. J. W. Graham, secretary of education for the Methodist Church, appeared before the London Conference, and asked continued support for the educational activities of the church, and especially Victoria College.

Rev. I. G. Bowles, president of the Toronto Conference, brought greetings from his conference to the London Conference, and in the course of a forceful address said that he had no sympathy for teaching or preaching that minimized the supernatural or tried to discredit miracles.

Rev. Frank Lankford of Toronto emphasized religious education work, after which Rev. Byron Snell of Alvinston brought in the report of religious education work within the conference.

Rev. John Garbutt of London led in a discussion as to the most adaptable way of giving religious instruction, so that the instruction would not interfere with the work of the regular Sabbath schools. This matter was being discussed up until the time of adjournment at noon.

LOCAL CUSTOM HOUSE BETTER TO PAY TAXES TO HOLD AUCTION SALE IN SINGLE AMOUNTS

Many Citizens Leave American Goods Unclaimed Owing to High Duty.

In the course of a year hundreds of Canadians order merchandise from United States firms, and when the goods arrive are appalled at the amount of duty they are required to pay, which results in many of the would-be purchasers leaving goods with custom officials.

These unclaimed articles collect so fast the local officials have to hold a public auction every six months or so to make room for the next haul of goods.

One of these public auctions will be held on June 10, at 10 a.m., and will continue until the merchandise has been disposed of. The list for the auctions reads: 121 boxes of goods, cotton packages, cleaners, auto parts, boots, shoes, rubber cement, typewriter, rifle, spark plugs, electric iron, revolvers, cigarettes, suit cases, pen-knives and a trunk.

PORCH FIRE.

A small fire broke out today on the porch of the old King street school between Thames and Ridout streets, and the blaze was quickly extinguished by the fire department with chemicals. The damage was slight.

Curzon Attacks Search For Bones of Pocahontas

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 1.—Marquis Curzon, the foreign secretary, has added his voice to the protest against the search at Gravesend for the bones of the Indian princess, Pocahontas.

Addressing a meeting of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings last evening, he denounced the destruction of works of art in the past, and asserted that reverence for ancient buildings was a civilizational sentiment. He said that it was indeed almost a religious cult, and added: "But there is one thing which takes which seems to me to be a crime for taking up the remains of the dead."

Lord Curzon, after mentioning several instances in point, including the excavation at King Tutankhamen's tomb, for which he thought there was some excuse because of the artistic and historical results obtained, referred to Pocahontas. He said he had just read of "a lot of skulls gathered around the site of her interment, where they are finding a heap of skulls and bones, while men of science are actually sitting by to discover whether among this pile of debris they can find a skull with some black hair on it."

"In our passion for antiquity," the foreign secretary added, "let us at least spare the dead."

Inasmuch as the permission of Home Secretary Bridgman was necessary before the search at Gravesend became possible, it is believed that Lord Curzon's comment will not escape remark.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS CONTINUE TO GROW

Last Month Almost $40,000 Ahead of May, 1922.

In the past four or five years one class of Dominion revenue which has consistently increased is the receipts of the customs. The last yearly report of the London customs house established a record for increased business in this district and judging by the May receipts the revenue at the end of this year bids fair to equal if not better the last statement.

The grand total for the past month as compared with May for 1922 brings out an increase of $33,371.27. The receipts this year were $301,554.98 and for the corresponding period last year $268,183.71.

The most substantial increase is noted in the domestic sales tax with a jump from $91,252.07 in 1922 to $118,043.92, a growth in business of $26,791.85.

There were only two decreases and these were small—$456.83 in sundries and $317.35 in domestic excise tax.

The report as prepared by H. W. Wooster, cashier, is as follows:

Import duties, May 1923, $126,279.24; May 1922, $122,895.61; increase of $3,383.63.

Grand total, 1923, $301,554.98; 1922, $268,183.71.

One of the most enjoyable banquets of the season was the "Feast of the Nations" given last evening by Forest City Chapter, O. E. S., in the rooms in Alma Block, England, Ireland, Scotland and Canada were represented at the tables, which bore emblems of each country.

The Scotch table, laden with shortbread, oat cakes and cheese and decorated with purple iris flowers and old Scotch candlesticks, was in charge of Mrs. M. Horner, convener, assisted by Mrs. James Hendry, Mrs. Gale, and Miss Betty Saunders. Gay Scotch lassies, who opened the evening with the pipes, were Miss Jean Horner and Miss Peggy Robins.

Green flags combined with golden daffodils made effective decorations for the Irish table. The assistants, who wore Paddy green kerchiefs and old Scotch canneliers, were: Mrs. Albert Glinz, convener; Mrs. A. Kreidler, Mrs. A. Lee and Mrs. T. J. Redman.

Mrs. Harry Harding convoked the English table assisted by Mrs. T. Tozier, Mrs. T. Shaw, Mrs. Arthur Wilkes, Mrs. William Cross, and Mrs. J. Dunkley, all wearing red, white and blue caps, with sashes to match. Candies in red, white and blue in little baskets decked the tables, and the menu included roast beef, English jams and seed cakes.

Lilies and quantities of tulips adorned the Canadian table, where Mrs. F. Corp was in charge, assisted by Mrs. W. Newman, Mrs. C. Stillson, Mrs. Charles Linnell, Mrs. H. Bond and Mrs. D. Gilmour.

Following supper, a clever program was presented, which had been arranged by Mrs. W. T. Weamers and Mrs. Fred Tullett. Those taking part were Peggy Robins, Helen Galbraith, Helen Wilkey, Kate Davis, Mrs. George Stark, Jean Horner, Fannie Mills, Miss Harding, Ethel Lewis and Mrs. M. Horner.

One hundred and twenty-five Shriners from London and their wives will leave by special train on Sunday for the annual meeting of the Imperial Council, Mystic Shrine at Washington.
