A very strong plea is made for an increased time in which religious education can be given to the children, it being felt that the single hour on Sunday is utterly inadequate to meet the demands of the day. A special committee has been appointed of the social service.

Judgment was reserved for another week by Magistrate Graydon in police court this morning when John Boyd appeared on a charge of having a large quantity of liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. Hundreds of bottles of synthetic whiskey and gin were found by police two weeks ago in a barn at the Western Fair grounds.
