PROHIBITION. Why the Movement Will Triumph-Hi

Ticket for 1884. From the Brooklyn Eagle, Oct. 16. Dr. Talmage yesterday morning preached from "National Prohibition" to an immense congregation, the Tabernacle being literally packed. His text was from Revelation, xii., 3, 4 : "Behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads. And his trate as a lunatic. tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven." Some commentators think the red dragon of Revelation means one thing nicely painted and refitted throughout: and some another. There is such a wide difference of opinion that I feel at liberty monster of intemperance. Last Sabbath in my discourse I reprehended the degradation of the two political parties of this day, tion of the two political parties of this day, and suggested that, as probably they might have fulfilled their mission, the loss of both of them would not be a very great loss. The republican party was organized to kill slavery. Well, slavery is dead and damned. The republican party having accomplished its objects, if it should pass out of existence I could see no very great loss. I said to you last Sabbath there needed to be in this country some great party with a God-given sublime idea. I said to you that the first principle of that party ought to be the recognition the sternal God in the affire of men and the sternal God in the affire of men some great party with a God-given sublime idea. I said to you that the first principle of that party ought to be the recognition the eternal God in the affairs of men and governments. I went on also to show you that such a party ought to be antagonistic to all national wastefulness and the friend of all national economy. This morning I take a step further, and say that such a party ought not only to whisper but to thunder against the curse of curses, the abomination of abominations, the infernalism of infernalisms—the intemperance of this country; and that with national—not state, but national—prohibition it ought to go forth to slay this red dragon of my text. If you have any idea, my friends, that the prohibition victory in Kansasand in Iowa is a fanatical paroxysm you have made a very great mistake. In six years the prohibition in the state until he is a pronounced prohibitionist, and in twelve vears it will hold the balance of power, so that no man can be governor, or lieutenant governor or secretary of state, or hold any important position in the state until he is a pronounced prohibitionist, and in twelve vears it will have its president in the white house. [Applause] I wish that what I say this morning might be received in entire silence. No narty has ever risen into power so rapidly as the prohibition party is now rising. The anti-slavery party came out from under the mountain of scorn and contempt to take the presidential chair and both houses of congress, but the prohibition and both houses of congress, but the prohibition and the was told to call again.

A PROHIBITION TICKET FOR 1884. I nominate for president and vice-president of the United States in 1884—caring not which is the first or which is the second name on the ticket, although one is a republican and the other a democrat, and the one a western man and the other a southern man, but both pronounced prohibitionists—Gov. St. John of Kansas and Gov. Colquitt of Georgia. The far west ought to have by this time a man in the white house, and now that the war is over not which is the first or which is the sec-ond name on the ticket, although one is a republican and the other a democrat, and white house, and now that the war is over let us prove that it is over and that we realize that it is over by nominating to the highest or next to the highest office the ious Georgian. the temperance men, the men belonging to the temperance societies, stop their quarrelling about this, that and the other insignificant thing—let this contention between the great temperance societies of the temperance and the other insignificant thing—let this contention between the great temperance societies of the temperance societies of the temperance societies of the temperance men, the men belonging to the temperance societies, stop their quarrelling about this, that and the other insignificant thing—let this contention the temperance societies, and the temperance societies, and the temperance societies, stop their quarrelling about this, that and the other insignificant thing—let this contention the temperance societies, and the temperance societies and the temperance societi insignificant thing—let this contention between the great temperance societies of America cease and the 70,000 men belonging to the temperance societies of the state of New York join hands with the hungreds of New York join hands with the hundreds of thousands of temperance men in other states, and the millions of men who belong to no temperance society, but who are anxious for the salvation and disenthralment of this country, and the work will be done, and done in less time than I tell you. First of all we want an amendment to the constitution of the United States, ratified by three-fourths of the states on award.

An old hall thief named Isabella Reid by three-fourths of the states-an amendsale of alcoholic liquors in all the states and territories, except for medicinal, artistic, mechanical and scientific purposes, and a prohibition of the importation of foreign alcoholic liquors, except for the same purposes. We except for the same purposes. We want a great national convention this mand an amendment to the constitution of the United States for national prohibition. and I invite such convention to come to Brooklyn, and as on this platform, in this house, last winter, Governor St. John, of house, last winter, Gevernor St. Jonn, or Kansas, and Governor Colquitt, of Georgia, stood side by side in temperance meeting, I ask that national convention to hold their session in this house of God. The prohibi-tion law has been executed in parts of Maine, in parts of Maryland, in parts of those states throughout and throughout. Give us such a law in these Atlantic cities, and if the authorities did not execute it we would do as the Forty-niners did in California, and we would form vigilance committees and we would make quick work with the offenders. Give us such a law of prohibition in Brooklyn and if the authorities did not execute it some Sabbath, standing in this place, I would marshal a battalion of strong armed men and we would go out, and in the name of our Lord God Almighty we would shut up all the grogshops in Brooklyn. My friends, the churches of God—all the churches of God, will come in solidly on this subject The rum drinking professors of religion will go clear over to the devil, who owns them now from hat to heel—[langhter]—and the Methodist church and the Baptist church and the Congregational church and the Presbyterian church, led on by some Dr. Guthrie, and the Roman Catholic church, led on by some Father Mathew, will come in on this cause, and then the question will be so thoroughly settled and the work will those states throughout and throughout. Give us such a law in these Atlantic cities, and then the question will be so thoroughly settled and the work will be so thoroughly done that after you and I are dead and gone, and far on in the future, in a museum in this country there will be standing on the same shelf the lachrymal of an ancient temple and the demijohn of a modern wine cellar, both alike curiosities; and the antiquarian in his lecture will explain to his students how one of them was a re-ceptacle of tears for the dead and the other was the fountain of tears for the living.

GOLD IN BRITISH COLUMBIA. From the Victoria Standard.

From Lillooet, Cariboo and Kootenay

reports of the discovery of new gold diggings having arrived and were chronicled in yesterday's Standard. In the two former districts the deposits are said to be alluvial or placer diggings. The party that went from Barkerville struck good paying ground on a stream that appeared to take its rise at the head of Keitley's creek and run due west. The party report that the ground will pay from five to ten dollars a day to the han i. As the party only started on the 15th of August and the report of the results of the trip reached this city yesterday there can be no doubt that the locality of the newly found diggings is not remove from established lines of traffic. Experienced miners, among whom was the late Capt, Evans, have long been of the opinion that mining in the Cariboo district was but in its infancy and the discovery of these new diggings tends to give support to the opinion of these experienced men. The many creeks or streams that take their rise in the same range as William Creek are all auriferous and nothing but diligent prospecting is required to develop their riches. In these diggings the Indians are said to have taken out considerable quantities of gold. They cunningly kept the secret of the discovery and it was only the obligation to sell their gold that necessitated a revelation of the facts. The discovery reported from Kottenay of extensive and well developed ledges of argentiferous galena is perhaps of greater importance than the two above noticed. The projected line of the Canada Pacific railway will pass within a short distance of Kootenay, and will enable this bitherto remote district to be thoroughly prospected and its riches developed. It is by no means improbable that when increased means of communication come to be established that Kootenay will prove one of the most productive districts in the province. We believe we are quite warranted in saying that our mining prospects are decidedly good and that we may look forward to a brilliant future for that description of industry for many years to come. er districts the deposits are said to be alluvial or placer diggings. Their mother, Mrs. Udell, who lived in the western part of the town, has not been long here, and is said to have come from Newcastle. A few days ago she departed from town, in company with a young man who had told the doubtful story that he was her brother, and left her three children, the eldest of whom is 9 years old, behind her without any person to look after them. The situation of the hildren without father, or other children without father, mother or other friends, was a sad one, and the Rev. Father Lynch kindly interested himself in their behalf and found for them a home in Toronto, where, as above stated, they

The Beaver family, up among the mountains, were a hard set. One day the youngest of the boys was bitten by a rathlesnake, and the old folks were so scared that they sent at once for the minister, who knelt down and prayed: "O. Lord, we thank Thee for rattlesnakes! We thank Thee that a rattlesnake bit Jim. We pray Thee to send one to bite John; send another to bite Bill, and O, Lord, send the biggest of Thy rattlesnakes to bite the old man, for nothing but a rattlesnake will bring the Beaver family to repentence. Deacon—"So my wife thought." Doctor—"Your wife did nothing of the sort, I hope?" Deacon—"Oh! no, doctor; she used an umbrilly." Doctor—"What! used an umbrella! What good did the shower-bath do her?" Deacon—"She said she felt better. Her clothes weren't wet a mite."

From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24.

Perbaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of tw thousand patients treated during the past si months fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less start this stubborn malady. This is note the less starting when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised curies never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he datins the catarrh is practically curred and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him two years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Mr. A. H. Dixon, 305 and 307 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for his treatise on catarrh.

From the London Spectator.

O troubled Soul of mine! lift up thine eyes
Unto the mountains mighty and serene.
Full strangely chequered hath the fortune
And they have suffered veriest agonies.
And oftimes still the tyrant tempest lies
Heavy upon them; with the thunder they Do wrestle. Yet of fear and of dismay
Nothing they know, still rising to the skies.
With many a thousand battles are they scarred.
The floods have broken on each helmless her
Yet for all this their beauty is not marred,
Nor in their hearts are they discomitted;
Still they endure whatever whirlwinds roll
A ound—still glerious they endure, thy soul!
